Today's War News Given in Summary.

The effort of the allies to drive back the German wedge in the Meuse-Moselle region continues unremittingly but the official communications from Both Paris and Berlin indicate that the German lines are holding.

The Berlin announcement speaks of a number of French infantry attacks with strong forces, which are said to have been repelled. Small gains are claimed for the Germans in the forest of Le Pretre. The French war office refers only briefly to this fighting, saying that at several points the attackers made their way to the wire entanglements of the Germans.

Elsewhere over the western front there was a lull yesterday. German aviators dropped bombs on three towns occupied by the British.

A French battleship with the aid of seaplanes attacked a Turkish concentration camp in the vicinity of Gaza, in southern Palestine near the Egyptian border. This camp probably was established in connection with the advance of the Turkish troops to the Suez canal. The statement of the French ministry of marine announcing the attack gives no information as to the result.

Washington, April 13.—An official war office bulletin from Vienna received by the Austro-Hungarian embassy here today said the Russian offensive in the Carpathians had been brought to a standstill and that counter attacks had broken the Russian line in several places.

BREAKS IN NEW QUARTER.

French Attack Turkish Encampment in Southern Palestine.

"Yesterday a battleship, in connection with French seaplanes, bombarded the important Turkish encampment in the district of Gaza."

The bombardment of Gaza marks the development of hostilities in a new quarter. Gaza is in southern Palestine, near the Egyptian frontier. The city lies two miles inland from the Mediterranean and 48 miles southwest of Jerusalem. The Turkish encampment near this city may have been established in connection with the advance of Turkish troops across the Sinai peninsula to the Suez canal.

GERMAN LINES HOLDING.

Berlin Declares That French Attacks are All Repulsed.

Berlin, April 13.—(By Wireless to Sayville)—The German war office has given out a report on the progress of hostilities which reads: "The French yesterday attacked near Berry-au-Bac, and between the Meuse and the Moselle, near Maicey, which is east of Verdun; near Marcheville, which is southeast of Maicey; on the front between Maicey and Marcheville, and south of Hartmans-Weilerkopf. Everywhere they were repulsed.

"The French are reported to have thrown 150 bombs upon the station and the foundry at Bruges according to their own announcement. In reality nine bombs fell in the eastern suburb of Bruges and two near Bruges itself, without doing any damage.

"German troops have thrown large quantities of bombs into Poperinghe, Pazebrouk and Kosel, towns occupied by British troops.

"At a point northeast of Suitpes, the enemy again has made use of projectiles developing an asphyxiating gas.

"There has been fighting day and night in the forest of Le Petre in which the Germans slowly gained ground.

"There has been no change in the eastern front."

FRENCH VERY CONFIDENT.

London, April 13.—Field Marshal Sir John French's message to his countrymen at home that "I know when the time comes for us to make our great move we can break through the Germans," and the British eye-witness statement of yesterday that there are plain signs of the "gradual weakening of the German resistance," are accepted here as an intimation that the present steady pressure in western front will shortly develop into events of vaster scope. It is thus expected that the next [illegible]

GUNS TRAINED ON MATAMOROS

BROWNSVILLE IS SAFE FROM SHELLS

Direction of Fire Brings Distinct Relief to Texas City.

Brownsville, Texas, April 13.—The long expected bombardment of Matamoros, Mexico, by Villa artillery began today and the direction of fire and its comparative accuracy brought distinct relief from fears for the safety of Brownsville.

One three-inch field piece opened the bombardment and later a second gun joined in. About two dozen shells were fired up to noon. The cannon were hidden in the bushes about a mile and a half from the trenches west of Matamoros. The first fussilade went too high, some of them passing completely over Matamoros before exploding, while four of them exploded close to Matamoros roof tops without, however, damaging the city. One shell exploded near the American consulate.

Brownsville Seems Safe.

The direction of the fire was such that, no matter how far the cannon overshot the shells would not carry into Brownsville. After a few minutes the Villa artillerymen got the range, dropping several shells near the trenches.

The cause of the cannonading was a sortie of about 1,500 Carranza cavalrymen and infantry who early in the forenoon poured over the twelve foot embankment of the western entrenchments and started toward Las Rucias, the headquarters of Gen. Jose Rodriguez, commander of the Villa forces, four miles distant.

Censorship is On.

The Mexican end of the International bridge was closed and a tight censorship put on Matamoros. Apparently, however, the sortie was aimed at capturing some of the Villa cannon in the woods about half a mile west of the trenches. There was heavy firing in these woods. Outside of Brownsville to the west on the American side bullets fell so frequently that several Mexican families in that section abandoned their homes.

The rifle battle in the woods continued hot until an hour after the sortie when the Villa field pieces opened fire. Then, from the International bridge the Carranza forces were seen returning toward their trenches. Their retreat was leisurely. A dozen riderless horses were observed, also three or four wounded carried on horses. The rear guard, however, brought no wounded and its actions indicated the Villa cavalry were not pressing it closely.

NO PEACE TERMS ARE GIVEN WILSON

President Says He Regrets That Such Rumors Are Without Basis.

Washington, April 13.—Commenting on a public statement of Pope Benedict that the latter had indicated a desire to support any move the United States migh make for peace, President Wilson declared today that intimations of this character had been frequently conveyed to him through different persons. He said, however, no formal communication had come to him on the subject.

Asked whether the United States recently had learned officially or unofficially of the terms upon which the belligerents might be ready to make peace, the president said regretfully there had been no basis whatever so far as he knew for the rumors to that effect.

While the United States government was not consulted in connection with the peace gathering at the Hague, the president indicated today that the international Women's Peace conference had his sympathetic support. Although the meeting had no official status, Mr. Wilson said he understood the delegates had not asked for official authority because they preferred to act unofficially.

DEMONSTRATOR, HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

As the result of a collision with a street car at the point where St. Joe boulevard runs into Columbia avenue, on the east side of the Columbia street bridge, about noon Tuesday J. J. McConnell, demonstrator for the Motors Sales corporation, was painfully injured and the new Maxwell automobile which he was driving was badly damaged.

McConnel was coming up St. Joe boulevard when he ran directly in front of a west bound street car coming from the east on Columbia avenu.e He was thrown from the car and the machine was hurled to one side of the street. McConnell moved to Fort Wayne but a few weeks ago.

SOME HOPE TO SECURE BONDS

But Donn Roberts and Fifteen Others Were Still in Jail at Noon.

MANY STARTING TO SERVE SENTENCES

Appeal Bonds Must Provide for Costs and Payment of Heavy Fines.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 13.—Mayor Donn M. Roberts and fifteen others who had appealed from their sentences to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, given them yesterday by Judge Anderson, following their conviction in the Terre Haute election fraud case, were still in the Marion county jail at noon today. Some of them, however, hoped to obtain bonds late today, so that they would not have to spend anther night in jail.

With two exceptions, all of those who received sentences to the Marion county jail had begun serving their time today. John W. Clark was still under a smallpox quarantine at Taylorville, across the river from Terre Haute and Guy Powell is in the United States army. George Kintz, the third man

LAST RITES FOR EDITOR

Funeral Arrangements for Col. W. R. Nelson Are Being Made.

HIS DEATH COMES AT KANSAS CITY

Noted Newspaper Man Was a Former Owner of The Sentinel.

Kansas City, Mo., April 13.—Funeral arrangements for William Rockhill Nelson, editor of the Star, who died this morning, were being completed by the family today.

Mr. Nelson, who was 74 years old, had been unconscious since Thursday last. Death was due to uraemic poisoning.

Mr. Nelson's last conference with his associates took place in his bed room the day before he became unconscious. It pertained to the necessity of keeping up the fight for honest elections.

"That is fundamental for democratic government," he said. "I may not be here to see the fight won. But the Star will fight on with all its resources until the present rotten system is broken down."

Was Ready for the End.

As Mr. Nelson became weaker it was necessary to resort to artificial means to prolong his life. He objected vigorously. Last Thursday, a few hours before he became unconscious, he protested to his physicians against keeping him alive artificially. Thursday afternoon he sank into a coma from which he did not rally.

A day or so before he became unconscious, Mr. Nelson realizing the probability of a fatal termination of his illness, said to a friend:

"The Lord has been far better to me than I deserve. I have had a long life and a happy life with great opportunities for usefulness. My only regret is that I have not accomplished more. But if this is the end, I am ready."

Throughout his illness the problem of the poor was of intense concern to him. He made large gifts to local charitable institutions and was absorbed in the work of a soup kitchen which his daughter, Mrs. Kirkwood, inaugurated and conducted.

While no formal statement was made, it was announced that "as far as is humanly possible, the Star will be conducted in accordance with the aims and ideas of Mr. Nelson."

Change for Worse.

Mr. Nelson took an active part in the management of the Star up until about a month ago, when his condition changed for the worse. Until then members of the Star staff gathered at his bedside several times weekly for the purpose of discussing with Mr. Nelson questions of editorial policy. At these conferences he would dictate editorials and outline items for cartoons and feature stories.

MURDER BUT A MINOR FAULT OF REVOLUTION

Very Rev. F. C. Kelly Paints Distressing Picture of Mexico.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 13.—Very Rev. Francis C. Kelly, of Chicago, president of the Catholic church extension society, today discussed "Mexico and the American Church," before an important gathering of clergymen here. The occasion was the dedication of the synod hall and chancery building of the diocese of Pittsburg.

Dr. Kelly said that present day difficulties in Mexico were largely because of three serious questions: The rights of conscience, land and education. Mexica, he said, had been without anything like freedom of conscience for over fifty years. Church property had been confiscated to the state by Juarez and had never been returned. Religious schools were closed and orders of teachers disbanded. No outward manifestation of religion was permitted, even distinctive dress of clergymen being prohibited in the streets. In the large cities schools were supplied by the state, but outside such communities Mexico practically has no schools. The state has never been able to supply them and the church was not allowed to do so.

"The church has avoided interference in political affairs," said Dr. Kelly, "and churchmen are timid about their own defense. The church accepted Juarez, Diaz and Madero. She will accept whatever legitimate ruler comes out of the present chaos." [illegible]

NOW PREPARE FOR BIG LEGAL BATTLE

Fight Between Washington Bank and Treasury to Be Lively One.

Washington, April 13.—Officials of the treasury department and of the Riggs National bank, were busy today preparing for the legal battle to follow the proceedings begun by the bank to enjoin Secretary McAdoo and Comptroller of the Currency Williams from alleged persecution of that institution. Mr. Williams was in conference with Postmaster General Burleson, Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, and Jesse C. Adkins, a Washington attorney formerly connected with the department of justice as an assistant in anti-trust prosecutions. Mr. Brandeis has been retained by Attorney General Gregory in connection with an investigation of the Riggs bank.

Officers of the bank examined the statement given out by Comptroller Williams reciting some of the transactions of the institution questioned by his office, and prepared to issue a statement answering the charges. Further legal steps in the case probably will not be taken until Friday when Secretary McAdoo, Mr. Williams and John Burke, treasurer of the United States, must make their answer to the complaint of the bank and its prayer for injunction.

Formal notice was served today by officers of the District of Columbia supreme court, on acting Secretary Newton, Mr. Williams and Treasurer Burke that Justice McCoy had granted a temporary injunction restraining the payment into the treasury of $5,000 interest on $1,000,000 of United States bonds held by the comptroller to secure the bank's note circulation. This money, the bank complains, should be held up to cover penalties of $100 a day imposed for failure to make reports demanded by the comptroller.

SECRET METHODS TO BUILD UP UNION TOLD

Chicago, April 13.—S. J. Konenkamp, president of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, resuming his testimony before the United States industrial relations commission today, explained secret methods of building up the organization i nthe face of opposition from the Western Union Telegraph company and the Postal Telegraph and Cable company.

"Owing to the spy system our members come in under assumed names," said Mr. Konenkamp. I am on the membership roll sveral times for instance as S. J. Konenkamp I; S. J. Konenkamp II, III and so on. Who these men are I don't know."

The witness said the Western Union "spotters" were so active and so misled that of every ten men dismissed for unionism nine as a matter of fact were non-union.

HUGE PEACE FLAG FLOATS FROM MAST

American Delegates Sail on Noordam for Women's Conference.

New York, April 13.—A huge peace flag floated from a mast head of the Holland-American line steamship Noordam todav as the forty or more delegates from America went on board to sail for Rotterdam to attend the international women's conference at The Hague.

Miss Jane Addams, of Chicago, who led the delegation, said she had doubts whether it was permissible to fly the flag until last night she receive a message from a representative who had consulted Robert Lansing, counsellor of the state department. The message said: "Officially the United States can say nothing as it is a foreign ship, but fly ahead." The flag was a snow white pennant, bearing the word, "Peace" in blue letters. It was given by Mayor Mitchel, of New York.

Friends of the delegates who gathered at the pier discussed with some concern Miss Addams' intimation in her speech that the voyage might be attended with some danger, and that it was possible that the delegates might never reach The Hague. "The ship may be interned in some harbor and never reach Rotterdam," she said."

BODY OF BOY LAY IN CREEK

HORSE PLUNGES OFF STRUCTURE

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Monroeville, Ind., April 13.—Ralph Baldwin, 16 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Baldwin, who reside on a farm one mile north of the village of Baldwin on the state line, lost his life by drowning in the Flat Rock creek last night when in the darkness the horse which he was riding plunged off the bridge into the water.

The body was not discovered until this morning about 6 o'clock when it was found in two feet of water by George Morse, who lives near the Baldwin farm. His horse was found a short distance away, but had fallen from injuries which it had received. The horse, however, was not badly hurt.

Young Baldwin was a student of the night school at Baldwin, and had attended last night's session. About 9:30 o'clock accompanied by Noah Lathamer, a neighbor boy who also was on horse back, he started home. Lothamer rode on ahead and knew nothing of the accident until notified this morning. He was the principal witness at an investigation conducted by Coroner Edward H Kruse, of Fort Wayne, this morning.

Plunges From Bridge.

When the Baldwin boy reached the bridge over Flat Rock creek, which is about a half mile north of Baldwin, it is believed the horse became frightened and in the darkness plunged over the side. The boy's jaw was broken and he was otherwise injured, but in the opinion of the coroner death was due to drowning. In the fall he was doubtless rendered unconscious, as he might easily have escaped from the shallow water.

The bridge is a plank affair without railings and has always been regarded as dangerous. Young Baldwin was taking special instructions at the night school along with a number of other boys of the village and surrounding country.

TWO FORT WAYNE MEN GET REAPPOINTMENTS

Governor Continues Judge Hench and Mr. Geake on State Boards.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 13.—Governor Ralston last night announced the appointment of eleven trustees of various state institutions. A list of the appointments follows:

Samuel M. Hench, of Fort Wayne, democrat, re-appointed a trustee of the Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' monument to serve four years from last November, the date when his term expired.

William Geake, of Fort Wayne, republican, re-appointed a trustee of the Indiana Stact School for the Deaf to serve four years from January 1, 1915.

Harry C. Scearce, of Mooresville, republican, appointed to succeed L. M. Sniff of Angola, as a trustee of the Indiana Village of Eliloptics to serve three years.

L. Ert Slack, of Indianapolis, democrat, re-appointed as a trustee of the central Indiana Hospital for the Insane, to serve four years from April 10, 1915.

John Weathers, of New Albany, republican, re-appointed a trustee of the Indiana Village of Epleptics to serve three from March 22, 1915.

Albert D. Thomas, of Crawfordsville, republican, re-appointed a trustee of the state board of pardons to serve four years from April 9, 1915.

Mrs. L. G. Ellingham, of Indianapolis, re-appointed as a trustee of the Indiana Girls' School at Clermont, to serve four years from April 1, 1915.

Nathaniel D. Cox, of Spencer, democrat, appointed to succeed Lewis B. Fulwiler as trustee of the State Soldiers' Home of Lafayette.

George W. Webster, jr., of Marion, republican, and Guy H. Humphreys, of Bloomfield, democrat, re-appointed as trustees of the Indiana Boys' school, to serve four years from April 10, 1915.

George D. Franklin, of Lafayette, democrat, appointed to succeed Harry T. Schloss, of Terre Haute, democrat, as trustee of the Indiana Boys' school for four years from April 10, 1915.

FOUR ANXIOUS TO BEGIN PRISON TERMS

Quartet of Terre Haute Men Abandon Appeal; Will Take Medicine.

Indianapolis, April 13.—Four of the 116 men convicted in the Terre Haute vote conspiracy case on whom sentence was passed in federal court yesterday, have given up hope of winning an appeal and have deserted their colleagues.

The men are John Masselink, city scaler and former state representative from Vigo county; George Sovern, a saloon keeper; Arthur Gillis, an undertaker, and Joseph Straus, a political worker. They went before Judge Anderson yesterday afternoon and withdrew from the writ of error, accepting the court's sentence without further delay.

The men decided to withdraw from the appeal just before the Terre Haute conspirators, headed by Donn M. Roberts, mayor, were taken from the federal building to the Marion county jail where they must remain until they can provide an appeal bond or are taken to Leavenworth to begin their sentences. The jail colony includes 107 men.

Four Allowed to Go Home.

Instead of spending last night in jail with the other convicted men, the four who decided not to push their appeals went to their homes in Terre Haute under a promise to Judge Anderson that they would surrender themselves to the prison authorities next week and would start for Leavenworth not later than 12:30 o'clock next Sunday afternoon. Judge Anderson handed each one of the four his commitment to the prison, and accepted their word that they would surrender themselves at the proper time.

Mayor Roberts, who elects to stand on the original plan of appeal and who hopes to obtain bond today or tomorrow, is said to have been incensed at the action of the four, and it is understood he urged them to stay with the others.

Sovern First to Give Up.

George Sovern, a saloon keeper, was the first to break from the others. He sent word to Judge Anderson that he desired to speak to him concerning his sentence.

"I desire to serve my sentence without any further delay and I would like to have a little more time to arrange my affairs so I can care for my wife and baby," Sovern told Judge Anderson.

'But you have appealed your case; your name appears on the writ of error," the judge informed Sovern.

"My name was written there without my consent; I will be willing to go to Leavenworth alone at any time within the next few days."

GERMANS HURL NEW BLOW AT OSSOWETZ

London, April 13.—The German attack on the Russian forces in the north near the Prussian frontier was resumed yesterday and another battle is in progress for possession of the important Russian fortress of Ossowetz. The abandonment of the former siege of this fortress was interpreted in Petrograd as indicating that the Germans had given up their attempt to break through the Russian line of defenses and advance on Warsaw from the north but it is now said semi-officially at the Russian capital that the invaders have brought up howitzers and begun a new bombardment.

One of the German siege batteries is said to have been damaged badly by the Russian guns. Five independent Austrian armies are operating along the Carpathian front. Petrograd newspapers publish semi-official details concerning this campaign to the effect that the various Austrian armies are under direction of the German general staff. It is said also that Emperor William personally is supervising the work of the staff.

Of two Austrian armored trains which advanced against the Russians one is said to have been blown up and the other forced to withdraw after being damaged.

"The highest German authority" in Rome has denied reports that Germany is considering peace negotiations. From this source comes the statement that the German general staff has made plans for resumption of the offensive with fresh vigor.

The Italian military authorities have ordered army officers to dull the metal on their uniforms and scabbards. This is described as a measure usually adopted on the eve of war.

NOT CONSIDERING PEACE.

Rumors Given Denial by High German Sources in Rome.

Rome, April 12.—10 p. m. (Via Paris, April 13.)—Information obtained from the highest German sources in this city is to the effect that there is absolutely no basis for the report that peace negotiations under conditions are being considered in Berlin. These reports, it is said, are based upon ignorance of actual conditions in the German empire. The assertion is made that both Germany and Austria, particularly the former, have within their borders supplies of everything necessary to prolong the war indefinitely. Well informed Germans in Rome declare the determination of the Central empires to carry the conflict to the end will become apparent soon when the campaign is resumed with fresh vigor on both fronts according to plans mapped out by the general staff during the winter. The same sources of information are authority for the statement that not only can Germany provide enough food to supply her people but that she has on hand a plentiful store of supplies for manufacturing arms and ammunition.

THE FRENCH REPORT.

Paris, April 13.—The French war department's official statement, given out this afternoon, says: "Between the sea and the Aisne there is nothing to report except a few artillery duels.

"To the east of Berry-au-Bac we gained the possession of a German trench.

"In the Argonne there were minor operations and engagements of bomb and grenade throwing between our men and the enemy's trenches.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle our forces succeeded at several points in coming in contact with the wire entanglements of the enemy's defense."

LABOR FEDERATION FAVORS A WOMAN

Members of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor are in favor of a woman on the school board as indicated by resolutions passed Monday night. There was not a dissenting vote. The resolutions which are signed by Joseph A. Deahl, Clayton H. Johnson and Adolph Kiefer are as follows:

"To the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor:

"We, the legislative committee of the above organization, believing in the desirability of progress at all times and feeling that the appointment of a representative woman of Fort Wayne to a position on the school board is just and proper, recommend that:

"The Fort Wayne Federation of Labor indorse the idea of such an appointment of a woman on the school board and that we use our efforts to this end."

Resolutions on the death of E. W. Hackett, a member of the Linemen's union and delegate to the federation, who was electrocuted last week were passed. The committee was composed of J. C. Werkman, H. J. Straub and J. J. Perrey. The charter was ordered draped for thirty days.

The trustees of the federation were instructed to make arrangements for the opening of permanent headquarters in the front room of the building now occupied by the Buffaloes.

The following new delegates were admitted: Archie Castaret, of the cooks and waiters; W. A. Flickinger, of the Painters, and Henry J. Koers, of the meat cutters.

The painters reported that their arbitration committee had agreed to return to work at the old wage with the promise of an increase as soon as business conditions would permit. One wall paper house was reported on the unfair list.

The following new committee appointments were made: William A. Jackson, safety and sanitation; John A. Koch and Carl R. Stumph, label; Joseph Deahl, vocational; Otto Effinger, credentials.

K. C. IN ANNUAL MEMORIAL SERVICES

The annual memorial services were held Monday evening by members of Fort Wayne council, No. 451, Knights of Columbus. The meeting was opened by E. J. Ehrman, grand knight, with officers of the order at their respective stations.

Hon. Charles M. Niezer was the first speaker of the evening, taking for his subject: 'Our Order and Its Dead." He paid a glowing tribute to the memory of those who have passed away. Four members have died during the past year as follows: E. J. Collins, Harry P. Lowry, John A. Bushman and John Mooney.

Frank Hogan gave an eulogy on Mr. Lowry; Thomas J. McLaughlin on the life of E. J. Collins; Stephen A. Callahan on John A. Bushman and C. Byron Hayes on the life of John Mooney.

HUERTA IN GOTHAM; GETS BUSY AT ONCE

Mexican Circles Have Rumor of Important Confabs to Be Held.

New York, April 13.—Gen. Victoriano Huerta began today to attend to the business which brought him to New York and which he described as "personal and family." The general occupies one of the most expensive suites of the hotel Ansonia.

Despite Huerta's assurances on landing yesterday that he would do nothing while here to violate the neutrality of the United States, it was reported today in Mexican circles that important conferences would be held to determine whether the time was ripe for Huerta to interfere in Mexico, rally his old battalions to his attempt to put down the factions contending for the control of that country.

It was said that agents of the federal government here were keeping a close watch upon his movements. A statement given out by Francisco Elias, the consul general representing the Carranza faction here, said that Huerta's destination is Yucatan, "where he expects to inaugurate a revolution against Carranza."

General Huerta turned over to the police a mysterious box which was supposed to contain candy and which was handed to him as he landed. He did not open it. At the police station the box was opened by an expert in explosives and found to contain rambling manuscript apparently written by some irresponsible person.

NOT IN HUERTA'S CONFIDENCE.

Washington, April 13.—President Wilson has been given no information regarding the plans of Gen. Huerta, he told callers today. The president said he was not in the confidence of the former Mexican provisional president and did not know whether he would come to Washington.

STATE TAKES CHARGE OF A BANK AT MEROM

Indianapolis, Ind., April 13.—Dale J. Crittenberger, auditor of state, today took charge of the Merom State bank, at Merom, Ind. The auditor of state, by law, is not allowed to disclose the reasons for taking such action, and Mr. Crittenberger refused to discuss the situation.

The Merom State bank is the institution which was mentioned some days ago when the state of Indiana brought suit against the Anchor Life Insurance company for receiver and asked that the company be restrained from doing business. It is understood that the bank some time ago undertook a loan to the Anchor company and accepted, in return therefor, approximately 20,000 of the Anchor Life Insurance company's stock.

200 Insane Patients Rescued from Blaze

Chicago, April 13.—Two hundred convalescent patients of the State Hospital for the Insane were rescued today from fire which destroyed a rambling frame structure used as an annex to the institution at Dunning, northwest of the city.

Warned by previous blazes in the building, the hospital authorities had prepared a fire drill which worked without a hitch.

Some 2,800 other inmates of the institution were guarded to prevent panic or undue excitement in the main building a few hundred feet away.

The loss was estimated at $5,000, chiefly on the building as the patients helped the fire fighters remove the equipment from the wards.

Everything Ready at Terre Haute for Big Evangelistic Campaign.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 13.—The Lyon evangelistic meetings will open here next Sunday and the reports from the various committees show that everything will be in readiness by that time. The tabernacle has been finished and the local arrangements have been made. Several of the members of the company have been in the city for some time and the others are expected this week. Dr. Lyon will probably arrive next Saturday.

A general mass meeting was held at the Central Christian church Sunday afternoon. The address was delivered by Harold Hobbs, of Muncie, who told of the work Dr. Lyon did in his home city.

Loren G. Jones and Fred W. Rapp are expected to arrive in the city in time to participate in some of the shop meetings this week. Rev. Ray G. Upson has been here for several days assisting in the preparatory meetings.

DRIVE HERE FROM TIFFIN.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Jones Make Good Use of Ford Car.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Jones, of the Lyon evangelistic party, drove to Fort Wayne from Tiffin, Ohio, in the Ford touring car presented them by the Fort Wayne people at the close of the tabernacle meetings in this city. The car is giving them great service and after completing his engagement in this city Tuesday evening they will prive to Terre Haute, where the meetings open next Sunday.

Mr. Jones appears at the Wayne street M. E. church Tuesday evening in a Chautaqua concert under the auspices of the Young Men's Forward congress. Many people are intending to see the man who sung himself into their hearts at the meetings held at the Lyon tabernacle.

OCCURRED LONG AGO.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 13.—Statements that boxboard manufacturers of Indiana had contributed to a fund to prevent the enactment of legislation they thought unfavorable, attributed to Gilbert Jay, of Kokomo, Ind., referred to a session of the general assembly about fifteen or more years ago, according to an affidavit Jay presented to Prosecutor A. J. Rucker. Jay had been subpoenaed to appear before the Marion county grand jury, but in view of the facts as shown in the affidavit, he will not be required to appear and explain further, Rucker said.

3 DROWN WHEN ICE CRUSHES MAIL BOAT

Bayfield, Wis., April 13.—Three men were drowned and two others narrowly escaped death in Chequamgon bay within sight of shore late yesterday when the United States mail boat between this city and La Pointe was crushed by the ice floes. The dead are:

Nels Cison, sr., Clarence Wright and Charles Russell. All lived at La Pointe.

W. S. Johnson, carrier of the mails between La Pointe and this city, and Russell Angus were rescued after a long struggle with ice and waves. Johnson's condition is serious.

Two La Pointe men, John Wright and Wm. Peterson, went to the rescue of the drowning men and brought Johnson and Angus to shore. The other three occupants of the overturned boat were benumbed before the rescuers reached them and slipped into the water and perished.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR CROSS, SICK FEVERISH CHILD

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can not cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.—

SUES SALOONIST FOR DEATH.

Portland, Ind., April 13.—The trial of the suit brought in the name of the state of Indiana on relation of Ella Andrews, widow of the late Wade Andrews, against Jeff Klopfenstein and the Illinois Surety company, was begun in the circuit court Monday afternoon. The case was first instituted in the Adams circuit court, being venued from there to Wells county and from the latter court to the Jay circuit court. Klopfenstein is a saloonist at Preble. It is charged that on August 1, 1914, he sold liquor to Wade Andrews and that the latter became drunk and in attempting to operate his automobile, was killed.

PNEUMONIA FATAL TO FARMER.

Huntington, Ind., April 13.—Fillmore Metcalf, a widely known farmer, was buried today in Woodlawn cemetery at Warren, following funeral services at the Plum Tree Christian church, Rev. B. O. Coy officiating. Death was due to pneumonia, of which he was ill ten days. He was born in 1853 in Jennings county, but had resided in Rock Creek township, Huntington county, for many years. Priscilla Whinery Metcalf, whom he made his wife thirty-six years ago, survives him. They had no children.

FORMER DECATUR MAN DIES.

Decatur, Ind., April 13.—Monday, at the family home in Paulding county, Ohio, three miles south of Payne, and one miles north of McGill, occurred the death of John Gideon, a former Adams county resident, and one of the best known men in the vicinity. His death resulted from Bright's disease. He was taken sick less than two months ago. Seven weeks ago he was in Decatur the guest of relatives. Much of his life had been spent in the timber business, but for the past few years he had resided on a farm.

HON. J. M. SCHERMERHORN DEAD.

Native of Lagrange County and Settler in Noble Had Useful Career.

Kendallville, Ind., April 13.—Hon. John M. Schermerhorn, aged 72 years, a native of Lagrange county, for forty-seven years a citizens of Noble county, former county commissioner and representative in the legislature and a civil war veteran of the famous Eighty-eighth Indiana regiment, is dead at his home in Orange township, two miles north of Brimfield. His death ensued after a brief illness with heart trouble that developed from an attack of the grip. The death of Mr. Schermerhorn removes one of Noble county's most notable and influential citizens. He was born on a farm in Lagrange county in 1843 and there grew to manhood. In 1862 he enlisted in Company G, Eighty-eighth regiment and served until the close of the war, participating in that fighting regiment's bloody campaigns, and was with Sherman in the famous march to the sea. After the war he returned to Lagrange county, taught school for three years, was married in 1868 to Jane Atwood and in 1871 came to Noble county to reside on the farm he had purchased and where he died. Mr. Schermerhorn was very active in republican circles from attainment of his majority until 1912, when he espoused the cause of Theodore Roosevelt and the progressive party. He was affiliated with the Masonic and Knights of Pythias lodges. The funeral will be held Wednesday at 1 o'clock from the late residence.

SHEARER GETS LIFE SENTENCE.

Huntington Man Who Killed Wife's Father in Andrews Pleads Guilty.

Huntington, Ind., April 13.—In the Huntington circuit court last evening Firmer Shearer, aged 24, pleaded guilty to murder for the killing of his father-in-law, Newton Stevens, aged 60, at Andrews on the night of March 11, and Judge Samuel E. Cook sentenced him to the penitentiary for life. Shearer's wife was granted a divorce from him a few days ago and it was the filing of that suit that directly led to the murder of Stevens. Shearer had failed flagrantly to care for his wife and children and spent his money for drink. Mrs. Shearer returned to the home of her parents in Andrews and later filed the divorce suit. The night of March 11 Shearer, after drinking heavily in this city, went to Andrews and demanded admission to the Stevens home to see his wife and child. He was told his wife was not there and at first denied admittance. He went in, however, and after some words approached the bed where Stevens and Shearer's little child were lying. As Stevens arose from the bed Shearer fired. It has been believed he went to the house to kill his wife, children and his wife's parents.

COLUMBIA CITY WANTS TEAM.

Columbia City, Ind., April 13.—Harry Gelvin, of this city, who managed the Columbia City base ball team last season, went to Fort Wayne today to try and secure five players to join the Columbia City team during the coming season. He does not expect to play many games at home, but will endeavor to secure Sunday games in other towns. If he fails to get the desired players in Fort Wayne he will go to Warsaw and try to induce some of the base ball boys of that city to join Columbia City. He has five Columbia City players to make up the team.

WARSAW MAY CELEBRATE.

Warsaw, Ind., April 13.—Warsaw may have an old fashioned Fourth of July celebration this year.

At the present there are a number of the business men back of the proposition, which is being headed by J. C. Schade. Although no definite plans have yet been made the proposition will be brought up at the next meeting of the business men and it is probable that at this time committees on arrangements will be appointed.

OLD MAN IS ON TRIAL.

Warsaw, Ind., April 13.—The trial of Newton Hover, an old soldier, charged with encouraging the delinquency of Lydia Hoffner, a sixteen year old orphan girl, began Monday in the circuit court. Hover asked that the jury be waived, but after considerable argument, Prosecuting Attorney Homer Longfellow demanded that a jury be summoned. The charge states that Hover, on March 1, took Lydia Hoffner to his home in East Warsaw and kept her there until about the middle of the month, when he was arrested by officers on a very serious charge.

SUES RAILWAY FOR $10,000.

Warsaw, Ind., April 13.—Suit for $10,000 damages against the Pennsylvania railroad for the death of J. Frank Long, the Pierceton mail carrier, who met his death at Kosciusko on May 2, 1913, has been filed in the circuit court by Walter J. Long, administrator of the Long estate. The complaint states that the death of Mr. Long was due to carelessness and negligence on the part of the employes of the railway company.

BREAKS AWAY FROM OFFICER.

Portland, Ind., April 13.—After being arrested on an old committment by Policeman Hanlin and when within a half square of the county jail, Harry Crawford, formerly of Winchester, made his get-away and has not since been seen. Crawford owes a fine imposed on him nearly two years ago for drunkenness.

MRS. STECKLEY DIES IN GARRETT.

Garrett, Ind., April 13.—Mrs. Amanda Elizabeth Steckley, wife of [illegible] this city, Wednesday at 1:30 o'clock, and at 2 o'clock from the M. E. church. Her death occurred at the hospital here following an operation that was performed last week. She was forty-two years old and is survived by her husband and two sons. She was widely known here and was active in the circles of the M. E. church and of Rebekah and Ben Hur lodges.

AGED WOMAN FALLS.

Auburn, Ind., April 13.—Mrs. M. E. Griffin, the mother of Frank Turrill, with whom she resides, was painfully injured in a fall down a stairway. Mrs. Griffin is past eighty years of age. She went up stairs intending to retire for the night, but changed her mind after considering that it was earlier than she had intended to retire. She started to go down stairs to read, when she lost her footing and fell. She cut a gash in her forehead and injured her spine.

FIRST TO THE PENAL FARM.

Auburn, Ind., April 13.—Commitment papers were made out Monday that will turn over to the management of the state penal farm just opened, Clinton North. North is an old offender and resides in Butler. He was tried in Mayor Cramer's court and fined $100 and $10 costs for public intoxication. He will serve 140 days at the penal farm. The papers for his transfer to the penal farm are signed by the mayor of Butler. He will be the first representative from this county to the new institution.

Peter Ragnet and sisters, Mrs. George Sunley and Mrs. Emma Fisher, have been called to Indianapolis on account of the serious illness of their brother, Christ Ragnet.

MISSIONARY WHO WITNESSED REBELLION OF INDIA'S TROOPS RELATES STORY OF BLOODY SLAUGHTER.

Rev. W. A. Wells and his family, refugees from India.

San Francisco, April 13.—Coming direct from the far east with a story of wanton slaughter, Rev. W. A. Wells, a missionary, his wife and children, arrived here recently on the steamer Persia direct from Singapore, where they witnessed the late mutiny of the Indian troops and the week's fatal reign of terror that followed, during which British soldiers and subjects as well as French were massacred with a fiendish hand.

"There were more than 700 troops in the revolt," said Wells, "and during the afternoon of February 15 they put all of their officers to death. After this pandemonium ruled the city. The soldiers divided into little groups and went about the city shooting down Europeans.

"Nobody knows how many were killed. I know personally of sixty-four who met death during the two days following the first trouble.

"Europeans were given arms by the British commander, and sent out to combat the mutineers, who were shooting all English and French residents on sight.

"For two days I was on patrol duty, while several other missionaries were in actual skirmishes.

"No one knows the real cause of the uprising, but all evidence points that Germans were the instigators of the plot. The strongest proof of this theory is that fifty Germans who were held in British military barracks were liberated and disappeared during the fighting.

"During the first two days of the fighting we were afraid to send calls for a British warship because of the belief that a German man-of-war might [illegible]

Emden were among the German prisoners who escaped. There now is a reward on their heads.

"Word finally was sent to the French cruiser Montcalm and a Japanese warship which had left Singapore on the day preceding the mutiny, and these returned, their crews aiding to a great extent in restoring order."

Psalm 23:1-6.

1 The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.

2 He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; he leadeth me beside the still waters.

3 He restoreth my soul; he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

4 Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

5 Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

William R. Nelson.

News of the death of Colonel William R. Nelson, editor of the Kansas City Star, will be received with sincere sorrow in Fort Wayne, the birthplace of the distinguished journalist, the scene of his earlier business and professional career and still the home of countless friends of his younger days who cherish the memory of this strong, striking personality. It has been thirty-five years since Mr. Nelson left Fort Wayne to take up his home in Kansas City, but through all the intervening years he has kept so closely in touch with his native city that Fort Wayne has been able to note his upward climb in life's affairs from a near angle, to rejoice with him in the triumphs that were his, and to admire thoroughly the traits of his splendid citizenship that made him a leader of men and a power for good.

William R. Nelson was a stalwart figure mentally as well as physically. He was of the type of men which gets things done. He was a fighter, but always fair and always forceful. He came of a pioneer Allen county family, and from the earliest days of his business career manifested the dash and aggressiveness that would not be denied and that later won for him riches not only in gold and in honor, but in the high regard of the people and of the city for which he did so much. It should not be understood that Mr. Nelson's pathway to success was rose-strewn. Not all his business ventures were successful. Some of them, indeed, contributed reverses and discouragements, but they did not daunt him, and it was perhaps these very reverses that later served to refine the business acumen of the man and enable him to later navigate in safety business seas all but uncharted. For Mr. Nelson's way was not the way of the ordinary man. He did not follow beaten paths. His newspaper is unlike any other. He mapped out his own courses, and he followed them steadfastly. He was never without a purpose. He was very nearly the pioneer and certainly the most successful advocate of civic betterment this country has yet known. He detested fraud and sham and fought it pitilessly. He made enemies, plenty of them, but they were the sort of enemies who constitute a positive asset to the man whose courage is resolute and whose purpose if lofty. It is but simple justice to say that more than any other man Colonel Nelson has left his impress upon the city which he came to call home. Success could not turn his head and honors he wore with becoming modesty and simplicity that was among the admirable attributes of this marvelous man. Both in the city which gave him birth and in the city which he builded, William Rockhill Nelson's memory will be cherished as a priceless heritage by those fortunate enough to enjoy a personal acquaintance with him, and by unnumbered thousands of others whose admiration had been challenged and held by his distinguished and useful career.

Gilbert D. Jay, of Lafayette, who was quoted as having declared in a recent speech at Kokomo that boxboard interests had been forced to put up a "slush fund" in order to prevent the enactment of an undesirable law at the recent session of the legislature, has exploded the sensation. In an affidavit Mr. Jay declared that the incident to which he referred occurred more than fifteen years ago, and that he had been sadly misquoted in his Kokomo statement. The Indiana public will no doubte breathe easier now, but mercy! what a fright that man gave us for a moment!

The achievement of District Attorney Frank C. Dailey in bringing to book the Terre Haute election conspirators has resulted in the starting of a boom for the Bluffton man for the democratic gubernatorial nomination. Well, the general public will be inclined to the opinion that Mr. Dailey has won something handsome in the way of a reward of merit. Whether or not he has ambitions outside his professional career, however, must await an announcement from Mr. Dailey himself.

The circuit court at Kokomo has overruled a motion to quash the indictment recently returned against Mayor George W. Stidger, of that city, charging oppression and malfeasance in office, and it is now said that impeachment proceedings are to be launched against the mayor in the city council. Really, this appears to be a rather trying season for the mayors of some Indiana cities whose alleged course has placed them in the attitude of being compelled to make explanations.

The Federation of Labor has now given an expression of its desire to have a woman elected on the Fort Wayne city school board. Really, is anybody emphatically and seriously opposed to a trial of the proposition which is urged by so many people and from which such excellent results are promised?

That $60,000 appeal bond demanded by the court in the case of Donn M. Roberts, will at least give the public an opportunity to judge just how well the mayor's pull with the "deer peepul" down at Terre Haute is still working.

NO HOMES DISRUPTED YET.

(Chicago Herald.)

A careful examination of the figures of the woman's vote Tuesday reveals nothing startling except the total. At the election 243,797 women cast their ballots. But they didn't mix things up and put all calculations [illegible]. Roughly speaking, their [illegible] paralleled those of the [illegible] Thompson got an overwhelming majority in both cases.

"If the women hadn't voted the result would have been the same. If there hadn't been a male voice cast the figures show that Thompson would still have won in a walk. The women seem to have responded to the same arguments as the men. Or whether they responded to precisely the same arguments [illegible] in some way established a harmony of intention which is sufficiently striking.

"Mindful of the familiar, the classic prognostications of the baneful results of woman's suffrage, one naturally looks to find some evidence of their value One scans the totals with an apprehensive shudder to discover some evidence of the wholesale disruption of homes on account of politics, of family feuds carried by the ton to the ballot boxes and there registering bitter differences of opinion as well as causing indescribable confusion.

But the evidence isn't there. The totals show that the men and the women manage to get along as well in the exercise of political privileges as they do in the exercise of their other privileges. The sex line is still far from becoming a political line. The American home seems just about as safe today as it was before woman's suffrage came to Chicago.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY'S DANGER

(Springfield Republican.)

Decent republican papers that desire no deplorable reaction with the possible return of the republican party to power are plainly anxious over the present tendencies. The New York Tribune admits "there can be no satisfaction for any republican not of the Platt days and Platt beliefs in contemplating the activities of the present republican controlled legislature." The Boston Transcript thinks that "New York offers a deplorable example of reactionary republican success in that state next year and therefore in the nation." Connecticut and Colorado also furnish examples of republican reaction toward the spoils system. One serious difficulty with the republican party today in the states where it has regained power is that the reactionary politicians are in complete control, without the slightest check as yet from those who joined the progressive party. This is a leadership sure to ruin republican prospects unless the return of the progressives is fast enough to force a strong progressive influence into the innermost party councils.

MARSHALL SLIGHTLY ILL.

Vice President Suffers Attack of Ptomaine Poisoning.

Globe, Ariz., April 13.—A slight illness, it was announced yesterday, will prevent Vice President Thomas R. Marshall participating in the celebration set for April 15 to mark the first filling of the great Roosevelt irrigation reservoir in the Superstition mountains. Carl Hayden, Arizona's representative in congress, and the governor of Arizona will be guests of honor.

NEW GARDEN CITIES FOR DOCK LABORERS

Result of Project for Extending Dock System in British Capital.

London, April 8.—An interesting outcome of the great project for the extension of the London dock system, the initial cost of which runs into £15,000,000, is the building of two new garden cities for dock laborers and their families.

At Tilbury, the urban district council is erecting 234 houses, with an average number of thirteen houses to the acre, and adjoining the houses is a considerable open space, besides allotments and a recreation ground of nearly fifty acres.

At Plaistow, an eastern suburb of London, near the river, the Port of London Authority has acquired an estate of several acres, which is being converted into a garden city. Modeled on the lines of an estate belonging to the London county council, called the White Hart Lane estate, it is nevertheless an improvement upon it, for there will be fewer houses to the acre, and more open space. In this and many other respects the new suburb will be a pleasant contrast to the sordid monotony of its neighbors, which can only be realized by those who know them.

A variety in design is a feature of the houses, which will chiefly provide room for displaced dwellers from North Woolwich and Silvertown, and the rents are to be fixed on a scale sufficient merely to cover capital charges.

Wide, intersecting roads and numerous open spaces and garden plots will help to transform these districts and raise the inhabitants to a brighter level.

GAMBLING DID IT ALL.

Former Chicago Banker Dies Charity Patient in Hospital.

Chicago, April 13.—Ignatius J. Chileski, lawyer and private banker, who in 1911 fled from Chicago with clients and depositers clamoring for more than $100,000 of their money, which he declared he had lost in gambling, died here yesterday in the tuberculosis ward of the county hospital, a charity patient, under the name of Joseph Wagner. He had visited South America, Asia and Africa, but his efforts to regain financial footing failed. He returned to Chicago several months ago, but did not communicate with his family. Just before he died he revealed his identity to a nurse and said:

"Tell my old friends that I paid for my folly with my life. Gambling did it all."

RICH LASSIES IN SEARCH OF LOVERS

European Warfare Killing Off the Nation's Best Young Men.

Corpus Christi, Tex., April 13.—Armi Ritter, a former Texas cowboy, who for years has been a trick rider and expert rifle shot with the "Sarrasani Schau," a German "Wild West" show employing 2,000 actors, has returned to his home because the war forced the circus to disband.

With the first outbreak of hostilities the hundreds of Cossack dare-devil riders with the circus were thrown into prison, the English acrobats found themselves in detention camps and the Japanese jugglers were taken into custody. Every subject of an enemy nation with the show was detained by the authorities, thus greatly crippling the great tent show. Most of the German actors had to join the colors.

For a time the management attempted to go on with the shows, using neutral actors and [illegible] greatly weakened, had little interest for a populace under the great strain of war and the attendance dwindled.

Try a War Spectacular.

Then as a bid for popular favor the company was reorganized to present a great war spectacle called "Europe in Flames." It depicted the cause and with the roar of cannon and the clash of steel the progress of the war, and finally the probable ending, always with a strong German bias.

Out of a Job.

The public sickened of this mockery of the real warfare which was killing off so many of the nation's best young men. Again the circus lost patronage and the management decided to disband. Some of the American lads who lost their jobs took the oath of allegiance to Germany and joined the army, but when he found that it was necessary to renounce his American citizenship he balked.

"I think I'll go back," Ritter said "and marry. There are lots of nice, rich girls over there. You see the war is killing off nearly all of the young men—and it won't be hard to marry," he confessed naively.

RANCH TRAGEDY IS VIVIDLY RECALLED

"Alias Johnny Potts," the Victim, Is Prodigal Son of Wealth.

Watonga, Okla., April 13.—One part of northwestern Oklahoma which is rich in the myths of the cowboy days is the land to the north of the Eagle Chief. Much of the early lore of romantic nature has been lost, but there are a few old-timers who vividly remember the trials of pioneer life and of the romances which, like the cattle, once covered the valley of this small stream.

The mecca for the cowmen was the frontier town of Caldwell, Kan. A dance could not be held for a hundred miles to the southwest without drawing a number of young people from Caldwell.

Of the most famous ranches along the Eagle Chief was the T-5. Nowhere [illegible] where did the round-up boast of as skillful handling of the rope as did those who formed the outfit of the T-5 ranch.

Every ranch had its history, many of them reading like fiction more than of the life which these big-hearted men of the plains lead. Of the T-5 this story will deal.

On a hill overlooking the valley of the Eagle Chief is an almost forgotten grave. The brush has grown around it until there remains but little to mark it as the last resting place of one who had been a part of the early day scenes in that part of the country.

"Johnny Potts'" Grave.

Within the grave lie the remains of Johnny Potts. Where he came from it is not known, but those who were his friends believed him to be the son of a rich eastern man and that the young man had quarreled with his father, which resulted in the youth leaving home.

A Country Party.

The home of Henry Korte, near New Haven, was the scene of an old-fashioned "hoe down" on Saturday evening, when friends of the neighborhood and near vicinity called as a birthday anniversary surprise. Sweet music was furnished by Mr. Welpk, Joe Dentzell and John Prepsing and old fashioned quadrilles were danced, much to the delight and fun of the company. Dancing continued until a late hour and the guests had a hot breakfast before they departed for their homes, that each one had a part in furnishing. Those who participated in the jolly time were Mr. and Mrs. John Prepsing and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pranger, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weaver and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dentzell, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ehrman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ehrman and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Henshen and family, Misses Pearl and Mabel Weaver, Anna Beckmann, Alice and Anna Tibbet, Velma Henschen and Alice Kiefer and Charles Hockemeyer, Will Prepsing and John Tibbet.

Mr. Stoeber Comes to Fort Wayne.

Emmerson Stoeber, cellist, and a member of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and also cello player with the Bailhe Trio, is coming to Fort Wayne to reside. An arrangement has been made between the European School of Music and the Jefferson theater to induce Mr. Stroeber to make this city his home and his many admiring friends will be delighted to know he has decided to do so. Mr. Stoeber will give daily numbers on the cello with the Bailhe orchestra at the Jefferson, and that already popular moving picture house, with its good music and its fine organ, will present one more advance step in its high class entertainment. Mr. Stoeber will continue his work with the Trio and will, of course, teach at the European school. It is well known that he is a cello performer of much skill and beauty of tone.

(By Caroline Coe.)

No one ever got fat eating beets—their food value is very small—but a great many people find that the succulent young vegetable puts a fine edge on a dull appetite, and they wisely add them to their spring menu.

Beets should be cooked in plenty of water, and young beets should be cooked about one hour. In removing the green tops don't cut them, but wring them from the beet roots. When cooked drop the beets into cold water and the skins will slip off.

Beets make an attractive garnish for salads.

CREAMED BEETS.

Boil and skin, slice or dice and put in dish in which they are to be served; turn over the beets a rich white sauce and serve very hot.

BUTTERED BEETS.

Boil, skin and slice young beets. Dice in large dice and turn into melted butter, allowing two tablespoonfuls of butter to two cupfuls of the diced beets. Salt to taste and sprinkle top with paprika.

SUGARED BEETS.

Peel and slice cooked beets; to each pint of beets add two tablespoonfuls of sugar, three of butter; salt to taste; put in baking pan and heat in oven stir often as they will scorch easily: especially nice way to prepare the small young beets.

BEETS IN SOUR SAUCE.

Cut cold cooked beets into large sized cubes. Make a sour sauce by melting three tablespoonfuls of butter. When melted add three tablespoonfuls of flour, blended until all lumps have disappeared (do not brown) add one-half cup of stock or water, and stir for three minutes, then add one tablespoonful of sugar and two tablespoonfuls each of cream and vinegar. Reheat the beets in the sauce and serve at once. Do not stir as the beets will become broken and the sauce discolored.

BEET SOUP.

Boil young beets until tender, drop into cold water and remove the skins Chop beets in bowl until very fine.

To each pint of chopped beets and juice, add one pint of mutton broth or beef stock and simmer fifteen minutes. Rub through a colander and set in place to keep hot. Cook together two teaspoonfuls of butter and two of flour and add two cupfuls of milk. Stir until thick and smooth, then add slowly the beet and mutton mixture. Season with salt and a dash of cayenne, serve hot in cups with dot of whipped cream on top.

GENERAL CHAIRMAN FOR HOPE HOSPITAL BENEFIT

MRS. A. E. FAUVE.

Mrs. A. E. Fauve is general chairman for the committees arranging for the operetta, "The House That Jack Built," that is to be given at the Majestic theater on May 14 and 15, with matinee on the latter day. The operetta is to be directed by Mrs. Hortense Reynolds who has come from Chicago for that purpose. The music of the operetta is by Mrs. Jessie Gaynor, one of the best known writers for music for children in this country. A large number of children are to take part in the cast.

MISS MAY ROBSON AS "MARTHA."

Well Known Comedian Plays to Large Audience at Majestic.

"Martha-by-the-Day" and Miss May Robson in the title role made a combination at the Majestic theater last night that a large audience thoroughly enjoyed, laughed over and remained seated at the end of the play until Miss Robson had recited some rhyming verse in which she fired her parting bit of Martha philosophy in an admonition to "play the game." A very consistent character portrayal is Miss Robson's work as Martha, "Martha" being a mixture of the homely philosophy of a Mrs. Wiggs, the confusion of words of a Mrs. Malaprop and the inconsistency of any woman role that might be selected from a play or from real life. Miss Robson makes a very lovable and admirable part of the role. Many a bit of wisdom is driven home through the medium of humor and therefore leaves an impression without a sting. The most beautiful moments of the play come at the close of the first act during which Martha's intuition concerning her husband's illness and her devotion and pluck in facing the apparently impending disaster of death with the present one of poverty, were portrayed as only an artist could act. Particular praise of the company rests upon Miss Henrietta McDannel as Cora, Edwin Brandt as Allen and Coates Cwynne as Frank Ronald.

MRS. E. H. M'DONALD CHOSEN.

Allen County Orphans' Home Trustees Hold Annual Meeting.

Mrs. E. H. McDonald was chosen to succeed the late Mrs. S. B. Bond as a member of the board of trustees at a meeting of the board to hold the annual election of officers. Other officers were re-elected and are Mrs. S. M. Foster, president; Mrs. J. C. Peters, vice president; Mrs. J. M. Kuhns, treasurer; Mrs. E. H. McDonald, secretary; Dr. L. P. Drayer, physician, and Mrs. Ida Overmyer, superintendent of the home. The board of trustees remains unchanged with the exception of the election of Mrs. McDonald. Other members are Mrs. C. S. Bash, Mrs. T. E. Ellison, Mrs. Max B. Fisher, Mrs. E. F. Yarnelle, Mrs. J. M. Landenberger and Messrs E. A. K. Hackett, W. E. Mossman, A. H. Perfect, F. E. Stouder and Theodore Wentz.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"Trojan Women," Peace Play, at the Majestic.

"Euripides' Trojan Women could hardly have moved the Athenians more than it did those that sat before it yesterday in the little auditorium of Lime street. Perhaps, indeed, the tragedy gained force by such concentration. The agony and the pity of it seemed to cry and break out of such pent environment, (with) a more stripped illusion and a starker and more piercing emotion than the theater often yields, a power before which our softened emaginations both thrill and blanch—a thing of pain and yet of an infinite and purging piteousness. After all these centuries, there are few tragedies of pity that in the theater may so search and melt seeing minds and listening hearts as does 'The TrojanWomen.' "—H. T. P. in The Boston Transcript.

"Trojan Women" will be presented at the Majestic Thursday evening by the famous Chicago Little Theater company.

AT THE NEW PALACE

BILL OF FUN AT PALACE.

Cecil Lean and Cleo Mayfield Top a Merry Program.

Cecil Lean is one of the few former musical comedy stars who is even more brilliant in vaudeville than in his original line of amusement endeavor, and on the New Palace program this fun loving comedian is establishing his right to being one of the [illegible] by Miss Cleo Mayfield, a fascinatingly beautiful young woman who recently became Mrs. Cecil Lean in private life. They do a decidedly clever arrangement of song specialty song numbers, including a wedding scene in which Miss Mayfield, as a blooming bride, walks down the aisle to be married by the flirtatious squire, Mr. Lean.

"After the Wedding" is the hysterically funny farce in which Edward Farrell and company are appearing. The fun is written round two pairs of newly weds who occupy adjoining rooms in a hotel and who get themselves into all manner of mixups, due to the fact that one bride is a sister of the other groom and the second bride is the ex-sister-in-law of the first groom. The fun waxes fast and furious.

AT THE EMPRESS.

That grand opera may be found in burlesque may sound as though someone were trying to do a little stringing. This is the exact state of affairs in the "Gay Widows'" show, which is playing at the Empress this week in an extraordinary attraction. The grand opera comes in with the "Five Alarcons," a family of Mexican singers, of Spanish ancestry. But this is only one of the excellent features of the bill, for it is chuck full of girls, song, dance, comedy and burlesque, which goes a long way in delivering the goods, with the average crowd of the theater today.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

"THE GHOSTBREAKER."

H. B. Warner, Noted American Actor, Appearing at the Jefferson.

"The Ghostbreaker" was originally produced at the Empire theater in New York, about four years ago, and Mr. H. B. Warner, the star, played in the piece for a run lasting over two years. In adapting the play for the screen, the Jesse L. Lasky branch of the Paramount company has elaborated considerably on the speaking version, following with faithful exactitude the scenic and dramatic dictates of the original story rather than the play, whose presentation was naturally limited by the smaller area of the legitimate stage.

"The Spanish Jane," adapted from the novel by Joseph Louis Vance and produced by the Paramount, is the Jefferson attraction for Wednesday and Thursday.

AT THE COLONIAL

BETTY NANSEN IN "ACQUITTED."

Celebrated Tragedienne at the Colonial in Powerful Drama.

It is interesting to note how, within the last few years so many of the prominent stars of the speaking have succumbed to the lure of the silent drama and entered this field of pantomime, either permanently or for a brief stay. One of the most important conversions made to the screen was that which brought the wonderful Danish tragedienne, Betty Nansen, clear from the boards of the Royal theater of Copenhagen, to the studios where she posed for a series of photodramas at a price said to be the largest ever paid to a foreign actress appearing in an American screen play.

In addition to the feature play, a laughable travesty on the popular song, "This is the Life," will be shown in three reels.

AT THE MINUET.

The Minuet is today showing Shadows of Doubt (in three parts) and Pathe master pictures that make up a most attractive bill.

Wrapped up in his profession, Dr. Martin has no inclination for the social activities which absorb his wife's time. Science has claimed him and he is a devoted servant. A note asking them to attend a soiree, finds the wife eager, but [illegible] en child is met with all the doctor's ardor. That night, while the doctor bends anxiously over his fever-tossed patient, his wife sits out a dance with Harry Vernon, a handsome young aristocrat. He sees her home and exacts from her a promise to attend a party to be given by his mother. At his mother's lawn fete, Harry renews his attentions to Mrs. Martin, and they wander through the beautiful park, happy in each other's society. Charmed by the sympathetic youth, they forget for the moment their positions, and not until it is over does she realize that their kiss involves disloyalty to her husband and child.

QUAINT ARITHMETIC CONTAINS OLD RULES

School Book is Found Written Entirely in Long Hand.

Kansas City, Mo., April 8.—A school book written entirely in long hand, containing the rules and examples of arithmetic in use more than a century ago, when compound interest was unlawful in the United States and the conception of a cylinder was a "straight solid in the shape of a rolling stone," is in the possession of a resident of this city, says the Star. The arithmetic is about twelve inches long, seven inches wide and one inch thick, bound with a cloth similar to burlap, though the weave is finer, upon heavy paper backing. The cover is somewhat mutilated, but otherwise the book is well preserved and the writing clear and legible.

There is no printed matter in the entire book. All of the rules for the different phrases of arithmetic were written in large, bold Spencerian writing at the top of the page by the teacher, and below are the problems as worked out by the original owner.

Subtraction, which was among the first subjects he tackled, is defined as that which "Teacheth how to take a lesser number from a greater and thereby show the remainder or difference." From this and many other similar expressions throughout the book it does not take a wide stretch of imagination to picture knee breeches, silver buckled shoes, hoop skirts and crinoline as the prevailing mode of dress.

"If from Dublin to Cork be 101 Irish miles I demand how many barley corns will reach between the two places, allowing three barley corns to make one inch?"

I finally decided on a "flower hat" for spring. Isn't it a dream in black and white?

There's not much to it—it's the trimming that makes it so different. Notice the way the wide white messaline ribbon is drawn through the hearts of the big field daisies, and don't overlook the cunning little white rose on the brim—there are four of them, one for each corner.

White chiffon faces the upper side of the brim. It's such a featherweight of a hat and so summery looking I think I'll wear it right up to the Fourth of July.

SIMPLY CAN'T GET ENOUGH OF THE WAR

Young Bavarian, Wounded Three Times, Anxious to Serve Again.

Berlin, March 25.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—From Bohemia comes the story of a young Bavarian who has not had enough of war, notwithstanding that he has been three times wounded and was finally ordered placed on the invalid list. He presented himself at a recruiting office in a Bohemian town as a volunteer for the Austrian army, giving the following account of himself:

He had joined the Bavarian army as a volunteer in the first week of the war and received his first wound, a slight one in the arm, in the early fighting in Belgium. After five days in the field hospital he broke away and rejoined his regiment. Soon afterward he was shot through the right arm in one of the battles in France, and had to spend several weeks in a hospital. When he was finally dismissed he went forth determined to avenge his father, who had just fallen in one of the battles in the Vosges mountains. About Christmas he received a bad bayonet wound in the thigh in a battle near Lille, and after he was fairly recovered the surgeons pronounced him unfit for further service. His thirst for battle, however, was not assuaged. He went to Austria and offered himself there, pleading that he was alone in the world now, his father dead and his only sister married, so his life was of no value to anyone. But his pleading was in vain; he was turned away; and the question is now asked whether he will offer himself to the sultan.

Berlin school children are doing their part toward raising war relief funds. Each Sunday about 2,000 pupils from the public schools gather at a local theater and present a musical program that includes a series of quartet songs and chorus numbers. The financial returns from the concerts are considerable.

MORE SOLDIERS IN HOME.

Number Increases Despite High Mortality Rate of Veterans.

Lafayette, Ind., April 13.—Although the mortality rate among survivors of the civil war is rapidly increasing, the membership of the Indiana State Soldiers' home continues to increase, due to the fact that so many war veterans and their wives or widows have become so old they are obliged to seek refuge in institutions of the kind.

Colonel D. B. Kehler's annual report just issued also discloses that the high cost of living has affected the institution. Subsistence supplies cost 14.1 per cent. more during the year ending September 30, 1914, than during the previous year. The average daily attendance increased during the same year to 909. The daily average for the year preceding was 844. The enrollment September 30, 1914, was 1,417, of which number 408 were men and 909 were women.

There were eighty-four deaths during the year, forty-nine being men and thirty-five women. Colonel Kehler calls attention in his report to the fact that a custodial building for demented members is an urgent need. A special building for housing the carriage of Oliver P. Morton also is recommended. The inventory taken by the commandant shows the property of the institution to be valued at $648,[illegible]7.

CUBS GET BACK ON THE FIELD

Two and a Half Day Layoff Seem to Have No Effect.

Manager Bade Myers and his beauty chorus went through a dress rehearsal on the north Calhoun street stage Tuesday morning, while a crowd of several hundred admiring fans wrapped their overcoats around themselves and looked on. The boys are working into excellent condition and the two and a half day layoff brought on them by the weather seemed to have little effect on the bunch of athletes.

The pruning process will have to begin either late Tuesday afternoon or Wednesday morning, and Myers still is trying to pick the stickers. There remain more than twenty men to pick from, and as but thirteen will stick there will have to be some mighty promising ones let go.

Smyth — pronounced Smith — the pink-topped fielder who has had the local management running to every train that pulled in from St. Louis, actually arrived Monday and got to work in the afternoon. His condition looks mighty good, too.

Barrett, the second baseman secured from Cincinnati, was released yesterday, and there still are several applicants on hand for the second sack. Smyth may be brought in from the outfield for the job, or Thompson may stick.

IN THE VET CAMP.

Francisco Signed and Bowman and Diggins Released.

Dayton, O., April 13.—Manager Compton said good-bye to two more Vets this morning as he handed them their releases. The unfortunate lads were Catcher Bowman and Pitcher Diggins. Both boys are hard workers but Jack thought them too inexperienced to stay in this class. Bowman will leave shortly for his home in ccGreenup, Ill., and Diggins will go to Urbana, his town.

As Catcher Bowman was getting ready to leave the new backstop signed by the Vets appeared on the scene. He is Nicholas Francisco. He came here from Columbus, where he makes his home, but he played with the Portsmouth team in the Ohio State league, last year.

AWAKES FROM DEAD.

Southern Michigan League, Twice Reported a Corpse, Sits Up.

Battle Creek, Mich., April 13.—Within a week every one of the six clubs that will go to make up the Southern Michigan league this year will be actively engaged in training work preparatory to the opening of the league season on April 28. Some of the clubs already have their men at conditioning work in Ohio and Indiana cities. Others will not attempt any spring training trip, but will trust to work done on home lots to have their men right for the championship games.

Prof. Young Says Danger Lies in Graduate Coaching.

The greatest danger to intercollegiate athletics in this country today lies in graduate coaching, according to Prof. C. V. P. Young, director of physical culture at Cornell. He believes that too much emphasis is placed on supremacy in athletics and that athletic coaches should become members of the faculty. He says:

"The graduate coach as a rule is a recent graduate, a man who has not yet had much experience in life, or who can look upon it from the vantage point of the home and an established position. He is apt to know little and care less about the laws of health and exercise, and is often influenced by motives and ideals which are entirely foreign to the purposes for which the institution exists. Having regard primarily for his own reputation as a coach and for the athletic prestige of his team, and with no responsibility to the teaching staff or for the scholastic work of the athletes, he will often recommend tactics and approve actions which a professional athlete even of the prize ring would be slow to countenance. He is generally paid a salary out of all proportion to the value of the service rendered, which gives him and the student body an exaggerated idea of his importance and of the real significance of the intercollegiate contest.

"Even if he does not receive any direct compensation, the graduate coach is out of place in the present highly developed state of intercollegiate athletics. There may be exceptions of course and the character of the sport may sometimes alter cases, but if we are to hold as of first importance the physical welfare of the student and the development of many instincts, then we must have men in charge who can disregard the excited and unreasoning demands of students and alumni and sacrifice victory and victories, if need be, for the sake of sportsmanship or the permanent good of those under their care; we must have in charge men who are selected because they possess qualities of leadership and are fitted to train young men, men whose age and experience gives guarantee that they will see things in their proper perspective and hold in mind constantly the real purpose of athletic competition and the real purpose for which the college or university exists."

BREAKS RECORD.

E. H. Miller Makes Big Score at Rifle Shoot.

E. H. Miller, of the Fort Wayne Rifle club, at the regular shoot Monday night broke all records for that organization, piling up a score of 94. George Gawehn and J. H. Goeglein registered 84, while Otto Brintzenhofer made 82.

TAPERING OFF.

"Have you a spare cigar about you, old chap?"

"Certainly. But I thought that you were going to stop smoking?"

"So I am, but not too abruptly. I've already stopped smoking my own cigars."

Mrs. George Hardenbrook, who was injured by a fall when her foot became wedged in a switch of the Nickel Plate tracks on Jackson street, Sunday, is very much improved. She lives at 718 St. Mary's avenue.

FIRST BIG LEAGUE HOME RUN SMASH.

The honor of driving out the first home run of the big league baseball season goes to Ed Konetchy, formerly of the St. Louis Cardinals, and now first baseman for the Pittsburg Federals. Koney made his drive on opening day at Kansas City and the wallop was good for three runs. Bennie Kauff drove out a homer the same day for Brooklyn against Buffalo but the game is likely to be thrown out. Grover Land returned to catch the rest of the game after he was taken out to let Howard run for him.

JESS WILLARD'S LIFE STORY.

CHAMP WINS WIFE BY SAVING HER LIFE.

(By Left Hook).

CHAPTER II.

One day Jess Willard, horse trader, picked up a kicking colt by the forelegs and held the animal that way while its hind legs were sheared, and folks were always nice to him after that. Even the best "rasslers" in Pottawatomie county, Kansas, steered clear of the man who could lift the fore part of a 900-pound plunging cow-pony.

At 17 the champion of the world gave up his itinerant schooling for good and made a precarious living by wrapping his long limbs about a wild mustang and teaching parlor manners to the outlaw. Jess didn't take up this business seriously until in the early twenties.

At the time cow ponies—unbroken ones—were as plentiful in Kansas as mosquitoes in New Jersey, and about as valuable. Willard used to buy them up for a few dollars, break them and sell for a good profit. He boasted that there never was a horse that could throw him, and none that he couldn't make quit and do his bidding. And no one contradicted him. It wasn't healthy.

He was driving leisurely along a narrow road one Sunday afternoon when the sound of hoofbeats, as the dime novels say, awakened him from his reverie. He looked behind and saw a plunging, raging team dashing toward him at breakneck speed.

Willard lashed on his horse. The road was not wide enough for two carriages to pass and a deep ditch lay on either side. But on came the runaways. A collision was imminent.

Just as the dashing team was about to crash into Willard's buggy and send the occupants of both outfits to death in the ravine below, Jess stood up in the seat, reached out his long arms to grasp the bits, and steadied the beasts.

He saved the lives of two men and two women, for in the front seat of the runaway carriage sat B. B. Evans, of Emmett, and his wife. In the back seat was Hattie, now Mrs. Jess Willard, and mother of four little Willards.

Jess naturally thought that his act entitled him to some consideration from the Evans family, but winning Hattie was accomplished only after he had overcome [illegible] many obstacles as the [illegible] hero of the [illegible].

While the Evanses were duly thankful to the big horse trainer they didn't exactly place him as a member of one of the first families of Pottawatomie county and he was barred from the house.

But that didn't deter Jess. He would drive up in the best outfit his livery stable afforded and Hattie would come out and climb into the buggy. Then for a spin back and forth over the main street of Emmett and perhaps a soda at the drug store.

"Hattie Had to Climb the Fence to Go Buggy Riding With Jess."

However, Hattie's pa was not to be outwitted. He padlocked the gate and the fence was high.

Then Pa and Ma Evans gave up. The young persons were married seven years ago.

For seven years father-in-law and mother-in-law spoke disdainfully of Jess as "Hattie's husband." On Tuesday, April 7, when Pa Evans got back from Topeka, where he went to hear the fight returns, they started calling him "our son-in-law."

REINDEER MEAT FOR AMERICAN TABLE SOON

Washington, April 13.—Reindeer meat may soon make its appearance on the American table as the result of efforts now being made by the department of the interior, through the bureau of education, to introduce reindeer meat into the continental United States. It is said to possess a flavor as fine almost as that of venison.

Heretofore virtually the entire supply of reindeer meat was needed for home consumption, but recently there has been such a surplus that government officials have decided to open up this industry for the Eskimo natives.

The meat already has appeared on the menu in dining cars of trans-continental railroads and is said to have met with instant favor.

At present there are sixty-five herds of reindeer in Alaska, aggregating 57,-872, an increase of 22 per cent. in the last year. From the sale of meat and hides 980 native owners last year received an income of $77,934.

Baltimore, Md., April 12.—Because Miss M. Carey Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr college, survived her friend and close associate, Miss Mary Garrett, Johns Hopkins university loses the residuary estate of Miss Garrett, which is estimated at $5,000,000, while Bryn Mawr college loses a direct bequest of $200,000.

Miss M. Carey Thomas.

These provisions are contingent upon the testator's surviving Miss Thomas. As the latter is in good health, the educational institutions lose their claims, and Miss Thomas gets the bulk of the estate absolutely.

The will contains a clause which indicates Miss Garrett's confidence that Miss Thomas will at some time dispose of the estate according to her wishes, although she is given absolute control.

JUST FROM PRISON; AGAIN LOCKED UP

John Williams Tells in City Court of Unhappy Fortunes.

John Williams, arrested for being drunk and trying to peddle a new pair of overalls to get drunker, told Judge Kerr in the city court Tuesday morning that he was a man of sorrows. He said that he had been wrongfully convicted in Decatur of a hand in railway car robberies and sent to the Michigan City prison, where after serving fifteen months he received a pardon five days ago. He was on his way back to Decatur and stubbed his toe when he got within hitting distance of Fort Waylne booze. He was arrested Monday night by Officer Charles Eisenhut and locked up when he could not give a good account of himself and the garment he was trying to peddle. Chief Lenz recalls that about a year and a half ago, while he was in the service of the Grand Rapids and Indiana railway as a detective, he assisted the special officer of the Erie railroad at Decatur to clean up some car robberies and that some men were sent to prison for the work. He did not identify Williams as one of the men.

Mouth Got Him in Trouble.

Charles Gibhardt didn't like it a bit when Officer George Heller remonstrated with him for beating a horse and pursued the officer to talk it over, which he did in a turbulent and threatening manner. He was arrested and booked for disorderly conduct, a charge upon which he was convicted in the city court and Judge Kerr fined him $10 and costs. He paid.

Other City Court Cases.

Charles Shall, arrested on a drunk charge by Detective Sergeant Joseph Brennan, was continued until the 20th inst. and locked up in default of $200 bond. He had been trying to dispose of a valuable gold watch and is also said to have stolen a bicycle from the office of the Dunn coal yard. He can give no good account of himself and his possession of the watch and is believed to be a criminal and parole violator. He will be investigated.

Hugh Hunter, Walter B. Williams and Chas. Hays, three colored men, were arrested by Detective Sergeant Pappert and charged with vagrancy. Hunter was turned loose, Williams continued until the 16th and Hays until the 14th. They were caught in a dragnet thrown out for colored hoboes in the effort to run down a negro murderer wanted in Kirkwood, Mo., and reported Monday to have headed this way from Peru, Ind.

Fred Lewis, a drunk, was fined $1 and costs and Tom O'Brien, another souse, drew $5 and costs.

Theodore Green and Velores Walters, young negroes under continuance for a month on disorderly charges, were continued indefinitely on promise to keep away from the Elks' club where they had caused disturbance.

Henrietta Anderson and Ely Demitroff, arrested in a rooming house several days ago, were continued until the 21st. They have since been married and last week the woman tried to commit suicide by poison and is still in the hospital.

GROCERY IS BURGLARIZED.

Burglars entered the E. A. Orr grocery 2028 Calhoun street, Monday night, by breaking the transom of a rear door. Two sacks of flour, some boxes of cigars and $4 in change taken from the cash register constituted the loot so far as the proprietor could ascertain Tuesday morning.

LOCKRIDGE SPEAKS TO REAL ESTATE MEN

Points Out Great Need for a New Constitution in This State.

Ross F. Lockridge, secretary of the Citizens' League of Indiana, was the principal speaker Tuesday afternoon at the regular weekly noon day meeting of the Fort Wayne Real Estate exchange at the Commercial club. He took for his subject the "Need of a New Constitution for Indiana."

Announcement was made at the meeting that Tom Ingersoll, executive secretary of the national association of real estate exchanges, would be here on May 4 and speak to the members of the local exchange. Other speakers of prominence will be here on that date.

Mr. Lockridge has devoted all his time since leaving college to the conduct of an educational campaign of study and discussion throughout the state of needed constitutional improvements and in his address Tuesday he told of the work that had been done. The Citizens League of Indiana was founded in Fort Wayne last July and is now a state-wide organization with headquarters in Indianapolis. The governing body of the league is an executive committee of fifteen members, representing all districts of the state. Theodore F. Thieme and S. F. Bowser are members of this committee.

Mr. Lockridge declared that largely through the activities of the league the new constitution movement is rapidly gaining strength and influence with all civic and business interests. The league was successful in defeating the twenty-two Stotsenburg lost amendments in the legislature, he explained, and the way is now clear for the calling of a constitutional convention by the legislature in 1917. He gave it as his opinion that all parties will declare for this program as an omnipartisan measure of progress to meet the changes of the sixty-four years of history since the present constitution was written.

Mr. Lockridge [illegible] this movement because of the need of up-to-date revision of city government and in taxation. The present tax system, he said, is especially unjust to real estate, which must bear far more than its proportionate share of the tax burden now and it is therefore natural that the Indiana Real Estate association should be foremost in the movement for a new constitution. Mr. Lockridge has been invited before the real estate exchanges of most of the larger cities of the state. He started that the real estate men throughout Indiana are becoming the most active leaders on behalf of a constitutional convention.

Minnesota's Passengers Are Safely Carried to Kobe, Japan.

Kobe, Japan, April 13.—There was no panic on board the steamship Minnesota when she ran on a rock off Iwajima at the entrance to the inland sea of Japan Sunday night, according to passengers brought here by the steamer Oanfa. The night was calm but the weather was thick and foggy when a grating sound was felt at 8:45 p. m. It was found that the vessel had grounded three miles out of her course.

Some of the women aboard became hysterical but excellent order was maintained and many of the passengers even returned to their berths upon the assurance of the officers that there was no danger. The Oanfa, which the Minnesota previously had passed, arrived about 1 a. m. to render aid in response to distress signals. About 100 passengers were transferred to the Oanfa without accident and arrived at Kobe today.

Among them was Mrs. Francis Burton Harrison, wife of the governor of the Philippines, who said they had suffered little inconvenience [illegible] vessel at the disposal of the Minnesota's passengers and did everything possible to make them comfortable. The governess of the Harrison children was detained aboard the Oanfa with two other German passengers because of the war regulations which requires special permits for Germans to enter Japan. At the request of the American embassy, however, the foreign office has granted permission for the governess of the Harrison children to land and the other German passengers will be permitted to do so if they desire. Fifty steerage passengers still are aboard the Minnesota with the Yakumo standing by to give assistance if it is needed. The persons who were brought here were quartered at hotels and probably will be sent to the United States aboard other steamers.

STRUCK BY TRAIN WHILE PICKING COAL

Unknown Foreigner Killed While Trespassing at Tolleston.

Depot attaches, passengers and trainmen were subjected to a most shocking sight at Tolleston, Ind., this morning, at 6:30 o'clock. At that hour a woman of foreign birth who was trespassing on the Pennsylvania tracks, picking up coal, was struck by train No. 15 and instantly killed. The accident happened at a point immediately in front of the residence of the family and was also witnessed by some of the neighbors. The train was stopped, the body picked up, taken to the Tolleston depot and turned over to the coroner. The train was in charge of Conductor Tom M. Hall and was pulled by engine 7018, with Engineer Frank Archer at the throttle. The name of the woman was not obtained.

FORMERLY LIVED HERE.

J. E. Muhlfeld, President of Big Fuel Company.

The Locomotive Pulverized Fuel company, recently organized, and the men who direct its affairs are extensively written up in the last number of the Railway Age Gazette. One of the officers, John E. Muhlfeld, resided in Fort Wayne some years ago, when he was employed by the Wabash company, is the president. He is well known here and at other places on the Wabash system, because of the character of his work, which brought him in touch with the road men and the shop employes. He spent the period of his apprenticeship in Fort Wayne, going to Peru to be general foreman of the shops. He left the Wabash in 1899 and since has been master mechanic of the Grand Trunk; assistant to the superintendent of motive power of the Baltimore and Ohio, with headquarters at Baltimore; motive power superintendent at Newark; general superintendent of motive power of the B. & O., and vice president and general manager of the Kansas City Southern.

WILL ENLARGE PLANT.

Sears Food Product Company Must Increase Facilities.

D. M. Sears, president of the Sears Food Products company, announced yesterday that the company would build an addition to its plant that will enable them to triple the output. It will be a two story brick structure 200x160 feet. Mr. Sears also stated that the company, in order that it might get a supply of raw material to work on in its canning department, had leased ninety-five acres of land near Hunter, Mo., and seventy-five acres near Pelasco, Texas, of which pickles for the Fort Wayne shop will be grown. In this way the company will get its supply two or three weeks earlier than it is able to get it under present methods. The company is now working forty-five men at the plant; when the addition is finished and equipped it will be able to work a force of 150 men.

SIXTY-SEVEN TODAY.

Watchman Alf. Raifsnyder is Rounding Out Another Year.

Alfred Raifsnyder, watchman at the Pennsylvania shops, is sixty-seven years old today, but that fact is not interfering with his duties, which he is performing as usual. A few days ago, April 7, Mr. Raifsnyder passed the fiftieth year of his service with the Pennsylvania company. He commenced work in the capacity of rodman with the engineering department and remained at it four years, when he entered the train service. In brief his connection with the road included a service of four or five years with the engineering corps, ten years as brakeman and conductor, twenty-one years as night yardmaster and six years as watchman at the shops.

ANKLE BADLY BROKEN.

Sebastian Koch in Alexian Brothers' Hospital in St. Louis.

Remains of Joseph Wood Will Arrive Next Week.

The remains of Joseph Wood, the locomotive engineer who died in Panama April 5, are en route to Fort Wayne. They will arrive in New York either Saturday or Sunday and will be immediately forwarded to this city by express. This is the information Mrs. Frank T. Benoy, the sister of the deceased, received yesterday.

FOUND WITH LEG BROKEN.

While en route to the Pennsylvania round house this morning, Assistant Foreman E. B. Hughes found Eli Hill seated at the side of the Wabash tracks with one of his legs so badly injured he could not use it. Mr. Hughes called the police ambulance and the injured man was taken to St. Joseph hospital, where it developed that the bone of the injured leg was broken. It could not be learned how the accident happened, but it is thought Hill was thrown in trying to get on a train.

FINED AND SENTENCED TO JAIL.

Capt. H. C. Stoll, of the Pennsylvania police department, has been advised that Frank McCarthy was fined $25 and received a sixty days' jail sentence and Walter Sullivan was fined $10 and sentenced to thirty days in jail at Gary yesterday. The men were arrested when found in a car after they had brokn open a box and taken out some merchandise.

MRS. NORA LEE TURNER, Trained Nurse.

This morning the dispensary at the Fort Wayne Electric works started the [illegible] year of its existence, under the [illegible] management of Mrs. Nora Lee [illegible], a nurse of wide experience. A [illegible] of the cases of sickness and [illegible] handled by Mrs. Turner shows [illegible] the two years there were [illegible]. Only a small per centage of these were serious enough to require attention from Dr. Fred Schulz, the company surgeon. The prompt attention given injuries received by the employes at the works has no doubt prevented a number of infected cases which might have led to blood poisoning and probably fatal results. A record is made of each case, no matter how slight the wound.

WAR NO INJURY TO INSURANCE BUSINESS

Ex-Governor Insures Whole Regiments of British Troops in Canada.

Pasadena, Cal., April 13.—"The European war isn't hurting the life insurance business a bit. Just before I left home I insured a whole regiment of Canadian soldiers at $1,000 apiece. If they live a year the company will be no loser in event of their deaths, so it isn't any big risk to take."

This statement was made by former Governor Morgan G. Bulkeley, of Connecticut.

Mr. Bulkley was governor from 1889 to 1893, a United States senator from Cennecticut from 1905 to 1911, mayor of Hartford from 1880 to 1888, and is now president of the Aetna Life Insurance company.

He declared that business prospects in the east are brighter and that he looks for good times ahead.

"The war is all right as long as it stays over on the other side of the Atlantic," he said. "Let them fight it out. But you never can tell what may happen. As for the present administration, I don't like it. They say Mr. Bryan is liable to do anything but to take a drink.

"I have watched the working of the new federal reserve bank, but to me it seems as if there was never any necessity for it. When I was in the senate we handled matters in much the same way under the provision of the old Aldrich bill, issuing $500,000,000 in notes which bankers put away in their safes, buying new safes for the purpose, and much of it is there still. I suppose, now that the federal reserve banking system will have to work out. Such things are not changed until they have been given a trial. But I never could see any need of it."

BABIES ARE TAUGHT SEVEN LANGUAGES

Mother Demonstrates New Method of Teaching in New York.

New York, April —More than a thousand persons were turned away from the Cort theater, where Mrs. Winifred Sackville Stoner, of Pittsburgh, Pa., gave a demonstration how to teach children seven languages before they are five years old.

A large part of those in the audience were children, and excited laughs and giggles bubbled through the theater when the curtain rose, showing rocking horses and nothing more suggestive of the school room than a set of little globes.

"I wish Andy Carnegie would burn up all his libraries, especially the grammars," said Mrs. Stoner, as she opened the lecture. "Nothing more absurd than grammar was ever invented."

Put an End to Examinations.

Whatever the children in the audience may have thought of the new method of education they were plainly much elated and cheered vociferously. Held in check by a prudent parent, one little boy cried, "Hi!" and nearly fell over the gallery edge when Mrs. Stoner admitted that "Goldsmith had to be fed with gingerbread before he would go to school."

Mrs. Stoner was plainly on the side of the teachers.

"They are overworked, underpaid and have altogether too little consideration," she said. "The first thing that ought to be abolished in our public school system is examinations. They are the bane of the schools and are responsible for many cases of shattered nerves among our children. Children should love to go to school and it ought not to be more necessary to ring a bell to summon pupils than to mark the time for the opening of the movies."

KING OF NEWSBOYS IN FORT WAYNE

SAM TOMISON.

All hail boys! The king is here! Fort Wayne Sentinel newsboys and carriers are happy, with the prospects of a pleasant week ahead of them. Beginning today the Sentinel will furnish a solid week of entertainment for the little street merchants. This will include visits to all of the local theaters, at various times of the day.

The occasion for this treat is the visit to Fort Wayne of Sam Tomison, of St. Louis, widely known throughout the United States and Canada as the "King of Newsboys." He will conduct the theater parties in person. Tomison has visited every city of importance in these two countries, teaching the newsies all of the latest wrinkles in the art of newspaper salesmanship. This is the age of specialists, and Tomison is a specialist of the highest type in his particular line. While here Tomison will appear on the down town streets the latter part of the week, selling the Daily Sentinel in his usual manner. Any persons passing through the business district during the time he is here and hearing a strange piercing cry are cautioned not to send for the police or fire department, as it will only be Sam telling the people the contents of the Daily Sentinel in his usual voice, and it is really said that his voice would make Caruso turn green with envy.

While here Tomison will instruct the newsies how to sell papers on their merits and how to specialize on various features appearing on the front pages, from day to day.

The king has been a newsboy all his life, starting out as the smallest newsboy in St. Louis, Mo., at the age of six years. After selling the dailies for 9 years he branched out with his original work, having met with phenomenal success in his seven years of travel. Every newsboy in Fort Wayne is invited to call at the Sentinel office today until 5:30 p. m., where they will receive free tickets for the big week of fun. For the opening treat today the boys will all meet at the Sentinel office at 5:30 p. m. where they will form a line of march to the Jefferson theater, where a good show is promised them by Mr. Quimby, the manager. Big parade starts promptly at 6 p. m. Be there on time. Greet the king.

Spain by royal order has made the annual celebration of Arbor day obligatory, a part of the expenses of tree planting to be borne by municipalities.

Policemen will hereafter turn off the 16,148 street electric lights in Manhattan and Brooklyn, thus saving $40,000 a year formerly paid to lighters.

European women, as shown in the picture above, driven to it by the war, are doing a wide variety of things once only considered man's work. Left to right the first picture shows a French woman working as a street car conductor in Paris; the second shows a German woman working as a street cleaner in Munich; the third shows Bavarian women helping to build a railroad and the fourth an Englishwoman working as a "smithy."

WIFE APPLIES FOR A LIMITED DIVORCE

Maud Daseler Says There Is No Getting Along With Husband.

The first application for a limited divorce that has been applied for in a good many months was filed in the superior court Tuesday when Maud Daseler begun action against Charles Daseler for separation from bed and board. The two were married in 1898, separated and have lived apart since the 19th of last March and have no children. She says she has been a good, faithful and attentive wife, whereas her husband, without cause, has treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner, calling her vile and abusive names, cursing and swearing at her, staying out late at night, ignoring her, refusing to accompany her anywhere in public and associating with women of lewd reputation over her remonstrances. She has procured from the court an order restraining the defendant from molesting her at her home, 619 Madison stret, removing or in any way disposing of some household furniture he has there and accosting her anywhere she may be.

Bessie Ross Gets $1,600.

By agreement of the parties to the action judgement for $1,600 has been given in the superior court to the Citizens' Trust company, guardian of Bessie Ross, a minor, in suit brought against Oscar C. Liggett, Adelaide V. Liggett and Alfred T. Bailey, owners of the Banner Laundry, for $2,500 damages. Bessie Ross is the girl who, while operating a machine called a flatiron worker or calendar roller in the laundry February 19, last, had one of her hands so badly crushed that amputation was necessary. It is stated in the complaint that while Bessie Ross at the time of her employment was a minor and of an age that made her employment illegal, the defendants were not aware of this.

Christ Presvelos has begun action in the superior court against John Marandy to collect $725 on a promissory note.

The Tri-State Loan & Trust company, as guardian of Augustine Denner, a minor, has petitioned the circuit court for authority to pay to Robert B. Dreibelbiss as attorney's fee, one third of $400 he obtained in a settlement with the General Electric company for injuries sustained by Denner while in the company's employ. The petition states that the fee is a wholly just claim as the case was of doubtful character as relating to the company's responsibility.

The trial of the case of Dee Weaver against the city for $24,000 damages, before a jury in the superior court, was halted at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon owing to the illness of Judge O. N. Heaton, one of counsel for the plaintiff.

In the superior court Edna Laemmermann Minton has brought suit against Fred Woehnker for $700 for money had and received. The plaintiff is the young woman whose scalp was torn off in an accident at the Troy laundry, April 9, 1908, and in her complaint she says she received in 1910, $900 in settlement of her claim and that of this she gave Woehnker $750 to employ for her use and benefit. He has returned $185 and there is now due $565 with some interest.

MAY MAKE PARK AT HISTORIC MARKER

Park Board and Council Commitee View Tract on Wayne Trace.

Members of the park board, Secretary C. J. Steiss, Councilmen Hartman and Keller, of the council committee on parks, public buildings and grounds and some others interested formed a party that viewed the triangular tract of land at the junction of Wayne trace, New Haven avenue and Warren street, Tuesday afternoon, to consider the plan of the park board to purchase it and create a small park there. On this tract is the big boulder with an inset tablet placed there some years ago by the Mary Penrose Wayne Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution to mark a historic trail that bore a conspicuous part in the affairs of early Fort Wayne.

TRYING IT ON THE DOCTORS.

Schick Test for Diphtheria Being Tried at Health Office.

The Schick test for diphtheria, a discovery of Prof. Schick, an eminent savant of Vienna, is undergoing a test at the city health office under the administration of Dr. J. H. Gilpin, secretary of the health board, and a number of prominent physicians, including Dr. Gilpin, are the subjects. The Schick test consists of mildly innoculating the subject with diphtheria toxin to determine whether or not the subject is suspectible to the disease or immune to it. Many persons, both infants and adults, are immune to diphtheria. The Schick tests determines which are and which are not. A reaction from the inoculation shows susceptibility. The advantage of the test is that at a trifling cost and without risk it can be determined whether the subject, especially in the cases of children, should be given an immunizing treatment with diphtheria anti-toxin or not. The antitoxin treatment is quite expensive, but is frequpenty resorted to, especially in families where diphtheria has developed and in the cases of children exposed at school. The Schick test shows where immunization is necessary. The results of the tests made at the health office by Dr. Gilpin will be reported at the meeting of the Twelfth District Medical society Wednesday in this city.

WILL AMEND THE ORDINANCE.

The ordinance providing for the annexation of the Harrison Hill addition of fifty-seven acres south of the city limits and west of Calhoun street will be reported to the city council in amended form by the committee of the whole Tuesday evening in such wise as to include a strip of land 150 feet wide on the east side of Calhoun street. The object of this is to make possible the paving of Calhoun street as far south as McKinnie avenue. The companies back of the additions have agreed to pay the entire cost of the pavement, including the cost of intersections. Councilman Rogge conferred with the board of works Tuesday and got a written statement of the board's agreement with the companies as to pavement, the bearing of the cost of putting in light wires, sewers and water mains.

FITCH TO ADDRESS COUNCIL.

Charles B. Fitch will address the city council Tuesday evening on the proposal of the Quest club that a high pressure auxiliary water system be installed in the business district to increase the city protection against fire and for the motorization of the fire department.

NEW FLOOR FOR BRIDGE.

The city and the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company have reached an agreement for jointly bearing the cost of putting a new floor in the Wells street bridge.

Clyde W. Stilwel, charged with stealign a harrow from George C. Putman, has been bound over to the circuit court under $200 bond from the court of Justice of the Peace Henry J. [illegible]

TRUUSTEES OF FEEBLE MINDED SCHOOL MEET

At the regular monthly meeting of the board of trustees of the Indiana School for Feeble Minded Youth, Tuesday, officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Anthony M. Ellering, Michigan City, president; James W. Sale, Bluffton, vice president; Mary R. Harper, Fort Wayne, secretary, and Edward M. Wilson, Fort Wayne, treasurer.

Bids for furnishing the supplies for the institution during the coming year were opened, each item being taken up separately by the board. Before adjournment the contract for the elevator to be installed in the new building will also be awarded.

COMMITTEES MEET FRIDAY.

Club Women Presenting Petitions Are to Gather at Library.

All women who have in charge petitions to have a woman appointed on the public school board of trustees are requested to meet at 10:30 o'clock on Friday morning at the public library and bring their petitions. Women have been presenting these petitions to men of the railroad shops and many other big business concerns and establishments to be signed and a long list of names of voters is expected to be gathered in at this meeting.

FURNISHES CASH BOND.

J. G. Kimberlin, the man who was arrested with Adeline Campbell in their South Hanna street home, where they had been living in unlawful cohabitation, furnished cash bond for his release from jail Tuesday afternoon, putting up $200, the amount fixed by the city court, where he was arraigned last week on a statutory charge. The federal authorities have not yet made any charges against Kimberlin under the Mann white slave act for having brought the Campbell woman into Indiana from another state and the man is free.

WILL LOWER FLAGS.

Anniversary of Lincoln's Death to Be Marked at Washington.

Washington, April 13.—The fiftieth anniversary of the death of Abraham Lincoln will be commemorated here Thursday by the lowering of all flags on public buildings to half mast. President Wilson said today this would be one of the things done by the government to pay respect to the memory of the martyred president.

IN THE CHURCHES

SEVENTY YEARS OLD TODAY.

Rt. Rev. Herman J. Alerding Celebrates Birthday Anniversary.

Rt. Rev. Herman Joseph Alerding, bishop of the diocese of Fort Wayne, is seventy years old today. While there were no special observances for the occasion, many friends among the clergy and laity extended good wishes and congratulations. The devoted prelate has been bishop of the Fort Wayne diocese for fifteen years and under his administration has become one of the leading ones in the country. His many friends entertain the earnest wish that he will continue in health and happiness for many years to come.

MURDER BUT A MINOR FAULT OF REVOLUTION

speaking. Though attempts were made to deny outrages against the sisters, they are now admitted; but the worst of this story has never been told. One hundred and fifty sisters once left Mexico City for Vera Cruz during the American occupation. The train arrived empty. They were taken off by the revolutionists on the way.

"If the United States is to be the friend and sister of Mexico, to the advantage of both, our citizens must rid themselves of a multitude of inherited prejudices and substitute a spirit of understanding for a spirit of greed. There is more to be had in Mexico than oil and mining concessions. I have no wish to condemn business enterprise, but it is poor business that depends for success from machine guns.

"Mexicans need 'good government' and we have a show of giving it to them by telling them fairly and honestly that we will help no government set up by thieves, nor any government that is not founded on the principles of equal justice to all.

"Mexico needs 'good religion.' She has the mother church of Christendom, but chained and bound by laws that were intended to kill her. Mexico's history shows that she will accept no other religion. Mexico needs 'good education.' Make every educational work free, under democratic and wise laws. See that the teacher is not penalized, his work destroyed and his endowments seized by rapacious banditti. Give help to every effort for the instruction of the masses. Would we in these United States think of confiscating the hundreds of millions of dollars invested in private educational endowments for the universities of Harvard or Yale, or Chicago or Princeton, because they are private and not state institutions; would we think of killing off the endowments, human devotion and self-sacrifice of Washington, Georgetown and Notre Dame because they are religious institutions? Then why give approval by a pleased look or a smirking silence when these same things are done in Mexico by bandits with American weapons in their hands?"

THE DEATHS

KLAFFEI.

Carl Klaffei, aged 52 years, died at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Lutheran hospital following an illness of several weeks. Two weeks ago he suffered a stroke of paralysis. He was born in Latel, Westphalia, Germany, but had resided here for many years at 1114 Ewing street.

He was a member of the Bruederlicher Unterstuetzungs verein and of the Kreis Stolzenau and was also a member of the Emmanuel Lutheran church. Besides the widow he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Glenn H. Houser.

Funeral services Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the residence, and at 2 o'clock at the Emmanuel Lutheran church, Rev. William Moll officiating. Interment at Concordia cemetery.

CHRISTI.

Mrs. Amphiel Christi died at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning at the county farm following an illness of several months due to lung trouble.

SOME HOPE TO SECURE BONDS

who was not in court yesterday, appeared at the jail last night and asked to be locked up. The jailer, however, had no commitment papers for Kintz and he was told to report to Judge Anderson today and receive his papers. Kintz said he had been ill in bed.

The bonds, in addition to the large amounts, must provide for the payment of the costs of the case, amounting to more than $12,000, and also must guarantee the payment of the fine, if the case is upheld by the higher courts.

Walsh Also Quits Appeal.

Maurice Walsh, county sealer of weights and measures, and treasurer of the democratic county committee withdrew from the appeal this afternoon and was handed his commitment papers. He was permitted to remain at his home until Sunday noon and will make the trip to Leavenworth with the four who withdrew from the appeal late yesterday, without guards.

Walsh was sentenced to serve a year and a day in the Leavenworth prison and to pay a fine of $100.

Before sentence was passed yesterday he declared in open court that he was "absolutely innocent of any wrong intentions." Judge Anderson retorted that the defendant seemed to "regard the Indiana corrupt practice act as a huge joke," and then discussed Walsh's statement of campaign receipts and expenditures, declaring that "it was as false as false could be." The withdrawal of Walsh from the appeal, leaves fifteen still seeking release on appeal bonds.

advised against the part he was taking during the last few months in the management of the paper, he refused to obey them, reminding them that it was in the building of the Star he had been happiest and that he would not be content without something to occupy his mind.

During the last month, however, Mr. Nelson had been conscious only at intervals. At each period his mind was clear, he constantly asked questions about his newspaper and the members of its staff.

Native of Fort Wayne.

William Rockhill Nelson was founder, owner and editor of the Kansas City Star. Although he did not enter the newspaper business until he was nearly forty years old, he brought to it such originality, ability and energy that he built up one of the greatest newspapers of the country.

Mr. Nelson was born in Fort Wayne, Ind., March 7, 1841. He came of two centuries of American ancestors. His maternal grandfather, William Rockhill, settled in Indiana when that state was a wilderness in 1819, and was the first farmer in America to plant a thousand acres of corn. His father, Isaac DeGroff Nelson, was identified with the upbuilding of the state and took an active hand in its political life.

William Rockhill Nelson was educated at Notre Dame university. After a short experience as a youngster in cotton growing in Georgia, just after the war, he returned to Indiana and became a general contractor. He engaged in the building of roads, pavements and bridges, and was associated in a contract for the construction of the Southern Illinois State penitentiary.

Intense admiration for the reform work of Samuel J. Tilden brought him into contact with that great democrat and when only thirty-four years old, he became Tilden's Indiana campaign manager. His interest in political leadership made him turn to newspaper work as the best way to influence men in the mass. He bought an interest in the Fort Wayne Sentinel and a business reverse determined him to devote all his time to journalism.

Goes to Kansas City.

He soon became convinced that the opportunities in Fort Wayne were too small, and after looking the field over, he decided on Kansas City as the most promising city of the country. He persuaded his Fort Wayne partner, Samuel E. Morss, to make the venture with him. They sold their Fort Wayne interests, went to Kansas City and started The Evening Star as a little, four page afternoon newspaper, on September 18, 1880. Mr. Morss withdrew from the enterprise after a few months on account of ill health, and Mr. Nelson continued as sole owner and editor [illegible]

Star urged the necessity of paving the streets, of getting a park system, of building attractive houses, of planting shrubbery and trees. Mr. Nelson himself had the trees set along the first Kansas City boulevard. He was constantly instigating movements for city betterment.

One of his achievements was the residence district, which he laid out near his home as an example of what could be done toward city beautification. He built nearly a hundred modest houses along roads which he lined with stone walls covered with honeysuckles and crimson ramblers. He was intensely interested in fine pictures and he made a collection of reproductions of European masterpieces done by the best artists who could be found, which he gave to Kansas City.

Never a Candidate.

In politics he was, as he often said, "independent but never neutral." But he would never consider any elective or appointive position. Early in President Taft's administration the suggestion was made in newspaper reports that he might be appointed ambassador to France. He commented editorially as follows: "The editor of the Star is amply occupied, sustained and satisfied with his present job. He regards himself as holding a place of greater responsibility and usefulness than any within the gift of the president, or the electorate. Not only has he never been a candidate, active or receptive, for any office, but he never has asked for the appointment of any one else."

Plan Formed in Chicago to Provide Training for Young Printers.

Chicago, April 8.—A course for printers' apprentices is being made up in the public schools of Chicago, and it is hoped to get it into operation by the first of May. Twenty-five employers have agreed to let off some 107 boys half a day a week for instruction, which will be given free. The length of the course will be five years, or as long as a boy remains an apprentice, and forty weeks each year. No reduction will be made in the boys' wages.

What a printer boy needs to know in relation to his trade will be taught by a special teacher. The course is divided into six parts. The first deals with English, including grammar, spelling, proofreading, preparing copy and the reading and study of some work of literature; the second division takes up arithmetic, including paper table, type measurement, estimating composition, manuscript, etc., and simple bookkeeping. The remainder of the course considers drawing and design, study of color, advanced technical studies in inks, paper and type, together with the processes of electrotyping, stereotyping, half tones and wood cuts, and finally a course in imposition. The cultural will not be omitted, for one division is devoted to history and civics and a history of printing studied through biographies of great printers.

The course will be given in the Harrison Technical high school. Apprentices will be divided into five classes, meeting various mornings.

CITY BREVITIES.

George and Fred Einseidel, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Einseidel, residing at 1241 Stophlet street, who were recently operated on for appendicitis, are getting along nicely.

A lecture will be given at school No. [illegible] in Wayne township, Tuesday evening by Mr. Rice, of Auburn, who will speak on "The Evils of the Day."

C. Henry, county agent, will speak on a subject of interest to gardeners at a meeting to be held at the Riverside school on Annie avenue at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening.

Fort Wayne council No. 1427, Knights and Ladies of Security, will give the [illegible] annual dance at the [illegible] Thursday evening, April 29.

The United States cruiser Maryland waiting at Cook's Inlet to try the Alaska coal that Jack Dalton (lower) dragged over the mountains from the interior coal fields for the government's test.

Seattle, Wash., April 12.—"There isn't much doubt but that the government will build its railroad from Ship's Creek at Cook's Inlet, to the Matanuska coal field," intimated Jack Dalton, first citizen of Alaska, who recently returned from Washington, D. C. Because of his knowledge of conditions in the north, his known honesty, courage and executive ability and the absolute faith which Alaskans generally have in him, he has been given charge of the transportation end of the work of the Alaska railroad commission.

This is a herculean job. But Dalton has been tackling herculean jobs all his life, and getting away with them. An active, extremely muscular man of middle age, he has had a wonderful career about which he never talks. Newspaper reporters are his pet aversion.

It was Dalton who first penetrated to the head of the White river—and now everybody knows there is copper in Alaska. He found one nugget weighing five tons. It's still there.

Dalton was one of the first men to reach the Klondike at the time of the rush, and the first to bring authentic news of the gold discovery to the outside world.

It was Dalton, who, after subduing in several battles the fierce Chilkat Indians, blazed the trail which bears his name, from Haine's mission to the head of the White river, the Sushanna district, scene of the last gold discovery.

And Dalton was the man who led the engineering party which located and surveyed the route of the Copper River and Northwestern railroad, the longest railroad in Alaska.

When the Bering coal navy test having failed, the government proposed bringing coal from the Matanuska field to tidewater at Knik for a test, Dr. Joseph Holmes, United States director of mines, was told that the task was next to impossible, but—Dalton could do it if anybody could.

And Dalton did it.

In the winter of 1913-14 he cut a sixty-mile trail from the Chikaloon river, in the Matanuska coal fields, to Knik, and dragged over it 800 tons of coal.

Before the job was finished he had to settle a question of authority with George W. Swift, government disbursing agent, who was hindering the work all he could.

Because Dalton insisted on taking the coal over the trail he was building instead of over the river ice, Swift refused to pay the men.

Dalton paid them out of his own pocket—$30,000—and later the government reimbursed him. Incidentally, he swung a hard right on Swift's jaw, putting him down for the count.

Swift was removed to another field of activity, and the rocking chair admirals at Washington thereafter pretended an enthusiasm for Alaska coal for the Pacific fleet they did not—and do not—feel.

Bear in mind that the Bering test had failed—and why.

The Bering coal was put in sacks. The sacks were rained on. Then they froze solid and had to be dynamited. Then somebody left them on the tideflat and they were soaked with salt water. And somehow a lot of slate got in with the coal.

And, of course, the coal would not burn.

Dalton told Swift: "I'm going to see to it that the salt water does not get into this coal."

The Maryland was waiting in Cook's Inlet to try the Matanuska coal. It proved far better than the West Virginia coal which the rocking chair admirals had been paying the coal barons top prices for—50 per cent. better under ordinary draft and 11 per cent. better under forced draft.

Dalton won't admit he talked with anybody in Washington.

"I'm not much of a [illegible]," he said.

Was he waiting for railroad supplies? He wasn't. He was just hanging around. He was going back to Alaska shortly. To help build the government railroad?

No; he wanted to prospect some. There wasn't much money in working for the government. Good fellows, though.

An uncommunicative man is Dalton. But there is good authority for saying that the administration at Washington turned an eager ear to his exposition of Alaska's needs and that it will be guided largely by his advice in building the railroad.

BOOTH SPEAKS TO LOCAL AUTO DEALERS

Trade in the middle west is far in advance of trade in the western states this spring, according to C. H. Booth, head of the sales department of the Chalmers Motor company, of Detroit, who was the principal speaker Monday evening at a meeting of the Fort Wayne Auto Trade association at the Commercial club. Mr. Booth spoke on the future of the automobile industry in which he predicted great things.

The following committee was appointed by President Larry Randall to call on the city officials asking that a temporary license be issued to new automobile owners who have not been able to get their new licenses: George Fox, Louis Blase and Louis Ohnhaus. Another committee will be named by Mr. Randall this week to assist in the arrangements for the Lincoln highway celebration to be held the first of May.

SPECULATION HELD WHOLLY TO BLAME

Supplies Cause for Recent Bread Riots in Spanish Cities.

Madrid, Spain, March 25.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—The increasing cost of food supplies in Spain which has resulted in a number of food riots, as reported by cable, is charged solely to speculation. In 1914 the crops were better than in previous years, with an excess of 100,000 tons of wheat over the crop of 1913, but notwithstanding this prices have mounted so high that the government has been forced to take measures to avoid monopolies, and has intimated its intention of fixing the maximum prices.

Wheat, cereals in general, potatoes, beans and other products have been exported in great quantities to France and England. Numerous French agents have bought beef and vegetables at prices above normal and Switzerland alone last month bought for its army $1,000,000 worth of food products from Spain. All this has caused a natural crisis which has been felt severely in the provinces.

The high prices, added to the fact that work in the factories is paralyzed in almost the whole of Spain, is rendering the workman's life impossible. Public works on the government's account have been begun in some provinces but nevertheless it has not been possible to eliminate the existing bad state of affairs. The trouble has reached its greatest intensity in the south. Early this month disorders broke out in Murcia, where groups of workmen paraded the streets demanding bread and work. In Cadiz, Laragoza, Lucena, Badajoz, Logrono and Segocia similar disturbances took place. In Albacete the crowds protested to the civil government and the governor ordered them to be fired upon. One person was killed and several wounded as a result.

In Japan private individuals own only the surface of the land and its products, all mineral deposits beneath the surface being the property of the government.

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.—Adv.

EFFICIENCY MUST RULE, SAYS FIRST WOMAN CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSIONER—SPOILS SYSTEM TO GO.

Los Angeles, April 13.—Mrs. David C. McCan is the first feminine head of a civil service commission in the United States!

She is the president of the Los Angeles organization.

This gifted woman whose name stands high in circles where ability and achievement count, is also the first woman to become a member of a civil service commission. To date, there is but one other—a member of the Cook county (Ill.) commission.

A fastidious dresser and an accomplished conversationalist, Mrs. McCan is an excellent example of what feminine brain is capable of, when matched against the problems of civic, social and economic problems of the day.

Pointing her silk-slippered toe towards the slumbering red coals in an open grate in her own pretty drawing room, Mrs. McCan talked pleasantly of the work she has recently undertaken.

"The civil service idea is here to stay," she said. "Let no old-fashioned champion of the spoils system imagine the halycon days will ever return. The idea is growing, spreading, taking in more classes of public employes all the time.

"The day will come when the postmasters will be under civil service commission, and appointments will be made for efficiency, not for political reward.

"Women almost invariably, I believe, no matter how partisan they may be, are champions of the civil service idea. They revolt, fundamentally, at the thought of betrayal of public interest for the sake of rewarding, with office, the man who has given political service to a party or faction. They view public affairs with more conscience, on the average, than men.

"Had women had suffrage, they would have demanded the test of efficiency and service long before it was established by men."

Before being elected president, Mrs. McCan served out the unexpired term of the preceding president, a man, who had been obliged to give up active work.

"I have had some queer experiences in this capacity," laughed this golden-haired woman who looks more like a society queen than a promoter of political and civic betterment. "One day I was called upon to try and force a councilman to attend one of our meetings. When he refused, my commission tied up his salary."

Mrs. McCan is well known in club circles and among all workers who are advocating progress in the state of California. She has been an officer of the Political Equality league and counts among her treasured memories the work she was able to do to aid in winning suffrage for California women.

During her term of office as president of the civil service commission of Los Angeles, she proposes to enforce the law and to assure efficiency in all offices where civil service obtains. Any attempt to limit the appropriations made for the working of her organization, she says, she can thwart through the influence and interest of the women of her city.

It was Mrs. McCan's invitation given at Pueblo which will bring the next convention of the National Civil Service association to Los Angeles this summer.

MRS. DAVID C. M'CAN.

No Woman Can Maintain Social Position on That, One Says.

New York, April 12.—"For five long, weary years I have been fighting to protect my own and my son's rights, and now that I have at last been given permission to demand for my boy the things he should have had during all these years, I am too tired to enjoy my victory. How my husband must hate me to be willing to spend twice the amount of money in litigation rather than make us a suitable allowance."

This is what Mrs. Rachelle N. Ducas, wife of Benjamin P. Ducas, president of the Ducas Chemical Manufacturing company, said a few hours before she had learned that Supreme Court Justice Blanchard had abrogated the separation agreement she entered into December 3, 1906, under which she received only $6,000 a year from her wealthy husband. Of this, $2,000 was to cover the expenses of her son Robert.

Mrs. Ducas has contended for years that she entered into this agreement under duress and upon the representation that her husband's income was $20,000, whereas she afterward learned it was between $50,000 and $60,000.

"As for myself," she continued, "I have long since given up all idea of trying to entertain or to go to the opera or concerts on the small allowance my husband has given me. It is simply impossible in these days for a woman to keep up any sort of a social position on $4,000, or even $6,000 a year.

"All Mr. Ducas thinks of is making money. I cannot help feeling sorry for him when I think how little he really gets out of life. He has no recreation. He just works and saves, and works some more.

"The American man thinks too much about money and too little about the bigger and finer things of life. They call their wives extravagant when they spend a fifth of their husbands' incomes, but they do not hesitate to spend any amount they desire."

Mrs. W. P. Fields was a visitor at Fort Wayne Monday, where she spent the day the guest of friends.

Mrs. John Hughes, of Emmett, Ohio, was an Antwerp visitor Monday, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Longberry.

Mrs. Harry Daniels was a passenger to Fort Wayne Monday, where she was the guest of her brother, Claud Jacobs and family for the day.

TAKING CARE OF THE CHILDREN.

No parent would consciously be careless of the children. Joe A. Rozmarin, Clarkson, Nebr., uses Foley's Honey and Tar for his two children for croup, coughs and colds. He says: "We are never without Foley's Honey and Tar in the house." A distressing cough, sleepless nights, and raw, inflamed throat lead to a run-down condition in which the child is not able to resist contagious or infectious diseases. Foley's Honey and Tar is truly healing and prompt in action. It relieves coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

REPORT ON LABOR BUREAU.

Shows 1,245 Persons Were Helped to Jobs by Government.

Washington, April 13.—First reports on the operation of the federal employment bureau started recently by the department of labor, in co-operation with the agricultural and postoffice departments, show that during the months of February and March, 1,245 persons obtained work through the government agents.

In view of the fact that the work of the bureau has not yet been completely systematized on the national basis intended, the results so far are regarded most satisfactory to the officers in charge.

Reports from field agents engaged in employment work are reaching the department of labor daily from every section of the county. A summary of these just announced shows that 327 persons were directed to employment in February and 916 in March.

PROCESSION WOULD BE 625 MILES LONG

If All the War Prisoners Captured by Germans Were in Line.

Berlin, March 25.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—To visualize the number of Russian prisoners and guns taken by von Hindenburg in the so-called "Winter's Battle" to the east of the Masurian lakes, one of the German papers has figured out what a great procession they would make.

If the 104,000 prisoners, the 300 pieces of artillery, and the 2,000 wagons, it says, were to form a procession with four men abreast, with the artillery and wagons in usual marching order, they would reach 112 miles in length. It would require thirty hours for such a procession to pass a given point. In the same way it is figured that all the prisoners of war now held by Germany—a total of 780,000 men—would make a procession 625 miles long.

Foreigners who come to Berlin now are astonished to find how much new construction, notwithstanding the war, is going on in and under the streets. The municipality is building a subway under the principal north-and-south street of the city, and in carrying out this scheme it has just torn away the chief bridge over the Spree. It is also putting a four-track tunnel under the famous street, Unter den Linden, so that it shall no longer be impaired in appearance by the sight of street cars crossing it. Further to the east another subway is in course of construction through very crowded business sections; one of the two great electrical companies is building it. It will connect suburbs in the north and northeast with those in the southeast.

Another important improvement has been undertaken by the Prussian railway authorities—the enlargement of the Friedrich-strasse station, the principal railway station in the heart of the city. Here the enormous arched roof has been torn away in order to double the size of the building. The city of Berlin is engaged in other work besides those mentioned above. It is excavating a great harbor for canal barges on the western side of the city, after having opened a new one to the east of the city only about a year ago. It is also building a wholesale market hall, a school of industrial art, besides about a half-dozen other schools.

PROFITABLE.

"Did you make any money out of that land development stock you bought?"

"Not yet, but it looks good. I found out so much about the company that they took me into the firm."—Philadelphia Ledger.

ANSWERED.

"Well," sneered her husband, "suppose you get the ballot. What will be the first thing you do?"

"Order a voting costume of course!" was her triumphant retort.—Puck.

"Have you tried your young husband?" replied the Answers Editor, who lost his position just a few hours after the reply appeared.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Your Grandmother's Remedy for Purifying the Blood

And Renovating the System in the Springtime

Ask for Sulpherb Tablets.

What was grandmother's unexcelled remedy? Haven't you heard of it? Yes, you have! It was sulphur, cream of tartar and molasses. The main trouble with it was it was its nauseous taste.

The modern method puts the cream of tartar and sulphur into a sugar-coated tablet and mixes them with herbs, roots, etc., making a wonderful tonic blood purifier and system cleanser.

Just try Sulpherb Tablets (not sulphur tablets), but Sulpherb—remember the name—and get the tablets in sealed tubes at 50c per tube.

Grown-up people and children who don't feel well, who are constipated or sluggish, or who have pimples, boils, carbuncles, ulcers and the like, can soon rid the system of these impurities by taking this good old-fashioned remedy in modern form. Their action satisfies or money is refunded by the Prescription Products Company, Dayton, Ohio. A free trial sent to any address. Buy of any well stocked druggist.

WASHINGTON BELLE WILL BE BRIDE IN JUNE.

Another name has been added to the already long list of Washington Belles who will be brides in June. Miss Madge Pickett Stokes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvanus Stokes, has announced her engagement to R. King Stone, also of Washington.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to flush Kidneys if Back hurts or Bladder bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Lapland Children Are the Guests of Noted Correspondent in Far North on Way to Russia to Write of Czar's Dominion.

(By Mary Boyle O'Reilly.)

Karnngi, Sweden, April 8.—This tiny hamlet in the far north of Sweden is Russia's only door to the western world. It is the most important point along the war route to Russia for by using Karnngi to get freight and mails in and out of the Russian empire the czar has outwitted Berlin.

I spent four hours here waiting while the sledge drawn by reindeer from Lapland, which was to whirl me to Tornea and the Russian railroad some thirty miles away, was being loaded.

My hostess was a kindly faced Laplander and her home but a tiny little hut, banked with snow. Inside the huge stove took up most of the floor space. But it was a home and children were playing about in it.

Let me tell you in this story of the adventure these children and I had.

The house mother poured tea for us with hands trembling with uncontrollable excitement.

"Barina, we are Lapps from the northland. Never until this war did we come south to the Swedish frontier. Far, far off in Europe men fight. We do not know why they die. But this we know. Karnngi is a new world for the children! Those little ones, Barina," her sad eyes glowed with a passion of motherhood which has no nationality.

"Never did we think to have such children! The things we have seen since we left Lapland! All is so strange to us, but it seems quite natural to the children!

"They see more in one day than we ever heard in a winter. Think of it, highborn, already they talk Swedish. Swedish! Ah, how we laugh!

"Every day the father has two rouble ($1.00) for the sledge, with hay and moss for the deer. Winters before this he slept like a bear in the ingloo. Now he is a man among men.

"All day the father sledges mails for Russia. Every week he puts the government roubles into my hand. God be with the czar. Since the ukase the richest prince cannot buy vodka.

"Today is our Pekka's nimipaiva (nameday). This birch bough is his luck tree. Next year perhaps it will be taller."

Her glance toward the delicate child confessed that long anxiety had become heartaching certainty.

"Pekka, how old are you?"

"Nine, highborn."

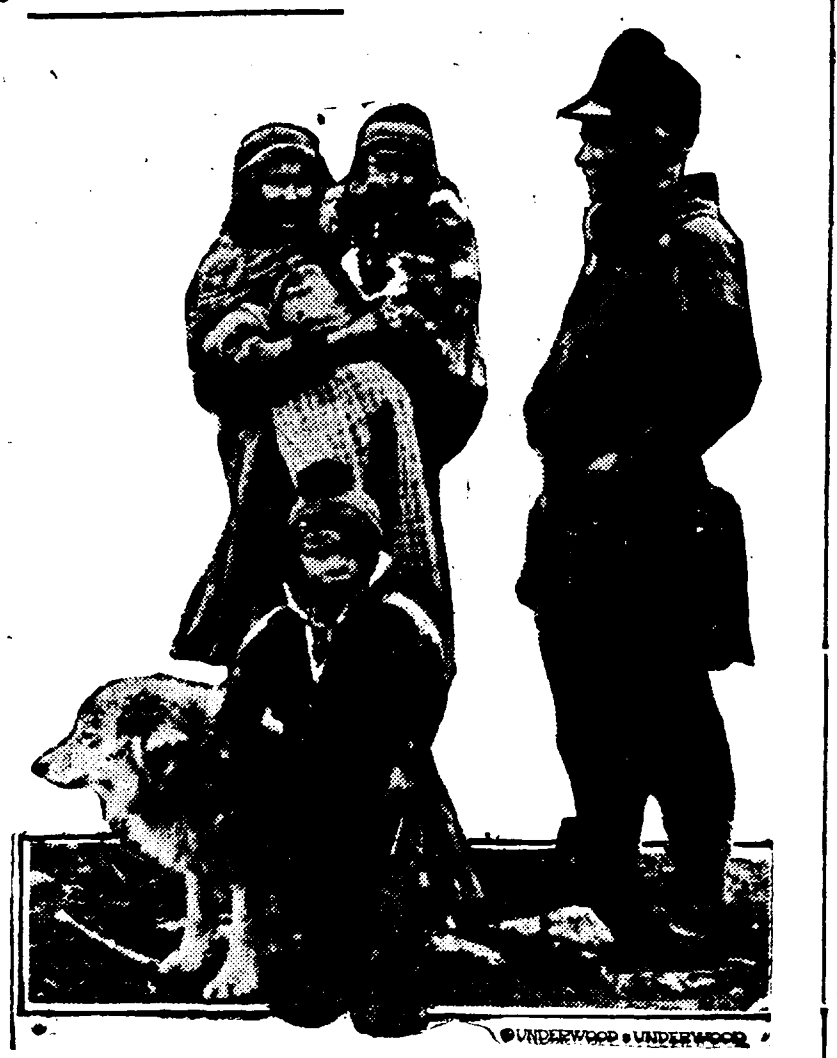
"Tell the Barina what you saw last week," prodded his mother.

"I saw, I saw," the little lad learned forward to whisper. "I went into the teaatheri here in Karnngi!"

"It is a theater," explained his mother, "the sledge drivers having no vodka drink tea in the kinema."

"Let us go to the kinema, Pekka. Call all the children to celebrate your nameday! I will give a party for you," I said.

No Finn ever hurried himself for anything or anybody, but the children of Karnngi scampered. Fresh from the bath, shining with a cleanliness, more southern folk seldom reach, fifty hardy, fur-wrapped youngsters lined up squeaking excitement.



A FAMILY OF LAPLANDERS.

It was children like those shown in the photograph above that the correspendent took to a moving picture theater in Karnngi, Sweden, a tiny town almost in the Arctic circle.

Calm faced, though his arm trembled with excitement, Pekka Makkonem of Karnngi marshalled his name-day party. Outside the snow was drifting like a storm. Within the kinema the heat was intense. Then the moving pictures began.

Muffled, but terribly near, a blizzard howled through the frontier forest. In the theater's hot dark a grinning native in Panama hat and loin cloth slashed gigantic fans from a towering palm. Fifty northland youngsters laughed quick appreciation.

A dozen eager voices demanded to know where in all Russia men were so very warm.

Buz-z. Onto the screen flashed the interior of a Lapland home. Then a mother, quite like anybody's mother, bathing a Lapp child's inflamed eyes.

Cries from the absorbed woman entreated, commanded. "Slowly, more slowly."

The film stopped, commenced again, moving so slowly that all could follow the doll-like motions of the nurse's hands.

One determined mother seized her astonished offspring in the dark and proceeded to experiment. As the filmed mother unconsciously touched hair or apron the mother in the audience consciously did likewise. Followed lines of Russian print.

"The words are to tell us something," whispered Pekka's mother wistfully, "but we cannot spell them. For me, I have learned a new thing in the theater. Tomorrow, quick, I will spend one rouble. It will buy a book. Our children must learn to read."

Behind the scenes someone was drumming a marching air. To the staccato rythm brigades of horse, foot and artillery passed to a battle line. The children watched in puzzled silence.

"Too bad, too bad," whispered Pekka's grave little mother. "But perhaps the children will not understand. We want our little ones to learn only good things of this new world."

That was the end.

The smiling mother spread her arms in a gesture which embraced the western world.

"Never, never did any child in Karnngi have such a name-day party. Pekka and the other children never will forget. It is so ordained."

Are Passing Rapidly.

Slowly but surely the Laplanders, as a race, are dying out and soon the pigmy nation of the north will have dropped out of sight forever.

Of late years, because of the increased privations and poverty of their existence, the Lapps have dropped off at a great rate. This is due, perhaps, more than anything else, to the fact that, as they have been driven further and further to the north, their herds of reindeer have diminished from lack of forage. It is upon these deer that the Lapps depend, to a great extent, for food and drink.

OSSIAN NEWS.

Ossian, Ind., April 13.—Mrs. Fred Mills entertained for Sunday dinner the following friends and relatives: Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Karns and Rufus Karns, of Fort Wayne, also Mrs. C. C. Sixby, Mrs. James P. Deam, Mrs. Jennie Boyd and children, Margaret, Herbert, Ruth and Martha, of Bluffton.

Mrs. L. L. Allen was in Bluffton Monday attending the funeral of her uncle, John Hower.

Mrs. E. H. Justus has returned home from a week's visit in the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Gorrell, of Delphos, O.

The Philathea Girls were very pleasantly entertained at the home of Miss Ida Kreigh. Miss Marjory Bradley, a landscape gardner, of Fort Wayne, was a guest of the young ladies. She gave an address and conducted a round table on "Beautifying Our Town." A social hour followed and the hostess served refreshments. Those who attended were Misses Eleanor and Pearl King, Gertrude Jackson, Areta Deam, Yetive Clark, Beth Chalfant, Helen and Mary Roe, Irma Wessler, Augusta Yager, Augusta Fatscher, May Weaver, May Morton, also Mesdames F. K. Baker, A. F. Roe, Ellis Woodward, Meredith Aldred and Misses Laura Kreigh and Violet Hursh, from Fort Wayne as guests.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rupright had as Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Rupright, of Tocsin, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Rupright, of Burdett, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beaty and son, William, also Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Rupright and son, Fritz, of Kingsland.

Miss Lizzie Johnston has returned home from a several days' visit in Montpelier with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Johnston.

Mrs. Felix Summers will be hostess for the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid society on Thursday afternoon.

Miss May Landsdown, of Fort Wayne, who is superintendent of the Juniors in the Fort Wayne district, was a Sunday guest of Miss Augusta Fatscher and gave a very interesting talk Sunday afternoon to the Juniors of the Presbyterian church.

Miss Eleanor King left today for Indianapolis as a delegate from the local Philatheas to attend the state convention of that organization.

The Whileaway club enjoyed a most delightful day and basket picnic dinner at the home of Mrs. Charles Deam. The ladies met at Sorgen's store and were taken at 10 a. m. to the Deam home in autos by Mr. Clem Sorgen and Mr. Will Hoopengardner. The club's new programs for 1915 and 1916 were ready for distribution at this meeting. Mrs. Meredith Aldred was chosen as the twentieth member of this new club, this being the limit of membership. The ladies returned home at 5 p. m. voting Mrs. Deam an ideal hostess. GOOD NEWS

Many Fort Wayne Readers Have Heard It and Profited Thereby.

"Good news travels fast," and the bad back sufferers in Fort Wayne are glad to learn where relief may be found. Many a lame, weak and aching back is bad no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with this tested remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

Mrs. Mary Gerdes, 1512 St. Mary's avenue, Fort Wayne, says: "I suffered for years from kidney complaint and got so bad that I could hardly do my housework. My back ached and I felt weak. When someone advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Meyer Bros. Co.'s drug store. They were just what I needed and before long I was enjoying good health. I haven't needed any more kidney medicine for some years. I am glad to confirm the endorsement I have given Doan's Kidney Pills before."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Gerdes had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

GERMAN EMBASSY MAKES A REQUEST

Washington, April 13.—The German embassy today transmitted to the state department a formal request of Captain Thierfelder, of the auxiliary cruiser Kron Prinz Wilhelm, for permission to have his vessel examined to see what repairs were necessary to render her seaworthy and also for permission to have those repairs made.

The request is similar to that submitted recently in the case of the Prinz Eitel Friederich, when that vessel put into Newport News. Captain Boy-Ed, naval attache of the German embassy, reached Washington early today after a conference with Captain Thierfelder. He probably will not find it necessary, it was understood, to return to Newport News for further conferences, but will leave it to the skipper to arrange details with the American naval officers as to the time required to repair.

MAKES 61 FEEL LIKE 16.

"I suffered with kidney ailment for two years," writes Mrs. M. A. Bridges, Robinson, Miss., "and commenced taking Foley Kidney Pills about ten months ago. I am now able to do all my work without fatigue. I am now 61 years of age and feel like a 16-year-old girl." Foley Kidney Pills strengthen and invigorate weak, tired and deranged kidneys; relieve backache, weak back, rheumatism and bladder trouble. They are tonic in action. Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

MAY MOVE COUNTY SEAT.

Chrisney Files Petition With Names of 2,117 Voters.

Boonville, Ind., April 13.—The county seat controversy of Spencer county grew more acute with the presentation by Chrisney supporters of a petition to remove the Rockport court house to Chrisney. The petition was filed in the auditor's office and bore the names of 2,117 Spencer county voters. The Chrisney advocates declare this is more than 40 per cent. necessary to bring it to an election.

The petition will be presented to the county commissioners the first Monday in May. If they are satisfied that the petition fulfills all of the legal requirements the governor will be asked to appoint three appraisers not living in the county, who will estimate the value of the Rockport court house. If it is less than $20,000 an election may be called on moving the county seat of Spencer county to Chrisney.

THE MARKETS

HOG PRICES ARE UP TO $6.85 A HUNDRED

Packers and local live stock buyers marked up their paying price on hogs to $6.80 per hundredweight Tuesday morning. The live stock market has been very quiet for the past few weeks but it is expected to make a brace and as a result prices will go up.

The city scalemaster experienced a busy spring day. Weather conditions permitted the farmers to bring their produce to the markets. Thirty-five loads of hay which brought from $14 to $16 a ton, were weighed. Twelve loads of corn tipped the scales and prices ranged from 75c to 80c. The four loads of oats brought the owners from 55c to 57c a bushel.

Nice big red juick strawberries grown in Louisiana arrived on the markets Tuesday to take the place of those grown in Florida, which have been supplying the market. The strawberry proposition each year works systematically from south to north. First are the Florida berries, next the Louisiana, then those from Tennessee and then a few weeks later home grown, which are usually the best in quality as well as in price.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, April 13.—Decreasing of stocks in Europe tended to strengthen the wheat market here. Reports of widespread benefit from recent rains in the winter crop belt led to a setback, but the effect on prices failed to last. After opening ⅝c to ⅝c higher, the market underwent a material sag but then again advanced.

Corn developed firmness with wheat. The opening, which ranged from ¼c to ⅜c higher, was followed by a slight reaction.

Favorable weather for seeding and growth had a bearish influence on oats.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, April 13.—Establishment of another record by Bethlehem Steel, which rose to 127, two points above its previous high record price, was the noteworthy feature of today's early market. This gain was soon lost, however, and the movement elsewhere was again indicative of selling for profit and renewal of professional operations for the decline. Rock Island rose over a point in recognition of the new interest in the board but soon registered a material loss. Numerous specialties, including equipments and industrials, rose one to two points. Trading was active, with reactionary tendencies before the end of the first half hour.

Bethlehem Steel held first place throughout the first hour, advancing 15½ points to 139½. In the second hour it rose to 142, an overnight gain of eighteen points. Contrary to recent days, the balance of the market was not adversely affected by the movement in Bethlehem Steel but gathered greater strength especially in U. S. Steel Amalgamated and other leaders, where gains of one to two points were made. Peace rumors which had their origin in official quarters at Washington, were used as a basis for the revival of activity. Bonds were steady.

FRUIT IMPORTS ARE SLOWLY INCREASING

Export of American Apples Noteworthy, Says Government Report.

Washington, D. C., April 13.—According to official figures compiled by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, department of commerce, imports of lemons have increased about 50 per cent., figs about 60 per cent., cocoanuts have quintupled, and bananas, walnuts and almonds have doubled in import value during the period under review. Meantime, Hawaiian pineapples, mainly canned, of which the imports were not sufficiently large in 1904 to now being shipped into the United States at the rate of $6,000,000 worth per annum, last year's total being two and one-half times as much as in 1911, while imports from Singapore, which at one time reached several thousand dollars annually, have now nearly ceased.

About half of our imported bananas, aggregating 47,000,000 bunches last year, were from the Central American states, about one-third were from the British West Indies and the remainder chiefly from Cuba and South America. In normal years France supplies about three-fourths of our imported walnuts, but in 1914 her share was only 13,000,000 pounds out of 30,000,000 pounds imported. Italy, Turkey in Asia, Chile and China rank next as sources of imported walnuts. Greece continues to be the great source of our currants imported from foreign countries, having sent to our ports practically 32,000,000 pounds last year, as against 300,000 pounds from the rest of the world. Asiatic Turkey furnished American markets with nearly 30,000,000 pounds of dates, while 2,250,000 pounds came direct from other Asiatic countries and 2,500,000 via English ports.

THE WEATHER

OFFICIAL FORECASTS.

For Fort Wayne and vicinity: Fair and slightly warmer tonight, with frost; Wednesday fair and warmer. Lowest temperature tonight about freezing.

For Indiana: Fair tonight and Wednesday; rising temperature; frost tonight.

For Ohio: Fair tonight and Wednesday, with temperature near freezing tonight; rising temperature Wednesday.

For Lower Michigan: Fair tonight and Wednesday, rising temperature.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Since yesterday morning light rains have occurred over the north and middle Pacific coast states and from the upper Ohio valley and the eastern lake region to New England and the middle Atlantic coast. Fair weather has been general over the rest of the country.

An extensive high pressure area central over eastern Michigan this morning has given continued cold weather over the lake region [illegible] Ill., and Evansville and freezing temperatures as far south as central Indiana. A low pressure area approaching from the British northwest is giving warmer weather over the states west of the Mississippi.

In this section conditions favor fair weather with frost tonight. Wednesday will be fair and warmer.

Why Klee-Nu
The Wonder Cleaning Fluid
In Place of Gasoline?

Because it is a scientifically compounded transparent liquid cleaner. It can be used near flame or fire without danger. Just saturate a cloth and rub the spot or surface to be cleaned. Cleans like magic without injury to the most delicate fabric.

What Klee-Nu Does

Removes spots and cleans silks, woolens, scarfs, neckwear, coat collars, white kid gloves, ribbons, cloth and felt hats, cloth top shoes, in fact all wearing apparel and fabrics about the house. It cleans with speed, convenience and ease, and at a cost much lower than having the entire garment cleaned for one small spot. Klee Nu is free from acid. It leaves no ring or odor.

Money Back

If Klee Nu fails to remove grease and oil spots from any fabric. How's that, motorists?

New York Police Now Charged With Making Bomb-Hurlers Out of Boys

Methods in Gotham Are Likened by Friends of Accused Lads to Methods Long in Vogue in "Darkest Russia."

(By Kenneth W. Payne.)

New York, April 13.—"Hand-made anarchists! Bomb hurlers supplied to order! Apply New York police force!"

Or did these two Italian youths actually scheme of their own free will to blow up New York's famous cathedral—St. Patrick's—and inaugurate a reign of terror which, according to the police imagination, would have made the bomb scarred streets of Manhattan run red with blood?

There isn't a radical, an anarchist, a revolutionary in the city who doesn't assert the "anarchist trial" is a frame-up!

There isn't a police official who doesn't deny the charge savagely!

The police spy, Amedeo Polignani, who mingled with the anarchists and claims he "got the goods on them," has told at the trial a story diametrically opposite to that told by the two Italians and their witnesses.

The court was crowded when he first appeared. Leading anarchists and revolutionaries being present, among them Carlos Tresca, the I. W. W. leader, Louise Berger and Pietro Allegro, famous anarchists, who raised funds to back the accused. At every appearance the spy has been hissed and made the object of hateful glares.

On the stand he has told how he had insinuated himself into the New York anarchist circles, and how, dogging the steps of his new "friends," Carmine Carbone and Frank Abarno, he had heard them talk of using bombs to attain their ends. He said he joined in the plot, which he claims, they originated, to destroy St. Patrick's cathedral, and that he met Abarno there. He declared that Abarno lighted the fuse of his bomb with a cigar, and concealed it under his coat when he entered the church.

But then Abarno, called for the defense, has told a wholly different story.

He declares that the detective sought his company, continually dinned incendiary doctrines into his ears, and finally suggested that they make some bombs with which to blow up shops and wealthy residences.

"When he asked me to make bombs," said Abarno, "I told him it was terrible. I did not think the anarchist theory depended on violence. But he threatened me and called me a coward, and said if I disappointed him he would cut me up. He showed me a knife."

Carbone, the other defendant, had previously asserted he was forced by threats and blows to purchase the material for the bombs.

"One block from the church," Abarno continued, completing his story, "I said I was not going in, and the police spy said, 'You had [illegible] [illegible] would go in and [illegible] I [illegible] and just rested, and walked back to Polignani and said there were too many to be sacrificed. While standing there I was grabbed by the detectives. Polignani said, 'Why didn't you light that bomb?' I didn't light it. If they accuse me of that they tell lies!"

Many witnesses backed up the assertions of the two boys. Ten persons testified that they had frequented the anarchist circles, had often heard Polignani and his alleged victims talking, and that the spy was the only one who had ever suggested violence.

MAKES REQUEST FOR ANOTHER AUTO TRUCK

Postmaster Robert B. Hanna has taken up with the postoffice department at Washington, D. C., the necessity for additional automobile service for the delivery of parcel post mail in Fort Wayne and for making night collections from the various sub-stations in the city. One big truck is now in use, but the postmaster is of the opinion that with a smaller truck the service would be greatly improved.

Postmaster Hanna has also taken up with the department the establishment of two more sub-stations, one at the drug store of William H. Spiegel at St. Joe boulevard and Columbia avenue, and the other at the drug store of William H. Rupp on State street, east of the Indiana School for Feeble-Minded Youth. With the establishment of these two new sub-stations there will be eighteen sub-stations in Fort Wayne.

Today's War News Given in Summary.

The effort of the allies to drive back the German wedge in the Meuse-Moselle region continues unremittingly but the official communications from Both Paris and Berlin indicate that the German lines are holding.

The Berlin announcement speaks of a number of French infantry attacks with strong forces, which are said to have been repelled. Small gains are claimed for the Germans in the forest of Le Pretre. The French war office refers only briefly to this fighting, saying that at several points the attackers made their way to the wire entanglements of the Germans.

Elsewhere over the western front there was a lull yesterday. German aviators dropped bombs on three towns occupied by the British.

A French battleship with the aid of seaplanes attacked a Turkish concentration camp in the vicinity of Gaza, in southern Palestine near the Egyptian border. This camp probably was established in connection with the advance of the Turkish troops to the Suez canal. The statement of the French ministry of marine announcing the attack gives no information as to the result.

Washington, April 13.—An official war office bulletin from Vienna received by the Austro-Hungarian embassy here today said the Russian offensive in the Carpathians had been brought to a standstill and that counter attacks had broken the Russian line in several places.

BREAKS IN NEW QUARTER.

French Attack Turkish Encampment in Southern Palestine.

The bombardment of Gaza marks the development of hostilities in a new quarter. Gaza is in southern Palestine, near the Egyptian frontier. The city lies two miles inland from the Mediterranean and 48 miles southwest of Jerusalem. The Turkish encampment near this city may have been established in connection with the advance of Turkish troops across the Sinai peninsula to the Suez canal.

GERMAN LINES HOLDING.

Berlin Declares That French Attacks are All Repulsed.

Berlin, April 13.—(By Wireless to Sayville)—The German war office has given out a report on the progress of hostilities which reads: "The French yesterday attacked near Berry-au-Bac, and between the Meuse and the Moselle, near Maicey, which is east of Verdun; near Marcheville, which is southeast of Maicey; on the front between Maicey and Marcheville, and south of Hartmans-Weilerkopf. Everywhere they were repulsed.

"The French are reported to have thrown 150 bombs upon the station and the foundry at Bruges according to their own announcement. In reality nine bombs fell in the eastern suburb of Bruges and two near Bruges itself, without doing any damage.

"German troops have thrown large quantities of bombs into Poperinghe, Pazebrouk and Kosel, towns occupied by British troops.

"At a point northeast of Suitpes, the enemy again has made use of projectiles developing an asphyxiating gas.

"There has been fighting day and night in the forest of Le Petre in which the Germans slowly gained ground.

"There has been no change in the eastern front."

FRENCH VERY CONFIDENT.

London, April 13.—Field Marshal Sir John French's message to his countrymen at home that "I know when the time comes for us to make our great move we can break through the Germans," and the British eye-witness statement of yesterday that there are plain signs of the "gradual weakening of the German resistance," are accepted here as an intimation that the present steady pressure in western front will shortly develop into events of vaster scope. It is thus expected that the next three months will be especially memorable in this epoch making war.

Reports of a battle in the North sea, which have come from so many different sources apparently are mythical.

BROWNSVILLE IS SAFE FROM SHELLS

Direction of Fire Brings Distinct Relief to Texas City.

Brownsville, Texas, April 13.—The long expected bombardment of Matamoros, Mexico, by Villa artillery began today and the direction of fire and its comparative accuracy brought distinct relief from fears for the safety of Brownsville.

One three-inch field piece opened the bombardment and later a second gun joined in. About two dozen shells were fired up to noon. The cannon were hidden in the bushes about a mile and a half from the trenches west of Matamoros. The first fussilade went too high, some of them passing completely over Matamoros before exploding, while four of them exploded close to Matamoros roof tops without, however, damaging the city. One shell exploded near the American consulate.

Brownsville Seems Safe.

The direction of the fire was such that, no matter how far the cannon overshot the shells would not carry into Brownsville. After a few minutes the Villa artillerymen got the range, dropping several shells near the trenches.

The cause of the cannonading was a sortie of about 1,500 Carranza cavalrymen and infantry who early in the forenoon poured over the twelve foot embankment of the western entrenchments and started toward Las Rucias, the headquarters of Gen. Jose Rodriguez, commander of the Villa forces, four miles distant.

Censorship is On.

The Mexican end of the International bridge was closed and a tight censorship put on Matamoros. Apparently, however, the sortie was aimed at capturing some of the Villa cannon in the woods about half a mile west of the trenches. There was heavy firing in these woods. Outside of Brownsville to the west on the American side bullets fell so frequently that several Mexican families in that section abandoned their homes.

The rifle battle in the woods continued hot until an hour after the sortie when the Villa field pieces opened fire. Then, from the International bridge the Carranza forces were seen returning toward their trenches. Their retreat was leisurely. A dozen riderless horses were observed, also three or four wounded carried on horses. The rear guard, however, brought no wounded and its actions indicated the Villa cavalry were not pressing it closely.

MAKES LIBERAL DONATION.

In Memory of Mrs. Laura Finan, Whose Body Was Buried Here.

In memory of Mrs. Laura Finan, who died at her home in Chicago last week and whose funeral services were held here Friday, Mrs. Joseph M. Wilson, 5854 Michigan avenue, Chicago, has made a liberal donation to Resthaven, a home for convalescents at Chicago. Resthaven is a Jewish institution and is supported by subscriptions by members. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Finan were close friends.

FLORISTS MEET AT MUNCIE.

State President W. J. Vesey Speaks on "Orchids."

Muncie, Ind., April 13.—The Indiana State Florists' association held its annual convention here today. About 125 florists were present, coming from all parts of Indiana. W. J. Vesey, of Fort Wayne, president of the association, was to speak on "Orchids," while "Roses" was the subject of an address by E. G. Hill, of Richmond.

NO PEACE TERMS ARE GIVEN WILSON

President Says He Regrets That Such Rumors Are Without Basis.

Washington, April 13.—Commenting on a public statement of Pope Benedict that the latter had indicated a desire to support any move the United States migh make for peace, President Wilson declared today that intimations of this character had been frequently conveyed to him through different persons. He said, however, no formal communication had come to him on the subject.

Asked whether the United States recently had learned officially or unofficially of the terms upon which the belligerents might be ready to make peace, the president said regretfully there had been no basis whatever so far as he knew for the rumors to that effect.

While the United States government was not consulted in connection with the peace gathering at the Hague, the president indicated today that the international Women's Peace conference had his sympathetic support. Although the meeting had no official status, Mr. Wilson said he understood the delegates had not asked for official authority because they preferred to act unofficially.

DEMONSTRATOR HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

As the result of a collision with a street car at the point where St. Joe boulevard runs into Columbia avenue, on the east side of the Columbia street bridge, about noon Tuesday J. J. McConnell, demonstrator for the Motors Sales corporation, was painfully injured and the new Maxwell automobile which he was driving was badly damaged.

McConnel was coming up St. Joe boulevard when he ran directly in front of a west bound street car coming from the east on Columbia avenu.e He was thrown from the car and the machine was hurled to one side of the street. McConnell moved to Fort Wayne but a few weeks ago.

LAST MEETING OF SEASON.

Quest Club to Banquet at the Anthony Hotel Thursday Evening.

Final arrangements were made Monday night at a meeting of the board of governors for the last meeting and banquet of the season to be given by the Quest club, at the Anthony hotel Thursday evening.

The banquet will start at 6:30 o'clock, after which a business session will be held. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected. The nature of the entertainment is being kept a profound secret.

George H. VanArnam, president of the club, who has been on a western trip, and C. J. Schoo, secretary, who has been in New York, have both returned to Fort Wayne and will be in attendance at the final meeting Thursday evening.

SOME HOPE TO SECURE BONDS

But Donn Roberts and Fifteen Others Were Still in Jail at Noon.

MANY STARTING TO SERVE SENTENCES

Appeal Bonds Must Provide for Costs and Payment of Heavy Fines.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 13.—Mayor Donn M. Roberts and fifteen others who had appealed from their sentences to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, given them yesterday by Judge Anderson, following their conviction in the Terre Haute election fraud case, were still in the Marion county jail at noon today. Some of them, however, hoped to obtain bonds late today, so that they would not have to spend another night in jail.

With two exceptions, all of those who received sentences to the Marion county jail had begun serving their time today. John W. Clark was still under a smallpox quarantine at Taylorville, across the river from Terre Haute and Guy Powell is in the United States army. George Kintz, the third man

Funeral Arrangements for Col. W. R. Nelson Are Being Made.

Noted Newspaper Man Was a Former Owner of The Sentinel.

Kansas City, Mo., April 13.—Funeral arrangements for William Rockhill Nelson, editor of the Star, who died this morning, were being completed by the family today.

Mr. Nelson, who was 74 years old, had been unconscious since Thursday last. Death was due to uraemic poisoning.

Mr. Nelson's last conference with his associates took place in his bed room the day before he became unconscious. It pertained to the necessity of keeping up the fight for honest elections.

"That is fundamental for democratic government," he said. "I may not be here to see the fight won. But the Star will fight on with all its resources until the present rotten system is broken down."

Was Ready for the End.

As Mr. Nelson became weaker it was necessary to resort to artificial means to prolong his life. He objected vigorously. Last Thursday, a few hours before he became unconscious, he protested to his physicians against keeping him alive artificially. Thursday afternoon he sank into a coma from which he did not rally.

A day or so before he became unconscious, Mr. Nelson realizing the probability of a fatal termination of his illness, said to a friend:

"The Lord has been far better to me than I deserve. I have had a long life and a happy life with great opportunities for usefulness. My only regret is that I have not accomplished more. But if this is the end, I am ready."

Throughout his illness the problem of the poor was of intense concern to him. He made large gifts to local charitable institutions and was absorbed in the work of a soup kitchen which his daughter, Mrs. Kirkwood, inaugurated and conducted.

While no formal statement was made, it was announced that "as far as is humanly possible, the Star will be conducted in accordance with the aims and ideas of Mr. Nelson."

Change for Worse.

Mr. Nelson took an active part in the management of the Star up until about a month ago, when his condition changed for the worse. Until then members of the Star staff gathered at his bedside several times weekly for the purpose of discussing with Mr. Nelson questions of editorial policy. At these conferences he would dictate editorials and outline items for cartoons and feature stories. Although his physicians constamtly

MURDER BUT A MINOR FAULT OF REVOLUTION

Very Rev. F. C. Kelly Paints Distressing Picture of Mexico.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 13.—Very Rev. Francis C. Kelly, of Chicago, president of the Catholic church extension society, today discussed "Mexico and the American Church," before an important gathering of clergymen here. The occasion was the dedication of the synod hall and chancery building of the diocese of Pittsburg.

Dr. Kelly said that present day difficulties in Mexico were largely because of three serious questions: The rights of conscience, land and education. Mexica, he said, had been without anything like freedom of conscience for over fifty years. Church property had been confiscated to the state by Juarez and had never been returned. Religious schools were closed and orders of teachers disbanded. No outward manifestation of religion was permitted, even distinctive dress of clergymen being prohibited in the streets. In the large cities schools were supplied by the state, but outside such communities Mexico practically has no schools. The state has never been able to supply them and the church was not allowed to do so.

"The church has avoided interference in political affairs," said Dr. Kelly, "and churchmen are timid about their own defense. The church accepted Juarez, Diaz and Madero. She will accept whatever legitimate ruler comes out of the present chaos.

"The story of the present revolution in Mexico is far worse than the story of the first revolution of France. It is horrible in the extreme. Murder has been one of its minor faults, relatively

NOW PREPARE FOR BIG LEGAL BATTLE

Fight Between Washington Bank and Treasury to Be Lively One.

Washington, April 13.—Officials of the treasury department and of the Riggs National bank, were busy today preparing for the legal battle to follow the proceedings begun by the bank to enjoin Secretary McAdoo and Comptroller of the Currency Williams from alleged persecution of that institution. Mr. Williams was in conference with Postmaster General Burleson, Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, and Jesse C. Adkins, a Washington attorney formerly connected with the department of justice as an assistant in anti-trust prosecutions. Mr. Brandeis has been retained by Attorney General Gregory in connection with an investigation of the Riggs bank.

Officers of the bank examined the statement given out by Comptroller Williams reciting some of the transactions of the institution questioned by his office, and prepared to issue a statement answering the charges. Further legal steps in the case probably will not be taken until Friday when Secretary McAdoo, Mr. Williams and John Burke, treasurer of the United States, must make their answer to the complaint of the bank and its prayer for injunction.

Formal notice was served today by officers of the District of Columbia supreme court, on acting Secretary Newton, Mr. Williams and Treasurer Burke that Justice McCoy had granted a temporary injunction restraining the payment into the treasury of $5,000 interest on $1,000,000 of United States bonds held by the comptroller to secure the bank's note circulation. This money, the bank complains, should be held up to cover penalties of $100 a day imposed for failure to make reports demanded by the comptroller.

SECRET METHODS TO BUILD UP UNION TOLD

Chicago, April 13.—S. J. Konenkamp, president of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, resuming his testimony before the United States industrial relations commission today, explained secret methods of building up the organization i nthe face of opposition from the Western Union Telegraph company and the Postal Telegraph and Cable company.

"Owing to the spy system our members come in under assumed names," said Mr. Konenkamp. I am on the membership roll sveral times for instance as S. J. Konenkamp I; S. J. Konenkamp II, III and so on. Who these men are I don't know."

The witness said the Western Union "spotters" were so active and so misled that of every ten men dismissed for unionism nine as a matter of fact were non-union.

HUGE PEACE FLAG FLOATS FROM MAST

New York, April 13.—A huge peace flag floated from a mast head of the Holland-American line steamship Noordam today as the forty or more delegates from America went on board to sail for Rotterdam to attend the international women's conference at The Hague.

Miss Jane Addams, of Chicago, who led the delegation, said she had doubts whether it was permissible to fly the flag until last night she receive a message from a representative who had consulted Robert Lansing, counsellor of the state department. The message said: "Officially the United States can say nothing as it is a foreign ship, but fly ahead." The flag was a snow white pennant, bearing the word, "Peace" in blue letters. It was given by Mayor Mitchel, of New York.

Friends of the delegates who gathered at the pier discussed with some concern Miss Addams' intimation in her speech that the voyage might be attended with some danger, and that it was possible that the delegates might never reach The Hague. "The ship may be interned in some harbor and never reach Rotterdam," she said."

TRADE BALANCE SMALLER.

Figures For Last Week Below Those of Week Before.

Washington, April 13.—Secretary Redfield reported to President Wilson at the cabinet meeting today that commerce department foreign trade figures showed a favorable balance for the United States of $17,672,267 last week. This was smaller than the balance the week before. Mr. Redfield also reported that 103,967 bales of cotton were exported last week, bringing the total since August 1 to 6,845,480 bales.

BODY OF BOY LAY IN CREEK

HORSE PLUNGES OFF STRUCTURE

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Monroeville, Ind., April 13.—Ralph Baldwin, 16 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Baldwin, who reside on a farm one mile north of the village of Baldwin on the state line, lost his life by drowning in the Flat Rock creek last night when in the darkness the horse which he was riding plunged off the bridge into the water.

The body was not discovered until this morning about 6 o'clock when it was found in two feet of water by George Morse, who lives near the Baldwin farm. His horse was found a short distance away, but had fallen from injuries which it had received. The horse, however, was not badly hurt.

Young Baldwin was a student of the night school at Baldwin, and had attended last night's session. About 9;30 o'clock accompanied by Noah Lathamer, a neighbor boy who also was on horse back, he started home. Lothamer rode on ahead and knew nothing of the accident until notified this morning. He was the principal witness at an investigation conducted by Coroner Edward H Kruse, of Fort Wayne, this morning.

Plunges From Bridge.

When the Baldwin boy reached the bridge over Flat Rock creek, which is about a half mile north of Baldwin, it is believed the horse became frightened and in the darkness plunged over the side. The boy's jaw was broken and he was otherwise injured, but in the opinion of the coroner death was due to drowning. In the fall he was doubtless rendered unconscious, as he might easily have escaped from the shallow water.

The bridge is a plank affair without railings and has always been regarded as dangerous. Young Baldwin was taking special instructions at the night school along with a number of other boys of the village and surrounding country.

EXPOSITION SHOWS PROFIT.

Average Daily Attendance at San Diego Show Is 6,295.

San Diego, Cal., April 13.—Official figures given out today by the Panama-California exposition here show the daily average attendance for the last week to have been 6,295. A statement by President G. A. Davidson says that the profit for March was $24,467.

"The exposition," he said, "has been operated at a profit since the opening. The profit for the first three months was $40,000."

GERMANS HURL NEW BLOW AT OSSOWETZ

London, April 13.—The German attack on the Russian forces in the north near the Prussian frontier was resumed yesterday and another battle is in progress for possession of the important Russian fortress of Ossowetz. The abandonment of the former siege of this fortress was interpreted in Petrograd as indicating that the Germans had given up their attempt to break through the Russian line of defenses and advance on Warsaw from the north but it is now said semi-officially at the Russian capital that the invaders have brought up howitzers and begun a new bombardment.

One of the German siege batteries is said to have been damaged badly by the Russian guns. Five independent Austrian armies are operating along the Carpathian front. Petrograd newspapers publish semi-official details concerning this campaign to the effect that the various Austrian armies are under direction of the German general staff. It is said also that Emperor William personally is supervising the work of the staff.

Of two Austrian armored trains which advanced against the Russians one is said to have been blown up and the other forced to withdraw after being damaged.

"The highest German authority" in Rome has denied reports that Germany is considering peace negotiations. From this source comes the statement that the German general staff has made plans for resumption of the offensive with fresh vigor.

NOT CONSIDERING PEACE.

Rumors Given Denial by High German Sources in Rome.

Rome, April 12.—10 p. m. (Via Paris, April 13.)—Information obtained from the highest German sources in this city is to the effect that there is absolutely no basis for the report that peace negotiations under conditions are being considered in Berlin. These reports, it is said, are based upon ignorance of actual conditions in the German empire. The assertion is made that both Germany and Austria, particularly the former, have within their borders supplies of everything necessary to prolong the war indefinitely. Well informed Germans in Rome declare the determination of the Central empires to carry the conflict to the end will become apparent soon when the campaign is resumed with fresh vigor on both fronts according to plans mapped out by the general staff during the winter. The same sources of information are authority for the statement that not only can Germany provide enough food to supply her people but that she has on hand a plentiful store of supplies for manufacturing arms and ammunition.

THE FRENCH REPORT.

Paris, April 13.—The French war department's official statement, given out this afternoon, says: "Between the sea and the Aisne there is nothing to report except a few artillery duels.

"To the east of Berry-au-Bac we gained the possession of a German trench.

"In the Argonne there were minor operations and engagements of bomb and grenade throwing between our men and the enemy's trenches.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle our forces succeeded at several points in coming in contact with the wire entanglements of the enemy's defense."

TWO FORT WAYNE MEN GET REAPPOINTMENTS

Governor Continues Judge Hench and Mr. Geake on State Boards.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 13.—Governor Ralston last night announced the appointment of eleven trustees of various state institutions. A list of the appointments follows:

Samuel M. Hench, of Fort Wayne, democrat, re-appointed a trustee of the Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' monument to serve four years from last November, the date when his term expired.

William Geake, of Fort Wayne, republican, re-appointed a trustee of the Indiana Stact School for the Deaf to serve four years from January 1, 1915.

Harry C. Scearce, of Mooresville, republican, appointed to succeed L. M. Sniff of Angola, as a trustee of the Indiana Village of Elileptics to serve three years.

L. Ert Slack, of Indianapolis, democrat, re-appointed as a trustee of the central Indiana Hospital for the Insane, to serve four years from April 10, 1915.

John Weathers, of New Albany, republican, re-appointed a trustee of the Indiana Village of Epleptics to serve three from March 22, 1915.

Albert D. Thomas, of Crawfordsville, republican, re-appointed a trustee of the state board of pardons to serve four years from April 9, 1915.

Mrs. L. G. Ellingham, of Indianapolis, re-appointed as a trustee of the Indiana Girls' School at Clermont, to serve four years from April 1, 1915.

George W. Webster, jr., of Marion, republican, and Guy H. Humphreys, of Bloomfield, democrat, re-appointed as trustees of the Indiana Boys' school, to serve four years from April 10, 1915.

George D. Franklin, of Lafayette, democrat, appointed to succeed Harry T. Schloss, of Terre Haute, democrat, as trustee of the Indiana Boys' school for four years from April 10, 1915.

FOUR ANXIOUS TO BEGIN PRISON TERMS

Quartet of Terre Haute Men Abandon Appeal; Will Take Medicine.

Indianapolis, April 13.—Four of the 116 men convicted in the Terre Haute vote conspiracy case on whom sentence was passed in federal court yesterday, have given up hope of winning an appeal and have deserted their colleagues.

The men are John Masselink, city sealer and former state representative from Vigo county; George Sovern, a saloon keeper; Arthur Gillis, an undertaker, and Joseph Straus, a political worker. They went before Judge Anderson yesterday afternoon and withdrew from the writ of error, accepting the court's sentence without further delay.

The men decided to withdraw from the appeal just before the Terre Haute conspirators, headed by Donn M. Roberts, mayor, were taken from the federal building to the Marion county jail where they must remain until they can provide an appeal bond or are taken to Leavenworth to begin their sentences. The jail colony includes 107 men.

Four Allowed to Go Home.

Instead of spending last night in jail with the other convicted men, the four who decided not to push their appeals went to their homes in Terre Haute under a promise to Judge Anderson that they would surrender themselves to the prison authorities next week and would start for Leavenworth not later than 12:30 o'clock next Sunday afternoon. Judge Anderson handed each one of the four his commitment to the prison, and accepted their word that they would surrender themselves at the proper time.

Mayor Roberts, who elects to stand on the original plan of appeal and who hopes to obtain bond today or tomorrow, is said to have been incensed at the action of the four, and it is understood he urged them to stay with the others.

Sovern First to Give Up.

George Sovern, a saloon keeper, was the first to break from the others. He sent word to Judge Anderson that he desired to speak to him concerning his sentence.

"I desire to serve my sentence without any further delay and I would like to have a little more time to arrange my affairs so I can care for my wife and baby," Sovern told Judge Anderson.

'But you have appealed your case; your name appears on the writ of error," the judge informed Sovern.

"My name was written there without my consent; I will be willing to go to Leavenworth alone at any time within the next few days."

LABOR FEDERATION FAVORS A WOMAN

Members of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor are in favor of a woman on the school board as indicated by resolutions passed Monday night. There was not a dissenting vote. The resolutions which are signed by Joseph A. Deahl, Clayton H. Johnson and Adolph Kiefer are as follows:

"To the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor:

"We, the legislative committee of the above organization, believing in the desirability of progress at all times and feeling that the appointment of a representative woman of Fort Wayne to a position on the school board is just and proper, recommend that:

"The Fort Wayne Federation of Labor indorse the idea of such an appointment of a woman on the school board and that we use our efforts to this end."

Resolutions on the death of E. W. Hackett, a member of the Linemen's union and delegate to the federation, who was electrocuted last week were passed. The committee was composed of J. C. Werkman, H. J. Straub and J. J. Perrey. The charter was ordered draped for thirty days.

The trustees of the federation were instructed to make arrangements for the opening of permanent headquarters in the front room of the building now occupied by the Buffaloes.

The following new delegates were admitted: Archie Castaret, of the cooks and waiters; W. A. Flickinger, of the Painters, and Henry J. Koers, of the meat cutters.

The painters reported that their arbitration committee had agreed to return to work at the old wage with the promise of an increase as soon as business conditions would permit. One wall paper house was reported on the unfair list.

The following new committee appointments were made: William A. Jackson, safety and sanitation; John A. Koch and Carl R. Stumph, label; Joseph Deahl, vocational; Otto Effinger, credentials.

K. C. IN ANNUAL MEMORIAL SERVICES

The annual memorial services were held Monday evening by members of Fort Wayne council, No. 451, Knights of Columbus. The meeting was opened by E. J. Ehrman, grand knight, with officers of the order at their respective stations.

Hon. Charles M. Niezer was the first speaker of the evening, taking for his subject: 'Our Order and Its Dead." He paid a glowing tribute to the memory of those who have passed away. Four members have died during the past year as follows: E. J. Collins, Harry P. Lowry, John A. Bushman and John Mooney.

Frank Hogan gave an eulogy on Mr. Lowry; Thomas J. McLaughlin on the life of E. J. Collins; Stephen A. Callahan on John A. Bushman and C. Byron Hayes on the life of John Mooney.

HUERTA IN GOTHAM; GETS BUSY AT ONCE

Mexican Circles Have Rumor of Important Confabs to Be Held.

New York, April 13.—Gen. Victoriano Huerta began today to attend to the business which brought him to New York and which he described as "personal and family." The general occupies one of the most expensive suites of the hotel Ansonia.

Despite Huerta's assurances on landing yesterday that he would do nothing while here to violate the neutrality of the United States, it was reported today in Mexican circles that important conferences would be held to determine whether the time was ripe for Huerta to interfere in Mexico, rally his old battalions to his attempt to put down the factions contending for the control of that country.

It was said that agents of the federal government here were keeping a close watch upon his movements. A statement given out by Francisco Elias, the consul general representing the Carranza faction here, said that Huerta's destination is Yucatan, "where he expects to inaugurate a revolution against Carranza."

General Huerta turned over to the police a mysterious box which was supposed to contain candy and which was handed to him as he landed. He did not open it. At the police station the box was opened by an expert in explosives and found to contain rambling manuscript apparently written by some irresponsible person.

NOT IN HUERTA'S CONFIDENCE.

Washington, April 13.—President Wilson has been given no information regarding the plans of Gen. Huerta, he told callers today. The president said he was not in the confidence of the former Mexican provisional president and did not know whether he would come to Washington.

STATE TAKES CHARGE OF A BANK AT MEROM

Indianapolis, Ind., April 13.—Dale J. Crittenberger, auditor of state, today took charge of the Merom State bank, at Merom, Ind. The auditor of state, by law, is not allowed to disclose the reasons for taking such action, and Mr. Crittenberger refused to discuss the situation.

The Merom State bank is the institution which was mentioned some days ago when the state of Indiana brought suit against the Anchor Life Insurance company for receiver and asked that the company be restrained from doing business. It is understood that the bank some time ago undertook a loan to the Anchor company and accepted, in return therefor, approximately 20,000 of the Anchor Life Insurance company's stock.

200 Insane Patients Rescued from Blaze

Chicago, April 13.—Two hundred convalescent patients of the State Hospital for the Insane were rescued today from fire which destroyed a rambling frame structure used as an annex to the institution at Dunning, northwest of the city.

Warned by previous blazes in the building, the hospital authorities had prepared a fire drill which worked without a hitch.

Some 2,800 other inmates of the institution were guarded to prevent panic or undue excitement in the main building a few hundred feet away.

The loss was estimated at $5,000, chiefly on the building as the patients helped the fire fighters remove the equipment from the wards.

Everything Ready at Terre Haute for Big Evangelistic Campaign.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 13.—The Lyon evangelistic meetings will open here next Sunday and the reports from the various committees show that everything will be in readiness by that time. The tabernacle has been finished and the local arrangements have been made. Several of the members of the company have been in the city for some time and the others are expected this week. Dr. Lyon will probably arrive next Saturday.

A general mass meeting was held at the Central Christian church Sunday afternoon. The address was delivered by Harold Hobbs, of Muncie, who told of the work Dr. Lyon did in his home city.

Loren G. Jones and Fred W. Rapp are expected to arrive in the city in time to participate in some of the shop meetings this week. Rev. Ray G. Upson has been here for several days assisting in the preparatory meetings.

DRIVE HERE FROM TIFFIN.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Jones Make Good Use of Ford Car.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Jones, of the Lyon evangelistic party, drove to Fort Wayne from Tiffin, Ohio, in the Ford touring car presented them by the Fort Wayne people at the close of the tabernacle meetings in this city. The car is giving them great service and after completing his engagement in this city Tuesday evening they will prive to Terre Haute, where the meetings open next Sunday.

Mr. Jones appears at the Wayne street M. E. church Tuesday evening in a Chautaqua concert under the auspices of the Young Men's Forward congress. Many people are intending to see the man who sung himself into their hearts at the meetings held at the Lyon tabernacle.

OCCURRED LONG AGO.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 13.—Statements that boxboard manufacturers of Indiana had contributed to a fund to prevent the enactment of legislation they thought unfavorable, attributed to Gilbert Jay, of Kokomo, Ind., referred to a session of the general assembly about fifteen or more years ago, according to an affidavit Jay presented to Prosecutor A. J. Rucker. Jay had been subpoenaed to appear before the Marion county grand jury, but in view of the facts as shown in the affidavit, he will not be required to appear and explain further, Rucker said.

3 DROWN WHEN ICE CRUSHES MAIL BOAT

Bayfield, Wis., April 13.—Three men were drowned and two others narrowly escaped death in Chequamegon bay within sight of shore late yesterday when the United States mail boat between this city and La Pointe was crushed by the ice floes. The dead are:

Nels Olson, sr., Clarence Wright and Charles Russell. All lived at La Pointe.

W. S. Johnson, carrier of the mails between La Pointe and this city, and Russell Angus were rescued after a long struggle with ice and waves. Johnson's condition is serious.

Two La Pointe men, John Wright and Wm. Peterson, went to the rescue of the drowning men and brought Johnson and Angus to shore. The other three occupants of the overturned boat were benumbed before the rescuers reached them and slipped into the water and perished.

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can not cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.—

SUES SALOONIST FOR DEATH.

Portland, Ind., April 13.—The trial of the suit brought in the name of the state of Indiana on relation of Elia Andrews, widow of the late Wade Andrews, against Jeff Klopfenstein and the Illinois Surety company, was begun in the circuit court Monday afternoon. The case was first instituted in the Adams circuit court, being venued from there to Wells county and from the latter court to the Jay circuit court. Klopfenstein is a saloonist at Preble. It is charged that on August 1, 1914, he sold liquor to Wade Andrews and that the latter became drunk and in attempting to operate his automobile, was killed.

PNEUMONIA FATAL TO FARMER.

Huntington, Ind., April 13.—Fillmore Metcalf, a widely known farmer, was buried today in Woodlawn cemetery at Warren, following funeral services at the Plum Tree Christian church, Rev. B. O. Coy officiating. Death was due to pneumonia, of which he was ill ten days. He was born in 1853 in Jennings county, but had resided in Rock Creek township, Huntington county, for many years. Priscilla Whinery Metcalf, whom he made his wife thirty-six years ago, survives him. They had no children.

FORMER DECATUR MAN DIES.

Decatur, Ind., April 13.—Monday, at the family home in Paulding county, Ohio, three miles south of Payne, and one miles north of McGill, occurred the death of John Gideon, a former Adams county resident, and one of the best known men in the vicinity. His death resulted from Bright's disease. He was taken sick less than two months ago. Seven weeks ago he was in Decatur the guest of relatives. Much of his life had been spent in the timber business, but for the past few years he had resided on a farm.

HON. J. M. SCHERMERHORN DEAD.

Kendallville, Ind., April 13.—Hon. John M. Schermerhorn, aged 72 years, a native of Lagrange county, for forty-seven years a citizens of Noble county, former county commissioner and representative in the legislature and a civil war veteran of the famous Eighty-eighth Indiana regiment, is dead at his home in Orange township, two miles north of Brimfield. His death ensued after a brief illness with heart trouble that developed from an attack of the grip. The death of Mr. Schermerhorn removes one of Noble county's most notable and influential citizens. He was born on a farm in Lagrange county in 1843 and there grew to manhood. In 1862 he enlisted in Company G, Eighty-eighth regiment and served until the close of the war, participating in that fighting regiment's bloody campaigns, and was with Sherman in the famous march to the sea. After the war he returned to Lagrange county, taught school for three years, was married in 1868 to Jane Atwood and in 1871 came to Noble county to reside on the farm he had purchased and where he died. Mr. Schermerhorn was very active in republican circles from attainment of his majority until 1912, when he espoused the cause of Theodore Roosevelt and the progressive party. He was affiliated with the Masonic and Knights of Pythias lodges. The funeral will be held Wednesday at 1 o'clock from the late residence.

SHEARER GETS LIFE SENTENCE.

Huntington, Ind., April 13.—In the Huntington circuit court last evening Firmer Shearer, aged 24, pleaded guilty to murder for the killing of his father-in-law, Newton Stevens, aged 60, at Andrews on the night of March 11, and Judge Samuel E. Cook sentenced him to the penitentiary for life. Shearer's wife was granted a divorce from him a few days ago and it was the filing of that suit that directly led to the murder of Stevens. Shearer had failed flagrantly to care for his wife and children and spent his money for drink. Mrs. Shearer returned to the home of her parents in Andrews and later filed the divorce suit. The night of March 11 Shearer, after drinking heavily in this city, went to Andrews and demanded admission to the Stevens home to see his wife and child. He was told his wife was not there and at first denied admittance. He went in, however, and after some words approached the bed where Stevens and Shearer's little child were lying. As Stevens arose from the bed Shearer fired. It has been believed he went to the house to kill his wife, children and his wife's parents.

COLUMBIA CITY WANTS TEAM.

Columbia City, Ind., April 13.—Harry Gelvin, of this city, who managed the Columbia City base ball team last season, went to Fort Wayne today to try and secure five players to join the Columbia City team during the coming season. He does not expect to play many games at home, but will endeavor to secure Sunday games in other towns. If he fails to get the desired players in Fort Wayne he will go to Warsaw and try to induce some of the base ball boys of that city to join Columbia City. He has five Columbia City players to make up the team.

WARSAW MAY CELEBRATE.

Warsaw, Ind., April 13.—Warsaw may have an old fashioned Fourth of July celebration this year.

At the present there are a number of the business men back of the proposition, which is being headed by J. C. Schade. Although no definite plans have yet been made the proposition will be brought up at the next meeting of the business men and it is probable that at this time committees on arrangements will be appointed.

OLD MAN IS ON TRIAL.

Warsaw, Ind., April 13.—The trial of Newton Hover, an old soldier, charged with encouraging the delinquency of Lydia Hoffner, a sixteen year old orphan girl, began Monday in the circuit court. Hover asked that the jury be waived, but after considerable argument, Prosecuting Attorney Homer Longfellow demanded that a jury be summoned. The charge states that Hover, on March 1, took Lydia Hoffner to his home in East Warsaw and kept her there until about the middle of the month, when he was arrested by officers on a very serious charge.

SUES RAILWAY FOR $10,000.

Warsaw, Ind., April 13.—Suit for $10,000 damages against the Pennsylvania railroad for the death of J. Frank Long, the Pierceton mail carrier, who met his death at Kosciusko on May 2, 1913, has been filed in the circuit court by Walter J. Long, administrator of the Long estate. The complaint states that the death of Mr. Long was due to carelessness and negligence on the part of the employes of the railway company.

BREAKS AWAY FROM OFFICER.

Portland, Ind., April 13.—After being arrested on an old committment by Policeman Hanlin and when within a half square of the county jail, Harry Crawford, formerly of Winchester, made his get-away and has not since been seen. Crawford owes a fine imposed on him nearly two years ago for drunkenness.

MRS. STECKLEY DIES IN GARRETT.

Garrett, Ind., April 13.—Mrs. Amanda Elizabeth Steckley, wife of Bert Steckley, will be buried from her late residence, 407 South Randolph street, in this city, Wednesday at 1:30 o'clock, and at 2 o'clock from the M. E. church. Her death occurred at the hospital here following an operation that was performed last week. She was forty-two years old and is survived by her husband and two sons. She was widely known here and was active in the circles of the M. E. church and of Rebekah and Ben Hur lodges.

AGED WOMAN FALLS.

Auburn, Ind., April 13.—Mrs. M. E. Griffin, the mother of Frank Turrill, with whom she resides, was painfully injured in a fall down a stairway. Mrs. Griffin is past eighty years of age. She went up stairs intending to retire for the night, but changed her mind after considering that it was earlier than she had intended to retire. She started to go down stairs to read, when she lost her footing and fell. She cut a gash in her forehead and injured her spine.

FIRST TO THE PENAL FARM.

Auburn, Ind., April 13.—Commitment papers were made out Monday that will turn over to the management of the state penal farm just opened, Clinton North. North is an old offender and resides in Butler. He was tried in Mayor Cramer's court and fined $100 and $10 costs for public intoxication. He will serve 140 days at the penal farm. The papers for his transfer to the penal farm are signed by the mayor of Butler. He will be the first representative from this county to the new institution.

MISSIONARY WHO WITNESSED REBELLION OF INDIA'S TROOPS RELATES STORY OF BLOODY SLAUGHTER.

Rev. W. A. Wells and his family, refugees from India.

San Francisco, April 13.—Coming direct from the far east with a story of wanton slaughter, Rev. W. A. Wells, a missionary, his wife and children, arrived here recently on the steamer Persia direct from Singapore, where they witnessed the late mutiny of the Indian troops and the week's fatal reign of terror that followed, during which British soldiers and subjects as well as French were massacred with a fiendish hand.

"There were more than 700 troops in the revolt," said Wells, "and during the afternoon of February 15 they put all of their officers to death. After this pandemonium ruled the city. The soldiers divided into little groups and went about the city shooting down Europeans.

"Nobody knows how many were killed. I know personally of sixty-four who met death during the two days following the first trouble.

"Europeans were given arms by the British commander, and sent out to combat the mutineers, who were shooting all English and French residents on sight.

"For two days I was on patrol duty, while several other missionaries were in actual skirmishes.

"No one knows the real cause of the uprising, but all evidence points that Germans were the instigators of the plot. The strongest proof of this theory is that fifty Germans who were held in British military barracks were liberated and disappeared during the fighting.

"During the first two days of the fighting we were afraid to send calls for a British warship because of the belief that a German man-of-war might intercept the message and take the city. This fear was strengthened by the fact that several members of the crew of the Emden were among the German prisoners who escaped. There now is a reward on their heads.

"Word finally was sent to the French cruiser Montcalm and a Japanese warship which had left Singapore on the day preceding the mutiny, and these returned, their crews aiding to a great extent in restoring order."

Psalm 23:1-6.

1 The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.

2 He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; he leadeth me beside the still waters.

3 He restoreth my soul; he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

4 Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

5 Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

6 Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

William R. Nelson.

News of the death of Colonel William R. Nelson, editor of the Kansas City Star, will be received with sincere sorrow in Fort Wayne, the birthplace of the distinguished journalist, the scene of his earlier business and professional career and still the home of countless friends of his younger days who cherish the memory of this strong, striking personality. It has been thirty-five years since Mr. Nelson left Fort Wayne to take up his home in Kansas City, but through all the intervening years he has kept so closely in touch with his native city that Fort Wayne has been able to note his upward climb in life's affairs from a near angle, to rejoice with him in the triumphs that were his, and to admire thoroughly the traits of his splendid citizenship that made him a leader of men and a power for good.

William R. Nelson was a stalwart figure mentally as well as physically. He was of the type of men which gets things done. He was a fighter, but always fair and always forceful. He came of a pioneer Allen county family, and from the earliest days of his business career manifested the dash and aggressiveness that would not be denied and that later won for him riches not only in gold and in honor, but in the high regard of the people and of the city for which he did so much. It should not be understood that Mr. Nelson's pathway to success was rose-strewn. Not all his business ventures were successful. Some of them, indeed, contributed reverses and discouragements, but they did not daunt him, and it was perhaps these very reverses that later served to refine the business acumen of the man and enable him to later navigate in safety business seas all but uncharted. For Mr. Nelson's way was not the way of the ordinary man. He did not follow beaten paths. His newspaper is unlike any other. He mapped out his own courses, and he followed them steadfastly. He was never without a purpose. He was very nearly the pioneer and certainly the most successful advocate of civic betterment this country has yet known. He detested fraud and sham and fought it pitilessly. He made enemies, plenty of them, but they were the sort of enemies who constitute a positive asset to the man whose courage is resolute and whose purpose if lofty. It is but simple justice to say that more than any other man Colonel Nelson has left his impress upon the city which he came to call home. Success could not turn his head and honors he wore with becoming modesty and simplicity that was among the admirable attributes of this marvelous man. Both in the city which gave him birth and in the city which he builded, William Rockhill Nelson's memory will be cherished as a priceless heritage by those fortunate enough to enjoy a personal acquaintance with him, and by unnumbered thousands of others whose admiration had been challenged and held by his distinguished and useful career.

Gilbert D. Jay, of Lafayette, who was quoted as having declared in a recent speech at Kokomo that boxboard interests had been forced to put up a "slush fund" in order to prevent the enactment of an undesirable law at the recent session of the legislature, has exploded the sensation. In an affidavit Mr. Jay declared that the incident to which he referred occurred more than fifteen years ago, and that he had been sadly misquoted in his Kokomo statement. The Indiana public will no doubte breathe easier now, but mercy! what a fright that man gave us for a moment!

The achievement of District Attorney Frank C. Dailey in bringing to book the Terre Haute election conspirators has resulted in the starting of a boom for the Bluffton man for the democratic gubernatorial nomination. Well, the general public will be inclined to the opinion that Mr. Dailey has won something handsome in the way of a reward of merit. Whether or not he has ambitions outside his professional career, however, must await an announcement from Mr. Dailey himself.

The circuit court at Kokomo has overruled a motion to quash the indictment recently returned against Mayor George W. Stidger, of that city, charging oppression and malfeasance in office, and it is now said that impeachment proceedings are to be launched against the mayor in the city council. Really, this appears to be a rather trying season for the mayors of some Indiana cities whose alleged course has placed them in the attitude of being compelled to make explanations.

The Federation of Labor has now given an expression of its desire to have a woman elected on the Fort Wayne city school board. Really, is anybody emphatically and seriously opposed to a trial of the proposition which is urged by so many people and from which such excellent results are promised?

That $60,000 appeal bond demanded by the court in the case of Donn M. Roberts, will at least give the public an opportunity to judge just how well the mayor's pull with the "deer peepul" down at Terre Haute is still working.

NO HOMES DISRUPTED YET.

(Chicago Herald.)

"A careful examination of the figures of the woman's vote Tuesday reveals nothing startling except the total. At the election 243,797 women cast their ballots. But they didn't tear things up and put all calculations to naught. Roughly speaking, their votes paralleled those of the men. Thompson got an overwhelming majority in both cases.

"If the women hadn't voted the result would have been the same. If there hadn't been a male voice cast the figures show that Thompson would still have won in a walk. The women seem to have responded to the same arguments as the men. Or whether they responded to precisely the same arguments or not, the men and the women in some way established a harmony of intention which is sufficiently striking.

"Mindful of the familiar, the classic prognostications of the baneful results of woman's suffrage, one naturally looks to find some evidence of their value. One scans the totals with an apprehensive shudder to discover some evidence of the wholesale disruption of homes on account of politics, of family feuds carried by the ton to the ballot boxes and there registering bitter differences of opinion as well as causing indescribable confusion.

But the evidence isn't there. The totals show that the men and the women manage to get along as well in the exercise of political privileges as they do in the exercise of their other privileges. The sex line is still far from becoming a political line. The American home seems just about as safe today as it was before woman's suffrage came to Chicago.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY'S DANGER

(Springfield Republican.)

Decent republican papers that desire no deplorable reaction with the possible return of the republican party to power are plainly anxious over the present tendencies. The New York Tribune admits "there can be no satisfaction for any republican not of the Platt days and Platt beliefs in contemplating the activities of the present republican controlled legislature." The Boston Transcript thinks that "New York offers a deplorable example of reactionary republican success in that state next year and therefore in the nation." Connecticut and Colorado also furnish examples of republican reaction toward the spoils system. One serious difficulty with the republican party today in the states where it has regained power is that the reactionary politicians are in complete control, without the slightest check as yet from those who joined the progressive party. This is a leadership sure to ruin republican prospects unless the return of the progressives is fast enough to force a strong progressive influence into the innermost party councils.

MARSHALL SLIGHTLY ILL.

Vice President Suffers Attack of Ptomaine Poisoning.

Globe, Ariz., April 13.—A slight illness, it was announced yesterday, will prevent Vice President Thomas R. Marshall participating in the celebration set for April 15 to mark the first filling of the great Roosevelt irrigation reservoir in the Superstition mountains. Carl Hayden, Arizona's representative in congress, and the governor of Arizona will be guests of honor.

NEW GARDEN CITIES FOR DOCK LABORERS

London, April 8.—An interesting outcome of the great project for the extension of the London dock system, the initial cost of which runs into £15,000,000, is the building of two new garden cities for dock laborers and their families.

At Tilbury, the urban district council is erecting 234 houses, with an average number of thirteen houses to the acre, and adjoining the houses is a considerable open space, besides allotments and a recreation ground of nearly fifty acres.

At Plaistow, an eastern suburb of London, near the river, the Port of London Authority has acquired an estate of several acres, which is being converted into a garden city. Modeled on the lines of an estate belonging to the London county council, called the White Hart Lane estate, it is nevertheless an improvement upon it, for there will be fewer houses to the acre, and more open space. In this and many other respects the new suburb will be a pleasant contrast to the sordid monotony of its neighbors, which can only be realized by those who know them.

A variety in design is a feature of the houses, which will chiefly provide room for displaced dwellers from North Woolwich and Silvertown, and the rents are to be fixed on a scale sufficient merely to cover capital charges.

Wide, intersecting roads and numerous open spaces and garden plots will help to transform these districts and raise the inhabitants to a brighter level.

GAMBLING DID IT ALL.

Chicago, April 13.—Ignatius J. Chileski, lawyer and private banker, who in 1911 fled from Chicago with clients and depositers clamoring for more than $100,000 of their money, which he declared he had lost in gambling, died here yesterday in the tuberculosis ward of the county hospital, a charity patient, under the name of Joseph Wagner. He had visited South America, Asia and Africa, but his efforts to regain financial footing failed. He returned to Chicago several months ago, but did not communicate with his family. Just before he died he revealed his identity to a nurse and said:

"Tell my old friends that I paid for my folly with my life. Gambling did it all."

European Warfare Killing Off the Nation's Best Young Men.

Corpus Christi, Tex., April 13.—Armi Ritter, a former Texas cowboy, who for years has been a trick rider and expert rifle shot with the "Sarrasani Schau," a German "Wild West" show employing 2,000 actors, has returned to his home because the war forced the circus to disband.

With the first outbreak of hostilities the hundreds of Cossack dare-devil riders with the circus were thrown into prison, the English acrobats found themselves in detention camps and the Japanese jugglers were taken into custody. Every subject of an enemy nation with the show was detained by the authorities, thus greatly crippling the great tent show. Most of the German actors had to join the colors.

For a time the management attempted to go on with the shows, using neutral actors and Germans excepted from military duty. But the performances, greatly weakened, had little interest for a populace under the great strain of war and the attendance dwindled.

Try a War Spectacular.

Then as a bid for popular favor the company was reorganized to present a great war spectacle called "Europe in Flames." It depicted the cause and with the roar of cannon and the clash of steel the progress of the war, and finally the probable ending, always with a strong German bias.

Out of a Job.

The public sickened of this mockery of the real warfare which was killing off so many of the nation's best young men. Again the circus lost patronage and the management decided to disband. Some of the American lads who lost their jobs took the oath of allegiance to Germany and joined the army, but when he found that it was necessary to renounce his American citizenship he balked.

"I think I'll go back," Ritter said "and marry. There are lots of nice, rich girls over there. You see the war is killing off nearly all of the young men—and it won't be hard to marry," he confessed naively.

Ritter is twenty-seven and has a typical western look on him. "The American girls aren't like the German girls. American girls won't work. Look at the divorce cases. No, I think I'll go back to Germany—but wait till after the war," he said.

RANCH TRAGEDY IS VIVIDLY RECALLED

"Alias Johnny Potts," the Victim, Is Prodigal Son of Wealth.

Watonga, Okla., April 13.—One part of northwestern Oklahoma which is rich in the myths of the cowboy days is the land to the north of the Eagle Chief. Much of the early lore of romantic nature has been lost, but there are a few old-timers who vividly remember the trials of pioneer life and of the romances which, like the cattle, once covered the valley of this small stream.

The mecca for the cowmen was the frontier town of Caldwell, Kan. A dance could not be held for a hundred miles to the southwest without drawing a number of young people from Caldwell.

Of the most famous ranches along the Eagle Chief was the T-5. Nowhere in the entire country could the cowboys ride in such daring manner, nowhere did the round-up boast of as skillful handling of the rope as did those who formed the outfit of the T-5 ranch.

Every ranch had its history, many of them reading like fiction more than of the life which these big-hearted men of the plains lead. Of the T-5 this story will deal.

On a hill overlooking the valley of the Eagle Chief is an almost forgotten grave. The brush has grown around it until there remains but little to mark it as the last resting place of one who had been a part of the early day scenes in that part of the country.

"Johnny Potts'" Grave.

Within the grave lie the remains of Johnny Potts. Where he came from it is not known, but those who were his friends believed him to be the son of a rich eastern man and that the young man had quarreled with his father, which resulted in the youth leaving home.

SQUARING IT.

Miss Prettyface, I have been converted, and I want to make restitution for any wrong I have done. I stole some kisses from you, and I would like to give them back.

She—Well, Mr. Smith, of course, I don't want to put any obstacle in the way of your doing what you think is right.—New York Sun.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Schoo have returned from a trip to New York and other eastern cities.

Miss Josephine Henderson of Columbia avenue, entertained the So-Char-Rea club this afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Match, of Cincinnati, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth O'Rourke, of the White apartments.

Mrs. Clark Fairbank is going to Indianapolis tomorrow to attend a board meeting of the Indiana Federation of clubs.

Mrs. K. R. Frazier, of Des Moines, Ia., who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. W. T. Shepard, of West Berry street, has returned home.

Jerome Miller, who came home from Notre Dame to visit his parents of West Creighton avenue, for a few days, has returned to his studies.

A special business meeting of the Hamilton school Parent-Teacher club will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the school building. All members of the club are requested to attend.

Misses Marguerite Flick and Margaret Foohey who extended their holiday from school at St. Mary's-of-the-Woods to hear the Kreisler concert, returned to school yesterday.

Mrs. Clarice Cummings went to Elkhart today, to give a Shakespearian song recital at the annual guest day meeting of the Progress club to be held tomorrow evening.

Mrs. Ida Overmyer will entertain the Orphans' Home club, which is composed of the women members of the board of trustees, on Thursday. The ladies will take their workbags and sew and luncheon will be served at noon.

The Misses Henrietta and Celesta Petgen entertained the members of a sewing club to which they belong, last evening, in honor of their cousin, Miss Vera Gocke, whose marriage to Verne Tannehill will take place the latter part of this month.

A Country Party.

The home of Henry Korte, near New Haven, was the scene of an old-fashioned "hoe down" on Saturday evening, when friends of the neighborhood and near vicinity called as a birthday anniversary surprise. Sweet music was furnished by Mr. Welpk, Joe Dentzell and John Prepsing and old fashioned quadrilles were danced, much to the delight and fun of the company. Dancing continued until a late hour and the guests had a hot breakfast before they departed for their homes, that each one had a part in furnishing. Those who participated in the jolly time were Mr. and Mrs. John Prepsing and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Prauger, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weaver and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dentzell, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ehrman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ehrman and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Henshen and family. Misses Pearl and Mabel Weaver, Anna Beckmann, Alice and Anna Tibbet, Velma Henschen and Alice Kiefer and Charles Hockemeyer, Will Prepsing and John Tibbet.

Mr. Stoeber Comes to Fort Wayne.

Emmerson Stoeber, cellist, and a member of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and also cello player with the Bailhe Trio, is coming to Fort Wayne to reside. An arrangement has been made between the European School of Music and the Jefferson theater to induce Mr. Stroeber to make this city his home and his many admiring friends will be delighted to know he has decided to do so. Mr. Stoeber will give daily numbers on the cello with the Bailhe orchestra at the Jefferson, and that already popular moving picture house, with its good music and its fine organ, will present one more advance step in its high class entertainment. Mr. Stoeber will continue his work with the Trio and will, of course, teach at the European school. It is well known that he is a cello performer of much skill and beauty of tone.

James Smart School P.-T. Club.

The James H. Smart School Parent-Teacher club is planning for a special evening meeting on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock to which all parents of the district are cordially invited to attend. Dr. Bliss of the Indiana school, will give an address. Music will be furnished by Mr. Hasketh who will sing, accompanied by Mrs. Schiefer, and the grammar school orchestra under the direction of Mr. Thompson. A social hour will follow the serious part of the program and the parents will then have an opportunity to get acquainted.

Woman's Loyal Moose Circle.

The Woman's Loyal Moose circle will give a dance and pedro party in Trier's dancing academy tomorrow evening and have made plans for a big affair. Mr. and Mrs. Ahme Meyer and Mr. and Mrs. Will Mills will be leaders and seconds in the grand march that will open the ball.

"Martha-by-the-Day" and Miss May Robson in the title role made a combination at the Majestic theater last night that a large audience thoroughly enjoyed, laughed over and remained seated at the end of the play until Miss Robson had recited some rhyming verse in which she fired her parting bit of Martha philosophy in an admonition to "play the game." A very consistent character portrayal is Miss Robson's work as Martha, "Martha" being a mixture of the homely philosophy of a Mrs. Wiggs, the confusion of words of a Mrs. Malaprop and the inconsistency of any woman role that might be selected from a play or from real life. Miss Robson makes a very lovable and admirable part of the role. Many a bit of wisdom is driven home through the medium of humor and therefore leaves an impression without a sting. The most beautiful moments of the play come at the close of the first act during which Martha's intuition concerning her husband's illness, and her devotion and pluck in facing the apparently impending disaster of death with the present one of poverty, were portrayed as only an artist could act. Particular praise of the company rests upon Miss Henrietta McDannel as Cora, Edwin Brandt as Allen and Coates Cwynne as Frank Ronald.

MRS. E. H. M'DONALD CHOSEN.

Allen County Orphans' Home Trustees Hold Annual Meeting.

Mrs. E. H. McDonald was chosen to succeed the late Mrs. S. B. Bond as a member of the board of trustees at a meeting of the board to hold the annual election of officers. Other officers were re-elected and are Mrs. S. M. Foster, president; Mrs. J. C. Peters, vice president; Mrs. J. M. Kuhns, treasurer; Mrs. E. H. McDonald, secretary; Dr. L. P. Drayer, physician, and Mrs. Ida Overmyer, superintendent of the home. The board of trustees remains unchanged with the exception of the election of Mrs. McDonald. Other members are Mrs. C. S. Bash, Mrs. T. E. Ellison, Mrs. Max B. Fisher, Mrs. E. F. Yarnelle, Mrs. J. M. Landenberger and Messrs E. A. K. Hackett, W. E. Mossman, A. H. Perfect, F. E. Stouder and Theodore Wentz.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"Trojan Women," Peace Play, at the Majestic.

"Euripides' Trojan Women could hardly have moved the Athenians more than it did those that sat before it yesterday in the little auditorium of Lime street. Perhaps, indeed, the tragedy gained force by such concentration. The agony and the pity of it seemed to cry and break out of such pent environment, (with a more stripped illusion and a starker and more piercing emotion than the theater often yields, a power before which our softened emaginations both thrill and blanch—a thing of pain and yet of an infinite and purging piteousness. After all these centuries, there are few tragedies of pity that in the theater may so search and melt seeing minds and listening hearts as does 'The Trojan Women.'"—H. T. P. in The Boston Transcript.

"Trojan Women" will be presented at the Majestic Thursday evening by the famous Chicago Little Theater company.

AT THE NEW PALACE

BILL OF FUN AT PALACE.

Cecil Lean is one of the few former musical comedy stars who is even more brilliant in vaudeville than in his original line of amusement endeavor, and on the New Palace program this fun loving comedian is establishing his right to being one of the highest priced artists on the variety stage. Mr. Lean is assisted by Miss Cleo Mayfield, a fascinatingly beautiful young woman who recently became Mrs. Cecil Lean in private life. They do a decidedly clever arrangement of song specialty song numbers, including a wedding scene in which Miss Mayfield, as a blooming bride, walks down the aisle to be married by the flirtatious squire, Mr. Lean.

"After the Wedding" is the hysterically funny farce in which Edward Farrell and company are appearing. The fun is written round two pairs of newly weds who occupy adjoining rooms in a hotel and who get themselves into all manner of mixups, due to the fact that one bride is a sister of the other groom and the second bride is the ex-sister-in-law of the first groom. The fun waxes fast and furious.

AT THE EMPRESS.

That grand opera may be found in burlesque may sound as though someone were trying to do a little stringing. This is the exact state of affairs in the "Gay Widows'" show, which is playing at the Empress this week in an extraordinary attraction. The grand opera comes in with the "Five Alarcons," a family of Mexican singers, of Spanish ancestry. But this is only one of the excellent features of the bill, for it is chuck full of girls, song, dance, comedy and burlesque, which goes a long way in delivering the goods, with the average crowd of the theater today.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

"THE GHOSTBREAKER."

H. B. Warner, Noted American Actor, Appearing at the Jefferson.

"The Ghostbreaker" was originally produced at the Empire theater in New York, about four years ago, and Mr. H. B. Warner, the star, played in the piece for a run lasting over two years. In adapting the play for the screen, the Jesse L. Lasky branch of the Paramount company has elaborated considerably on the speaking version, following with faithful exactitude the scenic and dramatic dictates of the original story rather than the play, whose presentation was naturally limited by the smaller area of the legitimate stage.

"The Spanish Jane," adapted from the novel by Joseph Louis Vance and produced by the Paramount, is the Jefferson attraction for Wednesday and Thursday.

Celebrated Tragedienne at the Colonial in Powerful Drama.

It is interesting to note how, within the last few years so many of the prominent stars of the speaking have succumbed to the lure of the silent drama and entered this field of pantomime, either permanently or for a brief stay. One of the most important conversions made to the screen was that which brought the wonderful Danish tragedienne, Betty Nansen, clear from the boards of the Royal theater of Copenhagen, to the studios where she posed for a series of photodramas at a price said to be the largest ever paid to a foreign actress appearing in an American screen play.

AT THE MINUET.

Shadows of Doubt and Pathe Master Pictures Today.

The Minuet is today showing Shadows of Doubt (in three parts) and Pathe master pictures that make up a most attractive bill.

Wrapped up in his profession, Dr. Martin has no inclination for the social activities which absorb his wife's time. Science has claimed him and he is a devoted servant. A note asking them to attend a soiree, finds the wife eager, but the doctor indifferent. A visit from a needy laborer seeking aid for his stricken child is met with all the doctor's ardor. That night, while the doctor bends anxiously over his fever-tossed patient, his wife sits out a dance with Harry Vernon, a handsome young aristocrat. He sees her home and exacts from her a promise to attend a party to be given by his mother. At his mother's lawn fete, Harry renews his attentions to Mrs. Martin, and they wander through the beautiful park, happy in each other's society. Charmed by the sympathetic youth, they forget for the moment their positions, and not until it is over does she realize that their kiss involves disloyalty to her husband and child.

QUAINT ARITHMETIC CONTAINS OLD RULES

Kansas City, Mo., April 3.—A school book written entirely in long hand, containing the rules and examples of arithmetic in use more than a century ago, when compound interest was unlawful in the United States and the conception of a cylinder was a "straight solid in the shape of a rolling stone," is in the possession of a resident of this city, says the Star. The arithmetic is about twelve inches long, seven inches wide and one inch thick, bound with a cloth similar to burlap, though the weave is finer, upon heavy paper backing. The cover is somewhat mutilated, but otherwise the book is well preserved and the writing clear and legible.

There is no printed matter in the entire book. All of the rules for the different phrases of arithmetic were written in large, bold Spencerian writing at the top of the page by the teacher, and below are the problems as worked out by the original owner.

Subtraction, which was among the first subjects he tackled, is defined as that which "Teachets how to take a lesser number from a greater and thereby show the remainder or difference." From this and many other similar expressions throughout the book it does not take a wide stretch of imagination to picture knee breeches, silver buckled shoes, hoop skirts and crinoline as the prevailing mode of dress.

"If from Dublin to Cork be 101 Irish miles I demand how many barley corns will reach between the two places, allowing three barley corns to make one inch?"

So those latest untrimmed hats in shapes that fit you at 49c.

No one ever got fat eating beets—their food value is very small—but a great many people find that the succulent young vegetable puts a fine edge on a dull appetite, and they wisely add them to their spring menu.

Beets should be cooked in plenty of water, and young beets should be cooked about one hour. In removing the green tops don't cut them, but wring them from the beet roots. When cooked drop the beets into cold water and the skins will slip off.

Beets make an attractive garnish for salads.

CREAMED BEETS.

Boil and skin, slice or dice and put in dish in which they are to be served; turn over the beets a rich white sauce and serve very hot.

BUTTERED BEETS.

Boil, skin and slice young beets. Dice in large dice and turn into melted butter, allowing two tablespoonfuls of butter to two cupfuls of the diced beets Salt to taste and sprinkle top with paprika.

SUGARED BEETS.

Peel and slice cooked beets; to each pint of beets add two tablespoonfuls of sugar, three of butter; salt to taste; put in baking pan and heat in oven; stir often as they will scorch easily; especially nice way to prepare the small young beets.

BEETS IN SOUR SAUCE.

Cut cold cooked beets into large sized cubes. Make a sour sauce by melting three tablespoonfuls of butter. When melted add three tablespoonfuls of flour, blended until all lumps have disappeared (do not brown) add one-half cup of stock or water, and stir for three minutes, then add one tablespoonful of sugar and two tablespoonfuls each of cream and vinegar. Reheat the beets in the sauce and serve at once. Do not stir as the beets will become broken and the sauce discolored.

BEET SOUP.

Boil young beets until tender, drop into cold water and remove the skins Chop beets in bowl until very fine.

To each pint of chopped beets and juice, add one pint of mutton broth or beef stock and simmer fifteen minutes. Rub through a colander and set in place to keep hot. Cook together two teaspoonfuls of butter and two of flour and add two cupfuls of milk. Stir until thick and smooth, then add slowly the beet and mutton mixture. Season with salt and a dash of cayenne, serve hot in cups with dot of whipped cream on top.

I finally decided on a "flower hat" for spring. Isn't it a dream in black and white?

There's not much to it—it's the trimming that makes it so different. Notice the way the wide white messaline ribbon is drawn through the hearts of the big field daisies, and don't overlook the cunning little white rose on the brim—there are four of them, one for each corner.

White chiffon faces the upper side of the brim. It's such a featherweight of a hat and so summery looking I think I'll wear it right up to the Fourth of July.

SIMPLY CAN'T GET ENOUGH OF THE WAR

Young Bavarian, Wounded Three Times, Anxious to Serve Again.

Berlin, March 25.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—From Bohemia comes the story of a young Bavarian who has not had enough of war, notwithstanding that he has been three times wounded and was finally ordered placed on the invalid list. He presented himself at a recruiting office in a Bohemian town as a volunteer for the Austrian army, giving the following account of himself:

He had joined the Bavarian army as a volunteer in the first week of the war and received his first wound, a slight one in the arm, in the early fighting in Belgium. After five days in the field hospital he broke away and rejoined his regiment. Soon afterward he was shot through the right arm in one of the battles in France, and had to spend several weeks in a hospital. When he was finally dismissed he went forth determined to avenge his father, who had just fallen in one of the battles in the Vosges mountains. About Christmas he received a bad bayonet wound in the thigh in a battle near Lille, and after he was fairly recovered the surgeons pronounced him unfit for further service. His thirst for battle, however, was not assuaged. He went to Austria and offered himself there, pleading that he was alone in the world now, his father dead and his only sister married, so his life was of no value to anyone. But his pleading was in vain; he was turned away; and the question is now asked whether he will offer himself to the sultan.

Berlin school children are doing their part toward raising war relief funds. Each Sunday about 2,000 pupils from the public schools gather at a local theater and present a musical program that includes a series of quartet songs and chorus numbers. The financial returns from the concerts are considerable.

MORE SOLDIERS IN HOME.

Number Increases Despite High Mortality Rate of Veterans.

Lafayette, Ind., April 13.—Although the mortality rate among survivors of the civil war is rapidly increasing, the membership of the Indiana State Soldiers' home continues to increase, due to the fact that so many war veterans and their wives or widows have become so old they are obliged to seek refuge in institutions of the kind.

Colonel D. B. Kehler's annual report just issued also discloses that the high cost of living has affected the institution. Subsistence supplies cost 14.1 per cent. more during the year ending September 30, 1914, than during the previous year. The average daily attendance increased during the same year to 909. The daily average for the year preceding was 844. The enrollment September 30, 1914, was 1,417, of which number 408 were men and 909 were women.

There were eighty-four deaths during the year, forty-nine being men and thirty-five women. Colonel Kehler calls attention in his report to the fact that a custodial building for demented members is an urgent need. A special building for housing the carriage of Oliver P. Morton also is recommended. The inventory taken by the commandant shows the property of the institution to be valued at $648,747.

CUBS GET BACK ON THE FIELD

Two and a Half Day Layoff Seem to Have No Effect.

Manager Bade Myers and his beauty chorus went through a dress rehearsal on the north Calhoun street stage Tuesday morning, while a crowd of several hundred admiring fans wrapped their overcoats around themselves and looked on. The boys are working into excellent condition and the two and a half day layoff brought on them by the weather seemed to have little effect on the bunch of athletes.

The pruning process will have to begin either late Tuesday afternoon or Wednesday morning, and Myers still is trying to pick the stickers. There remain more than twenty men to pick from, and as but thirteen will stick there will have to be some mighty promising ones let go.

Smyth — pronounced Smith — the pink-topped fielder who has had the local management running to every train that pulled in from St. Louis, actually arrived Monday and got to work in the afternoon. His condition looks mighty good, too.

Barrett, the second baseman secured from Cincinnati, was released yesterday, and there still are several applicants on hand for the second sack. Smyth may be brought in from the outfield for the job, or Thompson may stick.

IN THE VET CAMP.

Francisco Signed and Bowman and Diggins Released.

Dayton, O., April 13.—Manager Compton said good-bye to two more Vets this morning as he handed them their releases. The unfortunate lads were Catcher Bowman and Pitcher Diggins. Both boys are hard workers but Jack thought them too inexperienced to stay in this class. Bowman will leave shortly for his home in ceGreenup, Ill., and Diggins will go to Urbana, his town.

As Catcher Bowman was getting ready to leave the new backstop signed by the Vets appeared on the scene. He is Nicholas Francisco. He came here from Columbus, where he makes his home, but he played with the Portsmouth team in the Ohio State league, last year.

AWAKES FROM DEAD.

Southern Michigan League, Twice Reported a Corpse, Sits Up.

Battle Creek, Mich., April 13.—Within a week every one of the six clubs that will go to make up the Southern Michigan league this year will be actively engaged in training work preparatory to the opening of the league season on April 28. Some of the clubs already have their men at conditioning work in Ohio and Indiana cities. Others will not attempt any spring training trip, but will trust to work done on home lots to have their men right for the championship games.

Prof. Young Says Danger Lies in Graduate Coaching.

The greatest danger to intercollegiate athletics in this country today lies in graduate coaching, according to Prof. C. V. P. Young, director of physical culture at Cornell. He believes that too much emphasis is placed on supremacy in athletics and that athletic coaches should become members of the faculty. He says:

"The graduate coach as a rule is a recent graduate, a man who has not yet had much experience in life, or who can look upon it from the vantage point of the home and an established position. He is apt to know little and care less about the laws of health and exercise, and is often influenced by motives and ideals which are entirely foreign to the purposes for which the institution exists. Having regard primarily for his own reputation as a coach and for the athletic prestige of his team, and with no responsibility to the teaching staff or for the scholastic work of the athletes, he will often recommend tactics and approve actions which a professional athlete even of the prize ring would be slow to countenance. He is generally paid a salary out of all proportion to the value of the service rendered, which gives him and the student body an exaggerated idea of his importance and of the real significance of the intercollegiate contest.

"Even if he does not receive any direct compensation, the graduate coach is out of place in the present highly developed state of intercollegiate athletics. There may be exceptions of course and the character of the sport may sometimes alter cases, but if we are to hold as of first importance the physical welfare of the student and the development of many instincts, then we must have men in charge who can disregard the excited and unreasoning demands of students and alumni and sacrifice victory and victories, if need be, for the sake of sportsmanship or the permanent good of those under their care; we must have in charge men who are selected because they possess qualities of leadership and are fitted to train young men, men whose age and experience gives guarantee that they will see things in their proper perspective and hold in mind constantly the real purpose of athletic competition and the real purpose for which the college or university exists."

BREAKS RECORD.

E. H. Miller Makes Big Score at Rifle Shoot.

E. H. Miller, of the Fort Wayne Rifle club, at the regular shoot Monday night broke all records for that organization, piling up a score of 94. George Gaweln and J. H. Goeglein registered 84, while Otto Brintzenhofer made 82.

"Certainly. But I thought that you were going to stop smoking?"

"So I am, but not too abruptly. I've already stopped smoking my own cigars."

Mrs. George Hardenbrook, who was injured by a fall when her foot became wedged in a switch of the Nickel Plate tracks on Jackson street, Sunday, is very much improved. She lives at 718 St. Mary's avenue.

JESS WILLARD'S LIFE STORY.

CHAMP WINS WIFE BY SAVING HER LIFE.

(By Left Hook).

CHAPTER II.

One day Jess Willard, horse trader, picked up a kicking colt by the forelegs and held the animal that way while its hind legs were sheared, and folks were always nice to him after that. Even the best "rasslers" in Pottawatomie county, Kansas, steered clear of the man who could lift the fore part of a 900-pound plunging cow-pony.

At 17 the champion of the world gave up his itinerant schooling for good and made a precarious living by wrapping his long limbs about a wild mustang and teaching parlor manners to the outlaw. Jess didn't take up this business seriously until in the early twenties.

At the time cow ponies—unbroken ones—were as plentiful in Kansas as mosquitoes in New Jersey, and about as valuable. Willard used to buy them up for a few dollars, break them and sell for a good profit. He boasted that there never was a horse that could throw him, and none that he couldn't make quit and do his bidding. And no one contradicted him. It wasn't healthy.

He was driving leisurely along a narrow road one Sunday afternoon when the sound of hoofbeats, as the dime novels say, awakened him from his reverie. He looked behind and saw a plunging, raging team dashing toward him at breakneck speed.

Willard lashed on his horse. The road was not wide enough for two carriages to pass and a deep ditch lay on either side. But on came the runaways. A collision was imminent.

Just as the dashing team was about to crash into Willard's buggy and send the occupants of both outfits to death in the ravine below, Jess stood up in the seat, reached out his long arms to grasp the bits, and steadied the beasts.

He saved the lives of two men and two women, for in the front seat of the runaway carriage sat B. R. Evans, of Emmett, and his wife. In the back seat was Hattie, now Mrs. Jess Willard, and mother of four little Willards.

Jess naturally thought that his act entitled him to some consideration from the Evans family, but winning Hattie was accomplished only after he had overcome fully as many obstacles as the aforementioned hero of the melodrama.

While the Evanses were duly thankful to the big horse trainer they didn't exactly place him as a member of one of the first families of Pottawatomie county and he was barred from the house.

But that didn't deter Jess. He would drive up in the best outfit his livery stable afforded and Hattie would come out and climb into the buggy. Then for a spin back and forth over the main street of Emmett and perhaps a soda at the drug store.

"Hattie Had to Climb the Fence to Go Buggy Riding With Jess."

However, Hattie's pa was not to be outwitted. He padlocked the gate and the fence was high.

For seven years father-in-law and mother-in-law spoke disdainfully of Jess as "Hattie's husband." On Tuesday, April 7, when Pa Evans got back from Topeka, where he went to hear the fight returns, they started calling him "our son-in-law."

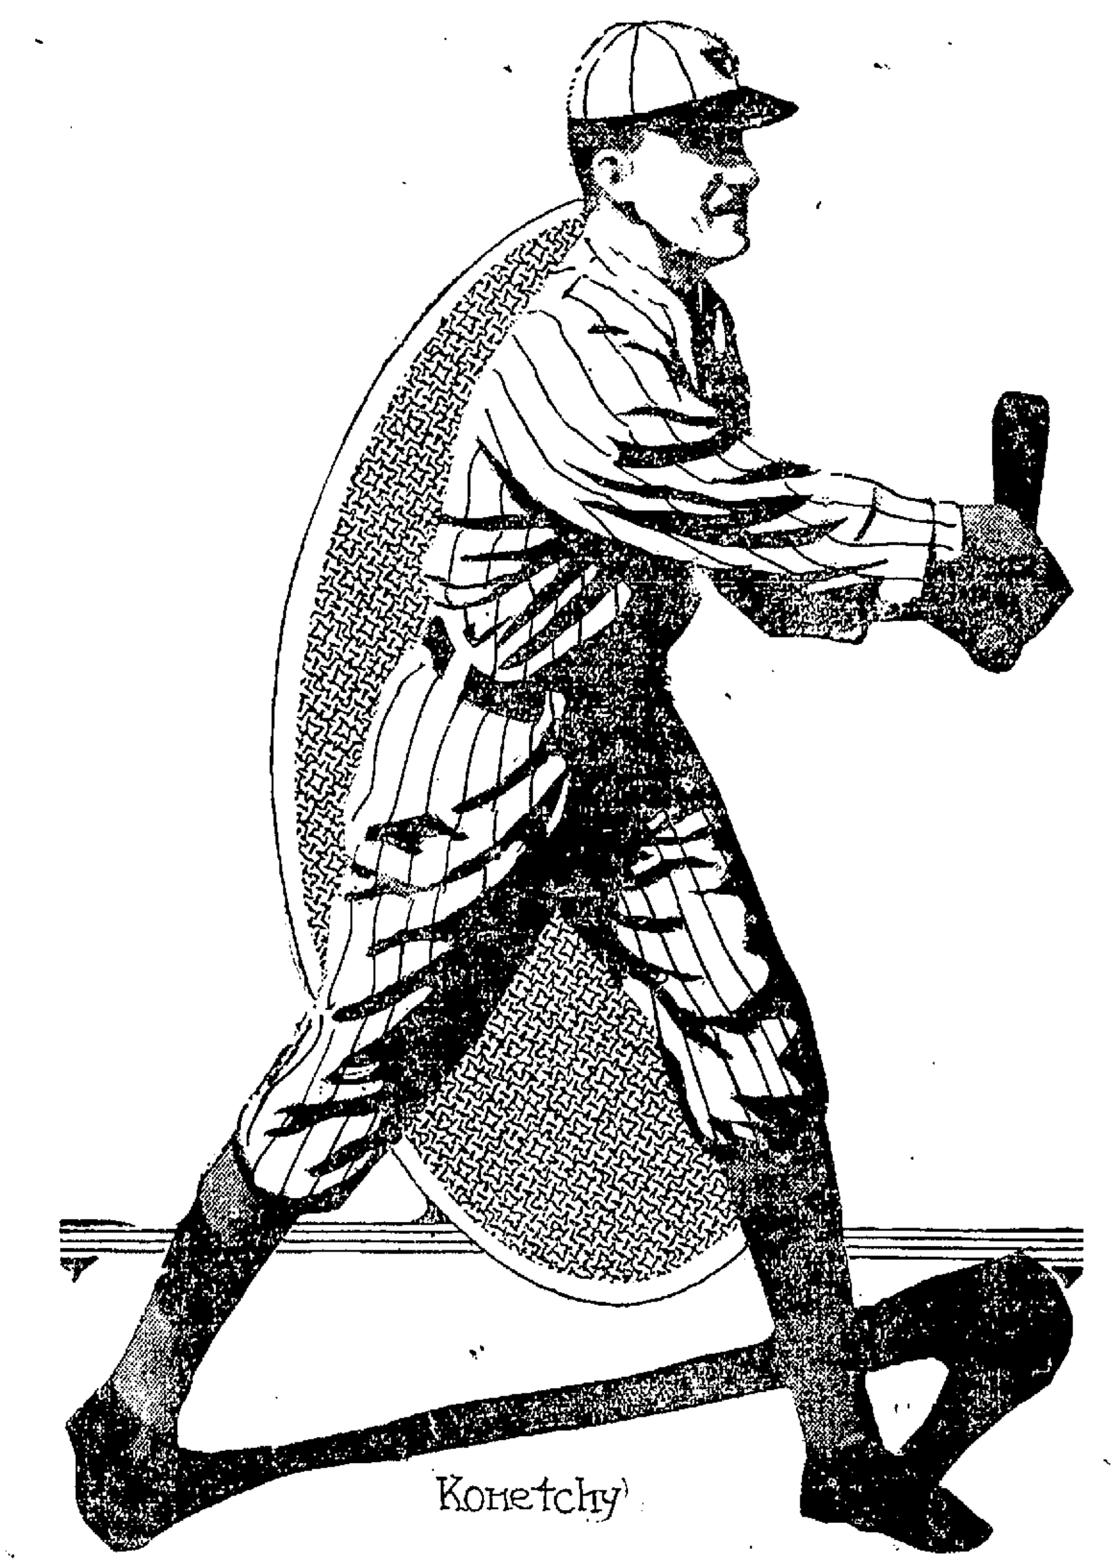
FIRST BIG LEAGUE HOME RUN SMASH.



The honor of driving out the first home run of the big league baseball season goes to Ed Konetchy, formerly of the St. Louis Cardinals, and now first baseman for the Pittsburg Federals. Koney made his drive on opening day at Kansas City and the wallop was good for three runs. Bennie Kauff drove out a homer the same day for Brooklyn against Buffalo but the game is likely to be thrown out. Grover Land returned to catch the rest of the game after he was taken out to let Howard run for him.

REINDEER MEAT FOR AMERICAN TABLE SOON

Washington, April 13.—Reindeer meat may soon make its appearance on the American table as the result of efforts now being made by the department of the interior, through the bureau of education, to introduce reindeer meat into the continental United States. It is said to possess a flavor as fine almost as that of venison.

Heretofore virtually the entire supply of reindeer meat was needed for home consumption, but recently there has been such a surplus that government officials have decided to open up this industry for the Eskimo natives.

The meat already has appeared on the menu in dining cars of trans-continental railroads and is said to have met with instant favor.

At present there are sixty-five herds of reindeer in Alaska, aggregating 57,872, an increase of 22 per cent. in the last year. From the sale of meat and hides 980 native owners last year received an income of $77,934.

Baltimore, Md., April 12.—Because Miss M. Carey Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr college, survived her friend and close associate, Miss Mary Garrett, Johns Hopkins university loses the residuary estate of Miss Garrett, which is estimated at $5,000,000, while Bryn Mawr college loses a direct bequest of $200,000.

Miss M. Carey Thomas.

These provisions are contingent upon the testator's surviving Miss Thomas. As the latter is in good health, the educational institutions lose their claims, and Miss Thomas gets the bulk of the estate absolutely.

The will contains a clause which indicates Miss Garrett's confidence that Miss Thomas will at some time dispose of the estate according to her wishes, although she is given absolute control.

JUST FROM PRISON; AGAIN LOCKED UP

John Williams, arrested for being drunk and trying to peddle a new pair of overalls to get drunker, told Judge Kerr in the city court Tuesday morning that he was a man of sorrows. He said that he had been wrongfully convicted in Decatur of a band in railway car robberies and sent to the Michigan City prison, where after serving fifteen months he received a pardon five days ago. He was on his way back to Decatur and stubbed his toe when he got within hitting distance of Fort Wayne booze. He was arrested Monday night by Officer Charles Eisenhut and locked up when he could not give a good account of himself and the garment he was trying to peddle. Chief Lenz recalls that about a year and a half ago, while he was in the service of the Grand Rapids and Indiana railway as a detective, he assisted the special officer of the Erie railroad at Decatur to clean up some car robberies and that some men were sent to prison for the work. He did not identify Williams as one of the men.

Mouth Got Him in Trouble.

Charles Gibhardt didn't like it a bit when Officer George Heller remonstrated with him for beating a horse and pursued the officer to talk it over, which he did in a turbulent and threatening manner. He was arrested and booked for disorderly conduct, a charge upon which he was convicted in the city court and Judge Kerr fined him $10 and costs. He paid.

Other City Court Cases.

Charles Shall, arrested on a drunk charge by Detective Sergeant Joseph Brennan, was continued until the 20th inst. and locked up in default of $200 bond. He had been trying to dispose of a valuable gold watch and is also said to have stolen a bicycle from the office of the Dunn coal yard. He can give no good account of himself and his possession of the watch and is believed to be a criminal and parole violator. He will be investigated.

Hugh Hunter, Walter B. Williams and Chas. Hays, three colored men, were arrested by Detective Sergeant Pappert and charged with vagrancy. Hunter was turned loose, Williams continued until the 16th and Hays until the 14th. They were caught in a dragnet thrown out for colored hoboes in the effort to run down a negro murderer wanted in Kirkwood, Mo., and reported Monday to have headed this way from Peru, Ind.

Henrietta Anderson and Ely Demitroff, arrested in a rooming house several days ago, were continued until the 21st. They have since been married and last week the woman tried to commit suicide by poison and is still in the hospital.

GROCERY IS BURGLARIZED.

Burglars entered the E. A. Orr grocery 2028 Calhoun street, Monday night, by breaking the transom of a rear door. Two sacks of flour, some boxes of cigars and $4 in change taken from the cash register constituted the loot so far as the proprietor could ascertain Tuesday morning.

FORGER CLAIMS FORT WAYNE.

The local police do not identify as belonging to Fort Wayne a man known as C. L. Holcomb, alias C. L. Lanning, alias J. L. Flannagan, who has been convicted in Hornell, N. Y., of passing worthless checks and sentenced to a year in the penitentiary, although he claims this city as his home.

LOCKRIDGE SPEAKS TO REAL ESTATE MEN

Ross F. Lockridge, secretary of the Citizens' League of Indiana, was the principal speaker Tuesday afternoon at the regular weekly noon day meeting of the Fort Wayne Real Estate exchange at the Commercial club. He took for his subject the "Need of a New Constitution for Indiana."

Announcement was made at the meeting that Tom Ingersoll, executive secretary of the national association of real estate exchanges, would be here on May 4 and speak to the members of the local exchange. Other speakers of prominence will be here on that date.

Mr. Lockridge has devoted all his time since leaving college to the conduct of an educational campaign of study and discussion throughout the state of needed constitutional improvements and in his address Tuesday he told of the work that had been done. The Citizens League of Indiana was founded in Fort Wayne last July and is now a state-wide organization with headquarters in Indianapolis. The governing body of the league is an executive committee of fifteen members, representing all districts of the state. Theodore F. Thieme and S. F. Bowser are members of this committee.

Mr. Lockridge declared that largely through the activities of the league the new constitution movement is rapidly gaining strength and influence with all civic and business interests. The league was successful in defeating the twenty-two Stotsenburg lost amendments in the legislature, he explained, and the way is now clear for the calling of a constitutional convention by the legislature in 1917. He gave it as his opinion that all parties will declare for this program as an omnipartisan measure of progress to meet the changes of the sixty-four years of history since the present constitution was written.

Mr. Lockridge explained that business interests are being strongly drawn to this movement because of the need of up-to-date revision of city government and in taxation. The present tax system, he said, is especially unjust to real estate, which must bear far more than its proportionate share of the tax burden now and it is therefore natural that the Indiana Real Estate association should be foremost in the movement for a new constitution. Mr. Lockridge has been invited before the real estate exchanges of most of the larger cities of the state. He started that the real estate men throughout Indiana are becoming the most active leaders on behalf of a constitutional convention.

Kobe, Japan, April 13.—There was no panic on board the steamship Minnesota when she ran on a rock off Iwajima at the entrance to the inland sea of Japan Sunday night, according to passengers brought here by the steamer Oanfa. The night was calm but the weather was thick and foggy when a grating sound was felt at 8:45 p. m. It was found that the vessel had grounded three miles out of her course.

Some of the women aboard became hysterical but excellent order was maintained and many of the passengers even returned to their berths upon the assurance of the officers that there was no danger. The Oanfa, which the Minnesota previously had passed, arrived about 1 a. m. to render aid in response to distress signals. About 100 passengers were transferred to the Oanfa without accident and arrived at Kobe today.

Among them was Mrs. Francis Burton Harrison, wife of the governor of the Philippines, who said they had suffered little inconvenience as the result of the accident. She spoke in the highest terms of the kindness of the Oanfa's officers and crew who placed the entire vessel at the disposal of the Minnesota's passengers and did everything possible to make them comfortable. The governess of the Harrison children was detained aboard the Oanfa with two other German passengers because of the war regulations which requires special permits for Germans to enter Japan. At the request of the American embassy, however, the foreign office has granted permission for the governess of the Harrison children to land and the other German passengers will be permitted to do so if they desire. Fifty steerage passengers still are aboard the Minnesota with the Yakumo standing by to give assistance if it is needed. The persons who were brought here were quartered at hotels and probably will be sent to the United States aboard other steamers.

TELLS POSITIVE CURE FOR ALL FOOT TROUBLES

Science has proven that nearly all foot troubles originate from a common cause, that of injured tissues. The following information will be welcomed by thousands of victims of daily foot torture. No matter how many patent medicines you have tried in vain, this treatment, well known to foot doctors, will do the work: "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet for a full fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts." The effects are marvelous. All pain disappears instantly and the feet feel simply delightful. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off. Bunions, aching feet and sweaty, smelly feet get immediate relief. Use this treatment a week and your foot troubles will be a thing of the past. Calocide works through the pores and removes the cause. Don't waste time. Get it at once. Any druggist has Calocide in stock or will get it from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent box is said to be enough to cure the worst feet. Don't be persuaded to take something else instead. Calocide is prepared only at laboratories of Medical Formula Co., of Dayton, O., and Chicago, Ill.

STRUCK BY TRAIN WHILE PICKING COAL

Unknown Foreigner Killed While Trespassing at Tolleston.

Depot attaches, passengers and trainmen were subjected to a most shocking sight at Tolleston, Ind., this morning, at 6:30 o'clock. At that hour a woman of foreign birth who was trespassing on the Pennsylvania tracks, picking up coal, was struck by train No. 15 and instantly killed. The accident happened at a point immediately in front of the residence of the family and was also witnessed by some of the neighbors. The train was stopped, the body picked up, taken to the Tolleston depot and turned over to the coroner. The train was in charge of Conductor Tom M. Hall and was pulled by engine 7018, with Engineer Frank Archer at the throttle. The name of the woman was not obtained.

FORMERLY LIVED HERE.

J. E. Muhlfeld, President of Big Fuel Company.

The Locomotive Pulverized Fuel company, recently organized, and the men who direct its affairs are extensively written up in the last number of the Railway Age Gazette. One of the officers, John E. Muhlfeld, resided in Fort Wayne some years ago, when he was employed by the Wabash company, is the president. He is well known here and at other places on the Wabash system, because of the character of his work, which brought him in touch with the road men and the shop employes. He spent the period of his apprenticeship in Fort Wayne, going to Peru to be general foreman of the shops. He left the Wabash in 1899 and since has been master mechanic of the Grand Trunk; assistant to the superintendent of motive power of the Baltimore and Ohio, with headquarters at Baltimore; motive power superintendent at Newark; general superintendent of motive power of the B. & O., and vice president and general manager of the Kansas City Southern.

WILL ENLARGE PLANT.

Sears Food Product Company Must Increase Facilities.

D. M. Sears, president of the Sears Food Products company, announced yesterday that the company would build an addition to its plant that will enable them to triple the output. It will be a two story brick structure 200x160 feet. Mr. Sears also stated that the company, in order that it might get a supply of raw material to work on in its canning department, had leased ninety-five acres of land near Hunter, Mo., and seventy-five acres near Pelasco, Texas, of which pickles for the Fort Wayne shop will be grown. In this way the company will get its supply two or three weeks earlier than it is able to get it under present methods. The company is now working forty-five men at the plant; when the addition is finished and equipped it will be able to work a force of 150 men.

SIXTY-SEVEN TODAY.

Watchman Alf. Raifsnyder is Rounding Out Another Year.

Alfred Raifsnyder, watchman at the Pennsylvania shops, is sixty-seven years old today, but that fact is not interfering with his duties, which he is performing as usual. A few days ago, April 7, Mr. Raifsnyder passed the fiftieth year of his service with the Pennsylvania company. He commenced work in the capacity of rodman with the engineering department and remained at it four years, when he entered the train service. In brief his connection with the road included a service of four or five years with the engineering corps, ten years as brakeman and conductor, twenty-one years as night yardmaster and six years as watchman at the shops.

ANKLE BADLY BROKEN.

WILL BE INTERRED HERE.

Remains of Joseph Wood Will Arrive Next Week.

The remains of Joseph Wood, the locomotive engineer who died in Panama April 5, are en route to Fort Wayne. They will arrive in New York either Saturday or Sunday and will be immediately forwarded to this city by express. This is the information Mrs. Frank T. Benoy, the sister of the deceased, received yesterday.

FOUND WITH LEG BROKEN.

While en route to the Pennsylvania round house this morning, Assistant Foreman E. B. Hughes found Eli Hill seated at the side of the Wabash tracks with one of his legs so badly injured he could not use it. Mr. Hughes called the police ambulance and the injured man was taken to St. Joseph hospital, where it developed that the bone of the injured leg was broken. It could not be learned how the accident happened, but it is thought Hill was thrown in trying to get on a train.

FINED AND SENTENCED TO JAIL.

Capt. H. C. Stoll, of the Pennsylvania police department, has been advised that Frank McCarthy was fined $25 and received a sixty days' jail sentence and Walter Sullivan was fined $10 and sentenced to thirty days in jail at Gary yesterday. The men were arrested when found in a car after they had broken open a box and taken out some merchandise.

Ex-Governor Insures Whole Regiments of British Troops in Canada.

Pasadena, Cal., April 13.—"The European war isn't hurting the life insurance business a bit. Just before I left home I insured a whole regiment of Canadian soldiers at $1,000 apiece. If they live a year the company will be no loser in event of their deaths, so it isn't any big risk to take."

This statement was made by former Governor Morgan G. Bulkeley, of Connecticut.

Mr. Bulkley was governor from 1889 to 1893, a United States senator from Connecticut from 1905 to 1911, mayor of Hartford from 1880 to 1888, and is now president of the Aetna Life Insurance company.

He declared that business prospects in the east are brighter and that he looks for good times ahead.

"The war is all right as long as it stays over on the other side of the Atlantic," he said. "Let them fight it out. But you never can tell what may happen. As for the present administration, I don't like it. They say Mr. Bryan is liable to do anything but to take a drink.

"I have watched the working of the new federal reserve bank, but to me it seems as if there was never any necessity for it. When I was in the senate we handled matters in much the same way under the provision of the old Aldrich bill, issuing $500,000,000 in notes which bankers put away in their safes, buying new safes for the purpose, and much of it is there still. I suppose, now that the federal reserve banking system will have to work out. Such things are not changed until they have been given a trial. But I never could see any need of it."

BABIES ARE TAUGHT SEVEN LANGUAGES

New York, April 3.—More than a thousand persons were turned away from the Cort theater, where Mrs. Winifred Sackville Stoner, of Pittsburgh, Pa., gave a demonstration how to teach children seven languages before they are five years old.

A large part of those in the audience were children, and excited laughs and giggles bubbled through the theater when the curtain rose, showing rocking horses and nothing more suggestive of the school room than a set of little globes.

"I wish Andy Carnegie would burn up all his libraries, especially the grammars," said Mrs. Stoner, as she opened the lecture. "Nothing more absurd than grammar was ever invented."

Put an End to Examinations.

Whatever the children in the audience may have thought of the new method of education they were plainly much elated and cheered vociferously. Held in check by a prudent parent, one little boy cried, "Hi!" and nearly fell over the gallery edge when Mrs. Stoner admitted that "Goldsmith had to be fed with gingerbread before he would go to school."

Mrs. Stoner was plainly on the side of the teachers.

"They are overworked, underpaid and have altogether too little consideration," she said. "The first thing that ought to be abolished in our public school system is examinations. They are the bane of the schools and are responsible for many cases of shattered nerves among our children. Children should love to go to school and it ought not to be more necessary to ring a bell to summon pupils than to mark the time for the opening of the movies."

HAS DIRECTED THE AFFAIRS OF ELECTRIC WORKS' DISPENSARY TWO YEARS.

MRS. NORA LEE TURNER, Trained Nurse.

This morning the dispensary at the Fort Wayne Electric works started the third year of its existence, under the efficient management of Mrs. Nora Lee Turner, a nurse of wide experience. A compilation of the cases of sickness and accidents handled by Mrs. Turner shows that during the two years there were just 16,533. Only a small per centage of these were serious enough to require attention from Dr. Fred Schulz, the company surgeon. The prompt attention given injuries received by the employes at the works has no doubt prevented a number of infected cases which might have led to blood poisoning and probably fatal results. A record is made of each case, no matter how slight the wound.

KING OF NEWSBOYS IN FORT WAYNE

SAM TOMISON.

All hail boys! The king is here! Fort Wayne Sentinel newsboys and carriers are happy, with the prospects of a pleasant week ahead of them. Beginning today the Sentinel will furnish a solid week of entertainment for the little street merchants. This will include visits to all of the local theaters, at various times of the day.

The occasion for this treat is the visit to Fort Wayne of Sam Tomison, of St. Louis, widely known throughout the United States and Canada as the "King of Newsboys." He will conduct the theater parties in person. Tomison has visited every city of importance in these two countries, teaching the newsies all of the latest wrinkles in the art of newspaper salesmanship. This is the age of specialists, and Tomison is a specialist of the highest type in his particular line. While here Tomison will appear on the down town streets the latter part of the week, selling the Daily Sentinel in his usual manner. Any persons passing through the business district during the time he is here and hearing a strange piercing cry are cautioned not to send for the police or fire department, as it will only be Sam telling the people the contents of the Daily Sentinel in his usual voice, and it is really said that his voice would make Caruso turn green with envy.

While here Tomison will instruct the newsies how to sell papers on their merits and how to specialize on various features appearing on the front pages, from day to day.

The king has been a newsboy all his life, starting out as the smallest newsboy in St. Louis, Mo., at the age of six years. After selling the dailies for 9 years he branched out with his original work, having met with phenomenal success in his seven years of travel. Every newsboy in Fort Wayne is invited to call at the Sentinel office today until 5:30 p. m., where they will receive free tickets for the big week of fun. For the opening treat today the boys will all meet at the Sentinel office at 5:30 p. m. where they will form a line of march to the Jefferson theater, where a good show is promised them by Mr. Quimby, the manager. Big parade starts promptly at 6 p. m. Be there on time. Greet the king.

Spain by royal order has made the annual celebration of Arbor day obligatory, a part of the expenses of tree planting to be borne by municipalities.

WIFE APPLIES FOR A LIMITED DIVORCE

Maud Daseler Says There Is No Getting Along With Husband.

The first application for a limited divorce that has been applied for in a good many months was filed in the superior court Tuesday when Maud Daseler begun action against Charles Daseler for separation from bed and board. The two were married in 1898, separated and have lived apart since the 19th of last March and have no children. She says she has been a good, faithful and attentive wife, whereas her husband, without cause, has treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner, calling her vile and abusive names, cursing and swearing at her, staying out late at night, ignoring her, refusing to accompany her anywhere in public and associating with women of lewd reputation over her remonstrances. She has procured from the court an order restraining the defendant from molesting her at her home, 619 Madison stret, removing or in any way disposing of some household furniture he has there and accosting her anywhere she may be.

Bessie Ross Gets $1,600.

By agreement of the parties to the action judgement for $1,600 has been given in the superior court to the Citizens' Trust company, guardian of Bessie Ross, a minor, in suit brought against Oscar C. Liggett, Adelaide V. Liggett and Alfred T. Bailey, owners of the Banner Laundry, for $2,500 damages. Bessie Ross is the girl who, while operating a machine called a flatiron worker or calendar roller in the laundry February 19, last, had one of her hands so badly crushed that amputation was necessary. It is stated in the complaint that while Bessie Ross at the time of her employment was a minor and of an age that made her employment illegal, the defendants were not aware of this.

Notes of the Courts.

Christ Presvelos has begun action in the superior court against John Marandy to collect $725 on a promissory note.

The Tri-State Loan & Trust company, as guardian of Augustine Denner, a minor, has petitioned the circuit court for authority to pay to Robert B. Dreibelbiss as attorney's fee, one third of $400 he obtained in a settlement with the General Electric company for injuries sustained by Denner while in the company's employ. The petition states that the fee is a wholly just claim as the case was of doubtful character as relating to the company's responsibility.

The trial of the case of Dee Weaver against the city for $24,000 damages, before a jury in the superior court, was halted at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon owing to the illness of Judge O. N. Heaton, one of counsel for the plaintiff.

In the superior court Edna Laemmermann Minton has brought suit against Fred Woehnker for $700 for money had and received. The plaintiff is the young woman whose scalp was torn off in an accident at the Troy laundry, April 9, 1908, and in her complaint she says she received in 1910, $900 in settlement of her claim and that of this she gave Woehnker $750 to employ for her use and benefit. He has returned $185 and there is now due $565 with some interest.

MAY MAKE PARK AT HISTORIC MARKER

Members of the park board, Secretary C. J. Steiss, Councilmen Hartman and Keller, of the council committee on parks, public buildings and grounds and some others interested formed a party that viewed the triangular tract of land at the junction of Wayne trace, New Haven avenue and Warren street, Tuesday afternoon, to consider the plan of the park board to purchase it and create a small park there. On this tract is the big boulder with an inset tablet placed there some years ago by the Mary Penrose Wayne Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution to mark a historic trail that bore a conspicuous part in the affairs of early Fort Wayne.

Schick Test for Diphtheria Being Tried at Health Office.

The Schick test for diphtheria, a discovery of Prof. Schick, an eminent savant of Vienna, is undergoing a test at the city health office under the administration of Dr. J. H. Gilpin, secretary of the health board, and a number of prominent physicians, including Dr. Gilpin, are the subjects. The Schick test consists of mildly innoculating the subject with diphtheria toxin to determine whether or not the subject is suspectible to the disease or immune to it. Many persons, both infants and adults, are immune to diphtheria. The Schick tests determines which are and which are not. A reaction from the inoculation shows susceptibility. The advantage of the test is that at a trifling cost and without risk it can be determined whether the subject, especially in the cases of children, should be given an immunizing treatment with diphtheria anti-toxin or not. The anti-toxin treatment is quite expensive, but is frequenty resorted to, especially in families where diphtheria has developed and in the cases of children exposed at school. The Schick test shows where immunization is necessary. The results of the tests made at the health office by Dr. Gilpin will be reported at the meeting of the Twelfth District Medical society Wednesday in this city.

WILL AMEND THE ORDINANCE.

The ordinance providing for the annexation of the Harrison Hill addition of fifty-seven acres south of the city limits and west of Calhoun street will be reported to the city council in amended form by the committee of the whole Tuesday evening in such wise as to include a strip of land 150 feet wide on the east side of Calhoun street. The object of this is to make possible the paving of Calhoun street as far south as McKinnie avenue. The companies back of the additions have agreed to pay the entire cost of the pavement, including the cost of intersections. Councilman Rogge conferred with the board of works Tuesday and got a written statement of the board's agreement with the companies as to pavement, the bearing of the cost of putting in light wires, sewers and water mains.

FITCH TO ADDRESS COUNCIL.

Charles B. Fitch will address the city council Tuesday evening on the proposal of the Quest club that a high pressure auxiliary water system be installed in the business district to increase the city protection against fire and for the motorization of the fire department.

NEW FLOOR FOR BRIDGE.

The city and the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company have reached an agreement for jointly bearing the cost of putting a new floor in the Wells street bridge.

At the regular monthly meeting of the board of trustees of the Indiana School for Feeble Minded Youth, Tuesday, officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Anthony M. Ellering, Michigan City, president; James W. Sale, Bluffton, vice president; Mary R. Harper, Fort Wayne, secretary, and Edward M. Wilson, Fort Wayne, treasurer.

Bids for furnishing the supplies for the institution during the coming year were opened, each item being taken up separately by the board. Before adjournment the contract for the elevator to be installed in the new building will also be awarded.

COMMITTEES MEET FRIDAY.

All women who have in charge petitions to have a woman appointed on the public school board of trustees are requested to meet at 10:30 o'clock on Friday morning at the public library and bring their petitions. Women have been presenting these petitions to men of the railroad shops and many other big business concerns and establishments to be signed and a long list of names of voters is expected to be gathered in at this meeting.

FURNISHES CASH BOND.

J. G. Kimberlin, the man who was arrested with Adeline Campbell in their South Hanna street home, where they had been living in unlawful cohabitation, furnished cash bond for his release from jail Tuesday afternoon, putting up $200, the amount fixed by the city court, where he was arraigned last week on a statutory charge. The federal authorities have not yet made any charges against Kimberlin under the Mann white slave act for having brought the Campbell woman into Indiana from another state and the man is free.

IN THE CHURCHES

SEVENTY YEARS OLD TODAY.

Rt. Rev. Herman J. Alerding Celebrates Birthday Anniversary.

Rt. Rev. Herman Joseph Alerding, bishop of the diocese of Fort Wayne, is seventy years old today. While there were no special observances for the occasion, many friends among the clergy and laity extended good wishes and congratulations. The devoted prelate has been bishop of the Fort Wayne diocese for fifteen years and under his administration has become one of the leading ones in the country. His many friends entertain the earnest wish that he will continue in health and happiness for many years to come.

ORGANIZATION FORMED.

Officers Are Elected by Ladies' Auxiliary of Company D.

At a meeting of a number of women eligible to membership a ladies' auxiliary of Company D, Third Infantry, was organized Monday evening and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. J. E. Miller; vice president, Mrs. Frank R. Whiteley; secretary, Mrs. Howard Miller; treasurer, Mrs. C. W. Arnold. The auxiliary will meet every Friday evening at the armory on Berry street.

P. A. Davis, quartermaster general, visited the armory Monday and instructed Captain Miller to advertise for proposals for the necessary repairs and improvements to the outdoor range property of the company on the Kreager farm. Davis' headquarters are in Indianapolis. Many improvements are contemplated, including the digging of a well and the widening of the foot path to the road. The range building also is to be enlarged.

TWO NEW ROADS.

Two new roads are to be built in Wayne township this spring and summer. The Hart road will be extended from Fairfield avenue east to the Decator road and the Randall road will be built from the Huntington road to the Liberty Mills road.

speaking. Though attempts were made to deny outrages against the sisters, they are now admitted; but the worst of this story has never been told. One hundred and fifty sisters once left Mexico City for Vera Cruz during the American occupation. The train arrived empty. They were taken off by the revolutionists on the way.

"If the United States is to be the friend and sister of Mexico, to the advantage of both, our citizens must rid themselves of a multitude of inherited prejudices and substitute a spirit of understanding for a spirit of greed. There is more to be had in Mexico than oil and mining concessions. I have no wish to condemn business enterprise, but it is poor business that depends for success from machine guns.

"Mexicans need 'good government' and we have a show of giving it to them by telling them fairly and honestly that we will help no government set up by thieves, nor any government that is not founded on the principles of equal justice to all.

"Mexico needs 'good religion.' She has the mother church of Christendom, but chained and bound by laws that were intended to kill her. Mexico's history shows that she will accept no other religion. Mexico needs 'good education.' Make every educational work free, under democratic and wise laws. See that the teacher is not penalized, his work destroyed and his endowments seized by rapacious banditti. Give help to every effort for the instruction of the masses. Would we in these United States think of confiscating the hundreds of millions of dollars invested in private educational endowments for the universities of Harvard or Yale, or Chicago or Princeton, because they are private and not state institutions; would we think of killing off the endowments, human devotion and self-sacrifice of Washington, Georgetown and Notre Dame because they are religious institutions? Then why give approval by a pleased look or a smirking silence when these same things are done in Mexico by bandits with American weapons in their hands?"

THE DEATHS

KLAFFEI.

Carl Klaffei, aged 52 years, died at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Lutheran hospital following an illness of several weeks. Two weeks ago he suffered a stroke of paralysis. He was born in Latel, Westphalia, Germany, but had resided here for many years at 1114 Ewing street.

He was a member of the Bruederlicher Unterstuetzungs verein and of the Kreis Stolzenau and was also a member of the Emmanuel Lutheran church. Besides the widow he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Glenn H. Houser.

CHRISTI.

Mrs. Amphiel Christi died at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning at the county farm following an illness of several months due to lung trouble.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Kramer—Funeral services for George Kramer will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 at the C. J. Ulmer parlors. The services will be in charge of No. 1 Benevolent Order of Buffaloes and employes of the Eckart Packing company.

Treuchet—Funeral services for Mrs. Felicia Treuchet will be held Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the residence, 416 Masterson avenue, and at 9 o'clock at the St. Patrick's Catholic church. Interment in the Catholic cemetery.

I. O. O. F. ROLL CALL.

The regular meeting of the Mathematics club of the Fort Wayne high and manual training school will be held in room 17 Friday evening.

who was not in court yesterday, appeared at the jail last night and asked to be locked up. The jailer, however, had no commitment papers for Kintz and he was told to report to Judge Anderson today and receive his papers. Kintz said he had been ill in bed.

The bonds, in addition to the large amounts, must provide for the payment of the costs of the case, amounting to more than $12,000, and also must guarantee the payment of the fine, if the case is upheld by the higher courts.

Walsh Also Quits Appeal.

Maurice Walsh, county sealer of weights and measures, and treasurer of the democratic county committee withdrew from the appeal this afternoon and was handed his commitment papers. He was permitted to remain at his home until Sunday noon and will make the trip to Leavenworth with the four who withdrew from the appeal late yesterday, without guards.

Walsh was sentenced to serve a year and a day in the Leavenworth prison and to pay a fine of $100.

Before sentence was passed yesterday he declared in open court that he was "absolutely innocent of any wrong intentions." Judge Anderson retorted that the defendant seemed to "regard the Indiana corrupt practice act as a huge joke," and then discussed Walsh's statement of campaign receipts and expenditures, declaring that "it was as false as false could be." The withdrawal of Walsh from the appeal, leaves fifteen still seeking release on appeal bonds.

advised against the part he was taking during the last few months in the management of the paper, he refused to obey them, reminding them that it was in the building of the Star he had been happiest and that he would not be content without something to occupy his mind.

During the last month, however, Mr. Nelson had been conscious only at intervals. At each period his mind was clear, he constantly asked questions about his newspaper and the members of its staff.

Native of Fort Wayne.

William Rockhill Nelson was founder, owner and editor of the Kansas City Star. Although he did not enter the newspaper business until he was nearly forty years old, he brought to it such originality, ability and energy that he built up one of the greatest newspapers of the country.

Mr. Nelson was born in Fort Wayne, Ind., March 7, 1841. He came of two centuries of American ancestors. His maternal grandfather, William Rockhill, settled in Indiana when that state was a wilderness in 1819, and was the first farmer in America to plant a thousand acres of corn. His father, Isaac DeGroff Nelson, was identified with the upbuilding of the state and took an active hand in its political life.

William Rockhill Nelson was educated at Notre Dame university. After a short experience as a youngster in cotton growing in Georgia, just after the war, he returned to Indiana and became a general contractor. He engaged in the building of roads, pavements and bridges, and was associated in a contract for the construction of the Southern Illinois State penitentiary.

Intense admiration for the reform work of Samuel J. Tilden brought him into contact with that great democrat and when only thirty-four years old, he became Tilden's Indiana campaign manager. His interest in political leadership made him turn to newspaper work as the best way to influence men in the mass. He bought an interest in the Fort Wayne Sentinel and a business reverse determined him to devote all his time to journalism.

Goes to Kansas City.

He soon became convinced that the opportunities in Fort Wayne were too small, and after looking the field over, he decided on Kansas City as the most promising city of the country. He persuaded his Fort Wayne partner, Samuel E. Morss, to make the venture with him. They sold their Fort Wayne interests, went to Kansas City and started The Evening Star as a little, four page afternoon newspaper, on September 18, 1880. Mr. Morss withdrew from the enterprise after a few months on account of ill health, and Mr. Nelson continued as sole owner and editor-in-chief.

Essentially a builder, he took an intense interest in the development of the city. Almost from the first issue the Star urged the necessity of paving the streets, of getting a park system, of building attractive houses, of planting shrubbery and trees. Mr. Nelson himself had the trees set along the first Kansas City boulevard. He was constantly instigating movements for city betterment.

One of his achievements was the residence district, which he laid out near his home as an example of what could be done toward city beautification. He built nearly a hundred modest houses along roads which he lined with stone walls covered with honeysuckles and crimson ramblers. He was intensely interested in fine pictures and he made a collection of reproductions of European masterpieces done by the best artists who could be found, which he gave to Kansas City.

Never a Candidate.

In politics he was, as he often said, "independent but never neutral." But he would never consider any elective or appointive position. Early in President Taft's administration the suggestion was made in newspaper reports that he might be appointed ambassador to France. He commented editorially as follows: "The editor of the Star is amply occupied, sustained and satisfied with his present job. He regards himself as holding a place of greater responsibility and usefulness than any within the gift of the president, or the electorate. Not only has he never been a candidate, active or receptive, for any office, but he never has asked for the appointment of any one else."

Plan Formed in Chicago to Provide Training for Young Printers.

Chicago, April 8.—A course for printers' apprentices is being made up in the public schools of Chicago, and it is hoped to get it into operation by the first of May. Twenty-five employers have agreed to let off some 107 boys half a day a week for instruction, which will be given free. The length of the course will be five years, or as long as a boy remains an apprentice, and forty weeks each year. No reduction will be made in the boys' wages.

What a printer boy needs to know in relation to his trade will be taught by a special teacher. The course is divided into six parts. The first deals with English, including grammar, spelling, proofreading, preparing copy and the reading and study of some work of literature; the second division takes up arithmetic, including paper table, type measurement, estimating composition, manuscript, etc., and simple bookkeeping. The remainder of the course considers drawing and design, study of color, advanced technical studies in inks, paper and type, together with the processes of electrotyping, stereotyping, half tones and wood cuts, and finally a course in imposition. The cultural will not be omitted, for one division is devoted to history and civics and a history of printing studied through biographies of great printers.

The course will be given in the Harrison Technical high school. Apprentices will be divided into five classes, meeting various mornings.

CITY BREVITIES.

George and Fred Einseidel, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Einseidel, residing at 1241 Stophlet street, who were recently operated on for appendicitis, are getting along nicely.

A lecture will be given at school No. 5, in Wayne township, Tuesday evening by Mr. Rice, of Auburn, who will speak on "The Evils of the Day."

C. Henry, county agent, will speak on a subject of interest to gardeners at a meeting to be held at the Riverside school on Annie avenue at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening.

Fort Wayne council No. 1427, Knights and Ladies of Security, will give the first annual dance at the Tanner dancing hall Thursday evening, April 29.

The United States cruiser Maryland waiting at Cook's Inlet to try the Alaska coal that Jack Dalton (lower) dragged over the mountains from the interior coal fields for the government's test.

Seattle, Wash., April 12.—"There isn't much doubt but that the government will build its railroad from Ship's Creek at Cook's Inlet, to the Matanuska coal field," intimated Jack Dalton, first citizen of Alaska, who recently returned from Washington, D. C. Because of his knowledge of conditions in the north, his known honesty, courage and executive ability and the absolute faith which Alaskans generally have in him, he has been given charge of the transportation end of the work of the Alaska railroad commission.

This is a herculean job. But Dalton has been tackling herculean jobs all his life, and getting away with them. An active, extremely muscular man of middle age, he has had a wonderful career about which he never talks. Newspaper reporters are his pet aversion.

It was Dalton who first penetrated to the head of the White river—and now everybody knows there is copper in Alaska. He found one nugget weighing five tons. It's still there.

Dalton was one of the first men to reach the Klondike at the time of the rush, and the first to bring authentic news of the gold discovery to the outside world.

It was Dalton, who, after subduing in several battles the fierce Chilkat Indians, blazed the trail which bears his name, from Haine's mission to the head of the White river, the Sushanna district, scene of the last gold discovery.

And Dalton was the man who led the engineering party which located and surveyed the route of the Copper River and Northwestern railroad, the longest railroad in Alaska.

When the Bering coal navy test having failed, the government proposed bringing coal from the Matanuska field to tidewater at Knik for a test. Dr. Joseph Holmes, United States director of mines, was told that the task was next to impossible, but—Dalton could do it if anybody could.

And Dalton did it.

In the winter of 1913-14 he cut a sixty-mile trail from the Chikaloon river, in the Matanuska coal fields, to Knik, and dragged over it 800 tons of coal.

Before the job was finished he had to settle a question of authority with George W. Swift, government disbursing agent, who was hindering the work all he could.

Because Dalton insisted on taking the coal over the trail he was building instead of over the river ice, Swift refused to pay the men.

Dalton paid them out of his own pocket—$30,000—and later the government reimbursed him. Incidentally, he swung a hard right on Swift's jaw, putting him down for the count.

Swift was removed to another field of activity, and the rocking chair admirals at Washington thereafter pretended an enthusiasm for Alaska coal for the Pacific fleet they did not—and do not—feel.

Bear in mind that the Bering test had failed—and why.

The Bering coal was put in sacks. The sacks were rained on. Then they froze solid and had to be dynamited. Then somebody left them on the tideflat and they were soaked with salt water. And somehow a lot of slate got in with the coal.

And, of course, the coal would not burn.

Dalton told Swift: "I'm going to see to it that the salt water does not get into this coal."

The Maryland was waiting in Cook's Inlet to try the Matanuska coal. It proved far better than the West Virginia coal which the rocking chair admirals had been paying the coal barons top prices for—50 per cent. better under ordinary draft and 11 per cent. better under forced draft.

Dalton won't admit he talked with anybody in Washington.

"I'm not much of a mixer," he said.

Was he waiting for railroad supplies? He wasn't. He was just hanging around. He was going back to Alaska shortly. To help build the government railroad?

No; he wanted to prospect some. There wasn't much money in working for the government. Good fellows, though.

An uncommunicative man is Dalton. But there is good authority for saying that the administration at Washington turned an eager ear to his exposition of Alaska's needs and that it will be guided largely by his advice in building the railroad.

BOOTH SPEAKS TO LOCAL AUTO DEALERS

Trade in the middle west is far in advance of trade in the western states this spring, according to C. H. Booth, head of the sales department of the Chalmers Motor company, of Detroit, who was the principal speaker Monday evening at a meeting of the Fort Wayne Auto Trade association at the Commercial club. Mr. Booth spoke on the future of the automobile industry in which he predicted great things.

The following committee was appointed by President Larry Randall to call on the city officials asking that a temporary license be issued to new automobile owners who have not been able to get their new licenses: George Fox, Louis Blase and Louis Ohnhaus. Another committee will be named by Mr. Randall this week to assist in the arrangements for the Lincoln highway celebration to be held the first of May.

SPECULATION HELD WHOLLY TO BLAME

Madrid, Spain, March 25.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—The increasing cost of food supplies in Spain which has resulted in a number of food riots, as reported by cable, is charged solely to speculation. In 1914 the crops were better than in previous years, with an excess of 100,000 tons of wheat over the crop of 1913, but notwithstanding this prices have mounted so high that the government has been forced to take measures to avoid monopolies, and has intimated its intention of fixing the maximum prices.

Wheat, cereals in general, potatoes, beans and other products have been exported in great quantities to France and England. Numerous French agents have bought beef and vegetables at prices above normal and Switzerland alone last month bought for its army $1,000,000 worth of food products from Spain. All this has caused a natural crisis which has been felt severely in the provinces.

The high prices, added to the fact that work in the factories is paralyzed in almost the whole of Spain, is rendering the workman's life impossible. Public works on the government's account have been begun in some provinces but nevertheless it has not been possible to eliminate the existing bad state of affairs. The trouble has reached its greatest intensity in the south. Early this month disorders broke out in Murcia, where groups of workmen paraded the streets demanding bread and work. In Cadiz, Laragoza, Lucena, Badajoz, Logrono and Segocia similar disturbances took place. In Albacete the crowds protested to the civil government and the governor ordered them to be fired upon. One person was killed and several wounded as a result.

In Japan private individuals own only the surface of the land and its products, all mineral deposits beneath the surface being the property of the government.

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.—Adv.

EFFICIENCY MUST RULE, SAYS FIRST WOMAN CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSIONER—SPOILS SYSTEM TO GO.

MRS. DAVID C. M'CAN.

Los Angeles, April 13.—Mrs. David C. McCan is the first feminine head of a civil service commission in the United States!

She is the president of the Los Angeles organization.

This gifted woman whose name stands high in circles where ability and achievement count, is also the first woman to become a member of a civil service commission. To date, there is but one other—a member of the Cook county (Ill.) commission.

A fastidious dresser and an accomplished conversationalist, Mrs. McCan is an excellent example of what feminine brain is capable of, when matched against the problems of civic, social and economic problems of the day.

Pointing her silk-slippered toe towards the slumbering red coals in an open grate in her own pretty drawing room, Mrs. McCan talked pleasantly of the work she has recently undertaken.

"The civil service idea is here to stay," she said. "Let no old-fashioned champion of the spoils system imagine the halcyon days will ever return. The idea is growing, spreading, taking in more classes of public employés all the time.

"The day will come when the postmasters will be under civil service commission, and appointments will be made for efficiency, not for political reward.

"Women almost invariably, I believe, no matter how partisan they may be, are champions of the civil service idea. They revolt, fundamentally, at the thought of betrayal of public interest for the sake of rewarding, with office, the man who has given political service to a party or faction. They view public affairs with more conscience, on the average, than men.

"Had women had suffrage, they would have demanded the test of efficiency and service long before it was established by men."

Before being elected president, Mrs. McCan served out the unexpired term of the preceding president, a man, who had been obliged to give up active work.

"I have had some queer experiences in this capacity," laughed this golden-haired woman who looks more like a society queen than a promoter of political and civic betterment. "One day I was called upon to try and force a councilman to attend one of our meetings. When he refused, my commission tied up his salary."

Mrs. McCan is well known in club circles and among all workers who are advocating progress in the state of California. She has been an officer of the Political Equality league and counts among her treasured memories the work she was able to do to aid in winning suffrage for California women.

During her term of office as president of the civil service commission of Los Angeles, she proposes to enforce the law and to assure efficiency in all offices where civil service obtains. Any attempt to limit the appropriations made for the working of her organization, she says, she can thwart through the influence and interest of the women of her city.

It was Mrs. McCan's invitation given at Pueblo which will bring the next convention of the National Civil Service association to Los Angeles this summer.

ALLOWANCE OF $6,000 A YEAR IS TOO SMALL

No Woman Can Maintain Social Position on That, One Says.

New York, April 12.—"For five long, weary years I have been fighting to protect my own and my son's rights, and now that I have at last been given permission to demand for my boy the things he should have had during all these years, I am too tired to enjoy my victory. How my husband must hate me to be willing to spend twice the amount of money in litigation rather than make us a suitable allowance."

This is what Mrs. Rachelle N. Ducas, wife of Benjamin P. Ducas, president of the Ducas Chemical Manufacturing company, said a few hours before she had learned that Supreme Court Justice Blanchard had abrogated the separation agreement she entered into December 3, 1906, under which she received only $6,000 a year from her wealthy husband. Of this, $2,000 was to cover the expenses of her son Robert.

Mrs. Ducas has contended for years that she entered into this agreement under duress and upon the representation that her husband's income was $20,000, whereas she afterward learned it was between $50,000 and $60,000.

"As for myself," she continued, "I have long since given up all idea of trying to entertain or to go to the opera or concerts on the small allowance my husband has given me. It is simply impossible in these days for a woman to keep up any sort of a social position on $4,000, or even $6,000 a year.

"All Mr. Ducas thinks of is making money. I cannot help feeling sorry for him when I think how little he really gets out of life. He has no recreation. He just works and saves, and works some more.

"The American man thinks too much about money and too little about the bigger and finer things of life. They call their wives extravagant when they spend a fifth of their husbands' incomes, but they do not hesitate to spend any amount they desire."

Mrs. W. P. Fields was a visitor at Fort Wayne Monday, where she spent the day the guest of friends.

Mrs. John Hughes, of Emmett, Ohio, was an Antwerp visitor Monday, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Longberry.

Mrs. Harry Daniels was a passenger to Fort Wayne Monday, where she was the guest of her brother, Claud Jacobs and family for the day.

TAKING CARE OF THE CHILDREN.

No parent would consciously be careless of the children. Joe A. Rozmarin, Clarkson, Nebr., uses Foley's Honey and Tar for his two children for croup, coughs and colds. He says: "We are never without Foley's Honey and Tar in the house." A distressing cough, sleepless nights, and raw, inflamed throat lead to a run-down condition in which the child is not able to resist contagious or infectious diseases. Foley's Honey and Tar is truly healing and prompt in action. It relieves coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

REPORT ON LABOR BUREAU.

Washington, April 13.—First reports on the operation of the federal employment bureau started recently by the department of labor, in co-operation with the agricultural and postoffice departments, show that during the months of February and March, 1,245 persons obtained work through the government agents.

In view of the fact that the work of the bureau has not yet been completely systematized on the national basis intended, the results so far are regarded most satisfactory to the officers in charge.

Reports from field agents engaged in employment work are reaching the department of labor daily from every section of the county. A summary of these just announced shows that 327 persons were directed to employment in February and 916 in March.

PROCESSION WOULD BE 625 MILES LONG

If All the War Prisoners Captured by Germans Were in Line.

Berlin, March 25.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—To visualize the number of Russian prisoners and guns taken by von Hindenburg in the so-called "Winter's Battle" to the east of the Masurian lakes, one of the German papers has figured out what a great procession they would make.

If the 104,000 prisoners, the 300 pieces of artillery, and the 2,000 wagons, it says, were to form a procession with four men abreast, with the artillery and wagons in usual marching order, they would reach 112 miles in length. It would require thirty hours for such a procession to pass a given point. In the same way it is figured that all the prisoners of war now held by Germany—a total of 780,000 men—would make a procession 625 miles long.

Foreigners who come to Berlin now are astonished to find how much new construction, notwithstanding the war, is going on in and under the streets. The municipality is building a subway under the principal north-and-south street of the city, and in carrying out this scheme it has just torn away the chief bridge over the Spree. It is also putting a four-track tunnel under the famous street, Unter den Linden, so that it shall no longer be impaired in appearance by the sight of street cars crossing it. Further to the east another subway is in course of construction through very crowded business sections; one of the two great electrical companies is building it. It will connect suburbs in the north and northeast with those in the southeast.

Another important improvement has been undertaken by the Prussian railway authorities—the enlargement of the Friedrich-strasse station, the principal railway station in the heart of the city. Here the enormous arched roof has been torn away in order to double the size of the building. The city of Berlin is engaged in other work besides those mentioned above. It is excavating a great harbor for canal barges on the western side of the city, after having opened a new one to the east of the city only about a year ago. It is also building a wholesale market hall, a school of industrial art, besides about a half-dozen other schools.

PROFITABLE.

"Did you make any money out of that land development stock you bought?"

"Not yet, but it looks good. I found out so much about the company that they took me into the firm."—Philadelphia Ledger.

ANSWERED.

"Well," sneered her husband, "suppose you get the ballot. What will be the first thing you do?"

"Order a voting costume of course!" was her triumphant retort.—Puck.

"Have you tried your young husband?" replied the Answers Editor, who lost his position just a few hours after the reply appeared.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Your Grandmother's Remedy for Purifying the Blood

And Renovating the System in the Springtime

Ask for Sulpherb Tablets.

What was grandmother's unexcelled remedy? Haven't you heard of it? Yes, you have! It was sulphur, cream of tartar and molasses. The main trouble with it was it was its nauseous taste.

The modern method puts the cream of tartar and sulphur into a sugar-coated tablet and mixes them with herbs, roots, etc., making a wonderful tonic blood purifier and system cleanser.

Just try Sulpherb Tablets (not sulphur tablets), but Sulpherb—remember the name—and get the tablets in sealed tubes at 50c per tube.

Grown-up people and children who don't feel well, who are constipated or sluggish, or who have pimples, boils, carbuncles, ulcers and the like, can soon rid the system of these impurities by taking this good old-fashioned remedy in modern form. Their action satisfies or money is refunded by the Prescription Products Company, Dayton, Ohio. A free trial sent to any address. Buy of any well stocked druggist.

WASHINGTON BELLE WILL BE BRIDE IN JUNE.

Another name has been added to the already long list of Washington Belles who will be brides in June. Miss Madge Pickett Stokes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvanus Stokes, has announced her engagement to R. King Stone, also of Washington.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to flush Kidneys if Back hurts or Bladder bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

(By Mary Boyle O'Reilly.)

Karungi, Sweden, April 8.—This tiny hamlet in the far north of Sweden is Russia's only door to the western world. It is the most important point along the war route to Russia for by using Karungi to get freight and mails in and out of the Russian empire the czar has outwitted Berlin.

I spent four hours here waiting while the sledge drawn by reindeer from Lapland, which was to whirl me to Tornea and the Russian railroad some thirty miles away, was being loaded.

My hostess was a kindly faced Laplander and her home but a tiny little hut, banked with snow. Inside the huge stove took up most of the floor space. But it was a home and children were playing about in it.

Let me tell you in this story of the adventure these children and I had.

The house mother poured tea for us with hands trembling with uncontrollable excitement.

"Barina, we are Lapps from the northland. Never until this war did we come south to the Swedish frontier. Far, far off in Europe men fight. We do not know why they die. But this we know. Karungi is a new world for the children! Those little ones, Barina," her sad eyes glowed with a passion of motherhood which has no nationality.

"Never did we think to have such children! The things we have seen since we left Lapland! All is so strange to us, but it seems quite natural to the children!

"They see more in one day than we ever heard in a winter. Think of it, highborn, already they talk Swedish, Swedish! Ah, how we laugh!

"Every day the father has two rouble ($1.00) for the sledge, with hay and moss for the deer. Winters before this he slept like a bear in the ingloo. Now he is a man among men.

"All day the father sledges mails for Russia. Every week he puts the government roubles into my hand. God be with the czar. Since the ukase the richest prince cannot buy vodka.

Her glance toward the delicate child confessed that long anxiety had become heartaching certainty.

"Nine, highborn."

"Tell the Barina what you saw last week," prodded his mother.

"I saw, I saw," the little lad learned forward to whisper. "I went into the teaatheri here in Karungi!"

"It is a theater," explained his mother, "the sledge drivers having no vodka drink tea in the kinema."

"Let us go to the kinema, Pekka. Call all the children to celebrate your nameday! I will give a party for you," I said.

No Finn ever hurried himself for anything or anybody, but the children of Karungi scampered. Fresh from the bath, shining with a cleanliness, more southern folk seldom reach, fifty hardy, fur-wrapped youngsters lined up squeaking excitement.

A FAMILY OF LAPLANDERS.

Calm faced, though his arm trembled with excitement, Pekka Makkonem of Karungi marshalled his name-day party. Outside the snow was drifting like a storm. Within the kinema the heat was intense. Then the moving pictures began.

Muffled, but terribly near, a blizzard howled through the frontier forest. In the theater's hot dark a grinning native in Panama hat and loin cloth slashed gigantic fans from a towering palm. Fifty northland youngsters laughed quick appreciation.

A dozen eager voices demanded to know where in all Russia men were so very warm.

Buz-z. Onto the screen flashed the interior of a Lapland home. Then a mother, quite like anybody's mother, bathing a Lapp child's inflamed eyes.

The film stopped, commenced again, moving so slowly that all could follow the doll-like motions of the nurse's hands.

One determined mother seized her astonished offspring in the dark and proceeded to experiment. As the filmed mother unconsciously touched hair or apron the mother in the audience consciously did likewise. Followed lines of Russian print.

"The words are to tell us something," whispered Pekka's mother wistfully, "but we cannot spell them. For me, I have learned a new thing in the theater. Tomorrow, quick, I will spend one rouble. It will buy a book. Our children must learn to read."

Behind the scenes someone was drumming a marching air. To the staccato rythm brigades of horse, foot and artillery passed to a battle line. The children watched in puzzled silence.

"Too bad, too bad," whispered Pekka's grave little mother. "But perhaps the children will not understand. We want our little ones to learn only good things of this new world."

That was the end.

The smiling mother spread her arms in a gesture which embraced the western world.

"Never, never did any child in Karungi have such a name-day party. Pekka and the other children never will forget. It is so ordained."

Are Passing Rapidly.

Slowly but surely the Laplanders, as a race, are dying out and soon the pigmy nation of the north will have dropped out of sight forever.

Of late years, because of the increased privations and poverty of their existence, the Lapps have dropped off at a great rate. This is due, perhaps, more than anything else, to the fact that, as they have been driven further and further to the north, their herds of reindeer have diminished from lack of forage. It is upon these deer that the Lapps depend, to a great extent, for food and drink.

OSSIAN NEWS.

Ossian, Ind., April 13.—Mrs. Fred Mills entertained for Sunday dinner the following friends and relatives: Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. GOOD NEWS

Many Fort Wayne Readers Have Heard It and Profited Thereby.

"Good news travels fast," and the bad back sufferers in Fort Wayne are glad to learn where relief may be found. Many a lame, weak and aching back is bad no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with this tested remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

Mrs. Mary Gerdes, 1512 St. Mary's avenue, Fort Wayne, says; "I suffered for years from kidney complaint and got so bad that I could hardly do my housework. My back ached and I felt weak. When someone advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Meyer Bros. Co.'s drug store. They were just what I needed and before long I was enjoying good health. I haven't needed any more kidney medicine for some years. I am glad to confirm the endorsement I have given Doan's Kidney Pills before."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Gerdes had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

GERMAN EMBASSY MAKES A REQUEST

Washington, April 13.—The German embassy today transmitted to the state department a formal request of Captain Thierfelder, of the auxiliary cruiser Kron Prinz Wilhelm, for permission to have his vessel examined to see what repairs were necessary to render her seaworthy and also for permission to have these repairs made.

The request is similar to that submitted recently in the case of the Prinz Eitel Friederich, when that vessel put into Newport News. Captain Boy-Ed, naval attache of the German embassy, reached Washington early today after a conference with Captain Thierfelder. He probably will not find it necessary, it was understood, to return to Newport News for further conferences, but will leave it to the skipper to arrange details with the American naval officers as to the time required to repair.

MAKES 61 FEEL LIKE 16.

"I suffered with kidney ailment for two years," writes Mrs. M. A. Bridges, Robinson, Miss., "and commenced taking Foley Kidney Pills about ten months ago. I am now able to do all my work without fatigue. I am now 61 years of age and feel like a 16-year-old girl." Foley Kidney Pills strengthen and invigorate weak, tired and deranged kidneys; relieve backache, weak back, rheumatism and bladder trouble. They are tonic in action. Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

MAY MOVE COUNTY SEAT.

Boonville, Ind., April 13.—The county seat controversy of Spencer county grew more acute with the presentation by Chrisney supporters of a petition to remove the Rockport court house to Chrisney. The petition was filed in the auditor's office and bore the names of 2,117 Spencer county voters. The Chrisney advocates declare this is more than 40 per cent. necessary to bring it to an election.

The petition will be presented to the county commissioners the first Monday in May. If they are satisfied that the petition fulfills all of the legal requirements the governor will be asked to appoint three appraisers not living in the county, who will estimate the value of the Rockport court house. If it is less than $20,000 an election may be called on moving the county seat of Spencer county to Chrisney.

THE MARKETS

Packers and local live stock buyers marked up their paying price on hogs to $6.80 per hundredweight Tuesday morning. The live stock market has been very quiet for the past few weeks but it is expected to make a brace and as a result prices will go up.

The city scalemaster experienced a busy spring day. Weather conditions permitted the farmers to bring their produce to the markets. Thirty-five loads of hay which brought from $14 to $18 a ton, were weighed. Twelve loads of corn tipped the scales and prices ranged from 75c to 80c. The four loads of oats brought the owners from 55c to 57c a bushel.

Nice big red juick strawberries grown in Louisiana arrived on the markets Tuesday to take the place of those grown in Florida, which have been supplying the market. The strawberry proposition each year works systematically from south to north. First are the Florida berries, next the Louisiana, then those from Tennessee and then a few weeks later home grown, which are usually the best in quality as well as in price.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, April 13.—Decreasing of stocks in Europe tended to strengthen the wheat market here. Reports of widespread benefit from recent rains in the winter crop belt led to a setback, but the effect on prices failed to last. After opening ⅛c to ⅝c higher, the market underwent a material sag but then again advanced.

Corn developed firmness with wheat. The opening, which ranged from ¼c to ⅝c higher, was followed by a slight reaction.

HAVE YOU NEGLECTED SOMETHING?
ATTEND TO IT BEFORE APRIL 24TH, 1915

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, April 13.—Establishment of another record by Bethlehem Steel, which rose to 127, two points above its previous high record price, was the noteworthy feature of today's early market. This gain was soon lost, however, and the movement elsewhere was again indicative of selling for profit and renewal of professional operations for the decline. Rock Island rose over a point in recognition of the new interest in the board but soon registered a material loss. Numerous specialties, including equipments and industrials, rose one to two points. Trading was active, with reactionary tendencies before the end of the first half hour.

Bethlehem Steel held first place throughout the first hour, advancing 15½ points to 139½. In the second hour it rose to 142, an overnight gain of eighteen points. Contrary to recent days, the balance of the market was not adversely affected by the movement in Bethlehem Steel but gathered greater strength especially in U. S. Steel Amalgamated and other leaders, where gains of one to two points were made. Peace rumors which had their origin in official quarters at Washington, were used as a basis for the revival of activity. Bonds were steady.

FRUIT IMPORTS ARE SLOWLY INCREASING

Export of American Apples Noteworthy, Says Government Report.

Washington, D. C., April 13.—According to official figures compiled by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, department of commerce, imports of lemons have increased about 50 per cent., figs about 60 per cent., coconnuts have quintupled, and bananas, walnuts and almonds have doubled in import value during the period under review. Meantime, Hawaiian pineapples, mainly canned, of which the imports were not sufficiently large in 1904 to now being shipped into the United States at the rate of $6,000,000 worth per annum, last year's total being two and one-half times as much as in 1911, while imports from Singapore, which at one time reached several thousand dollars annually, have now nearly ceased.

About half of our imported bananas, aggregating 47,000,000 bunches last year, were from the Central American states, about one-third were from the British West Indies and the remainder chiefly from Cuba and South America. In normal years France supplies about three-fourths of our imported walnuts, but in 1914 her share was only 13,000,000 pounds out of 30,000,000 pounds imported. Italy, Turkey in Asia, Chile and China rank next as sources of imported walnuts. Greece continues to be the great source of our currants imported from foreign countries, having sent to our ports practically 32,000,000 pounds last year, as against 300,000 pounds from the rest of the world. Asiatic Turkey furnished American markets with nearly 30,000,000 pounds of dates, while 2,250,000 pounds came direct from other Asiatic countries and 2,500,000 via English ports.

OFFICIAL FORECASTS.

For Fort Wayne and vicinity: Fair and slightly warmer tonight, with frost; Wednesday fair and warmer. Lowest temperature tonight about freezing.

For Indiana: Fair tonight and Wednesday; rising temperature; frost tonight.

For Ohio: Fair tonight and Wednesday, with temperature near freezing tonight; rising temperature Wednesday.

For Lower Michigan: Fair tonight and Wednesday, rising temperature.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Since yesterday morning light rains have occurred over the north and middle Pacific coast states and from the upper Ohio valley and the eastern lake region to New England and the middle Atlantic coast. Fair weather has been general over the rest of the country.

An extensive high pressure area central over eastern Michigan this morning has given continued cold weather over the lake region and colder weather over the Ohio valley and the eastern states; light frosts are reported from Springfield, Ill., and Evansville and freezing temperatures as far south as central Indiana. A low pressure area approaching from the British northwest is giving warmer weather over the states west of the Mississippi.

In this section conditions favor fair weather with frost tonight. Wednesday will be fair and warmer.

Why Klee-Nu
The Wonder Cleaning Fluid In Place of Gasoline?

Because it is a scientifically compounded transparent liquid cleaner. It can be used near flame or fire without danger. Just saturate a cloth and rub the spot or surface to be cleaned. Cleans like magic without injury to the most delicate fabric.

What Klee-Nu Does

Removes spots and cleans silks, woolens, scarfs, neckwear, coat collars, white kid gloves, ribbons, cloth and felt hats, cloth top shoes, in fact all wearing apparel and fabrics about the house. It cleans with speed, convenience and ease, and at a cost much lower than having the entire garment cleaned for one small spot. Klee Nu is free from acid. It leaves no ring or odor.

Money Back

If Klee Nu fails to remove grease and oil spots from any fabric. How's that, motorists?

(By Kenneth W. Payne.)

New York, April 13.—"Hand-made anarchists! Bomb hurlers supplied to order! Apply New York police force!"

Or did these two Italian youths actually scheme of their own free will to blow up New York's famous cathedral—St. Patrick's—and inaugurate a reign of terror which, according to the police imagination, would have made the bomb scarred streets of Manhattan run red with blood?

There isn't a radical, an anarchist, a revolutionary in the city who doesn't assert the "anarchist trial" is a frame-up!

There isn't a police official who doesn't deny the charge savagely!

The police spy, Amedeo Polignani, who mingled with the anarchists and claims he "got the goods on them," has told at the trial a story diametrically opposite to that told by the two Italians and their witnesses.

The court was crowded when he first appeared. Leading anarchists and revolutionaries being present, among them Carlos Tresca, the I. W. W. leader, Louise Berger and Pietro Allegro, famous anarchists, who raised funds to back the accused. At every appearance the spy has been hissed and made the object of hateful glares.

On the stand he has told how he had insinuated himself into the New York anarchist circles, and how, dogging the steps of his new "friends," Carmine Carbone and Frank Abarno, he had heard them talk of using bombs to attain their ends. He said he joined in the plot, which he claims, they originated, to destroy St. Patrick's cathedral, and that he met Abarno there. He declared that Abarno lighted the fuse of his bomb with a cigar, and concealed it under his coat when he entered the church.

But then Abarno, called for the defense, has told a wholly different story.

He declares that the detective sought his company, continually dinned incendiary doctrines into his ears, and finally suggested that they make some bombs with which to blow up shops and wealthy residences.

"When he asked me to make bombs," said Abarno. "I told him it was terrible. I did not think the anarchist theory depended on violence. But he threatened me and called me a coward, and said if I disappointed him he would cut me up. He showed me a knife."

Carbone, the other defendant, had previously asserted he was forced by threats and blows to purchase the material for the bombs.

"One block from the church," Abarno continued, completing his story, "I said I was not going in, and the police spy said, 'You had better go.' I said I would go in and walk right out again. I sickened at the thought of sacrificing human lives. I sat down in a pew and just rested, and walked back to Polignani and said there were too many to be sacrificed. While standing there I was grabbed by the detectives. Polignani said, 'Why didn't you light that bomb?' I didn't light it. If they accuse me of that they tell lies!"

Many witnesses backed up the assertions of the two boys. Ten persons testified that they had frequented the anarchist circles, had often heard Polignani and his alleged victims talking, and that the spy was the only one who had ever suggested violence.

Postmaster Robert B. Hanna has taken up with the postoffice department at Washington, D. C., the necessity for additional automobile service for the delivery of parcel post mail in Fort Wayne and for making night collections from the various sub-stations in the city. One big truck is now in use, but the postmaster is of the opinion that with a smaller truck the service would be greatly improved.

Postmaster Hanna has also taken up with the department the establishment of two more sub-stations, one at the drug store of William H. Spiegel at St. Joe boulevard and Columbia avenue, and the other at the drug store of William H. Rupp on State street, east of the Indiana School for Feeble-Minded Youth. With the establishment of these two new sub-stations there will be eighteen sub-stations in Fort Wayne.
